U. S. DELEGATES TO ARMS PARLEY REACH ENGLAND

Stunned by Talk of Junking Big Ships.

BULLETIN.

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 17 (Friday).—(AP)—The steamship George Washington, with the American delegation to the forthcoming naval conference aboard, arrived here shortly before dawn today. The liner, which battled a furious head-on gale all day yesterday, anchored far out in the harbor, its twinkling lights forming a beacon to a naval tender with embassy officials and correspondents aboard which left the dock for it at 6:15 a. m. (12:15 a. m. Chicago time).

The American delegation, headed by Col. Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, will land about 8 a. m. (2 a. m. Chicago time).

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[By Radio.]—The American delegation to the London naval conference was dumbfounded today by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Ocean Times dispatch reporting the declaration yesterday by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain favoring abolition of battleships. Mr. MacDonald's statement completely upset all calculations regarding the American policy and strategy at the meeting of the five naval powers.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and the other members of the delegation immediately went into conference and displayed every evidence of concern over the development. When the conference broke up Mr. Stimson said nothing was known of the prime minister's pronouncement other than the press report in the ship's newspaper. He declined to comment.

U. S. Delegates "Amazed."

To say the delegation is not only nonplussed but amazed by Mr. MacDonald's move would be putting it mildly. The amazement is evoked by his action in making a public declaration of a new proposition to which it is known America is opposed without privately advising Mr. Stimson of the contemplated move.

The British government hitherto has proposed abolition of submarines, a reduction in number and size of battleships, an extension of the holiday for construction of capital ships, but it never has advocated the complete abolition of dreadnaughts.

One theory is that Mr. MacDonald, on the eve of the conference, decided to take President Hoover at his word in the President's Armistice day speech. In that address President Hoover said the American government would go as low in reduction of armament as any other power, and that no other nation could go too low to suit the United States. A few weeks later Mr. Stimson declared that the United States would not agree to scrap battleships at the London conference.

Battleships Vital to U. S.

That statement designated the category of ships in which the United States would not go as low as a country that would abolish them altogether. Japan, France, and Italy were then advocating abolition of battleships.

The position of America is that battleships are vital to national defense because it lacks outlying naval bases. Great Britain has 27 such bases, America only 7, only three of which are equipped for fleet supply and repair. If battleships were abolished all round, Great Britain could maintain an adequate national defense with cruisers, operating from its 27 far flung bases.

The demand for abolishing battleships altogether is doubtlessly advanced for trading purposes, leaving room for an eventual compromise on battleship reduction, which Great Britain aims at.

Considered Strategic Move.

From the viewpoint of strategy the move is considered extraordinary and clever. It not only puts the United States on the defensive, but builds a bonfire behind the American delegation. It is not doubted but that every pacifist organization in America will spring into renewed activity, deluging President Hoover and the American delegation with propaganda supporting the MacDonald proposal for abolishing battleships.

Not without significance in this connection is the fact that Mr. MacDonald's proposal was preceded 48 hours by the propaganda of the British League of Nations union, of which Viscounts Grey of Fallodon and Cecil of

Walska Wins Court O. K. on Separate Home

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Explaining that the legal status of a married woman has changed so greatly in recent years that in most states she stands upon terms of equality with her husband, the third division of the United States Customs court, in a decision today, unanimously upheld the right of Mme. Ganna Walska McCormick, opera singer wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, to exemption from customs duties on the ground that her legal residence is in France.

The decision gives Mme. Walska a victory in a fight she started a year ago last September, when customs officers held her liable for duty on personal effects she brought with her from abroad on a visit to her husband here.

A concurring opinion filed by Justice Genevieve R. Cline, only woman member of the court and the first woman appointed to a place in the federal judiciary, makes a vigorous plea for greater recognition of the rights of women, "who are taking active part in many of the leading industries and professions of the world."

Objects to Limitations.

Although she concurs in the opinion of her associates that Mme. Walska's claim to a separate domicile is justified, Justice Cline objects to the limitations in the majority opinion, "that the domicile of the husband is the domicile of the wife, but there are exceptions to this rule."

"Since the majority opinion states that the wife stands on terms of equality with the husband in respect to property and civil rights," her opinion concludes, "I can discern no reason why they should not have equal rights as to the selection of a domicile, there being nothing in the rule to prevent, and, as shown by the majority opinion, the common law has been practically expunged."

The majority opinion, written by Justice George M. Young, states the following conclusions:

Wife Distinct Legal Entity.

"The wife is now a distinct legal entity. She stands upon terms of equality with her husband in respect to property, torts, contracts, and civil rights.

"The wife may acquire a domicile separate and apart from her husband by reason of his misconduct, or abandonment, or by his agreement either express or implied."

Attention is called to the fact that the couple, by express agreement, always maintained separate residences, Mme. Walska in Paris and Mr. McCormick in Chicago. They live on friendly terms and exchange visits, the court points out. In assessing duty on Mme. Walska's belongings, it is explained, the customs authorities acted upon the theory that the residential status of a wife was that of her husband.

Duty Not Collectible.

Concluding, the decision holds "that the plaintiff is not now and never has been a resident of the United States within the meaning of paragraph 1695 of the tariff act; that she is a resident of the city of Paris, France; that when she came to America on Sept. 18, 1928, she was a person arriving in the United States within the meaning of paragraph 1695; consequently her wearing apparel, articles of personal adornment, toilet articles and similar personal effects were free from duty under that paragraph."

In her testimony before the customs court, she said she had lived in Paris for the last ten years, that she owned a theater, a home and a beauty shop there, and intended to continue her residence in France.

Value Placed at $2,000,000.

The belongings brought here by Mme. Walska were valued at the time at more than $2,000,000. This included jewelry, clothing and other effects. For the test suit, duty was paid under protest on a coat. The other articles were left with customs officials until Mme. Walska returned to her Paris home, last March.

COOLIDGE HISTORY OF U. S., ON GRANITE, TO LAST 5,000 CENTURIES

Keystone, S. D., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge is to write a history of the United States with an assured popularity for 5,000 centuries.

It is to be as brief and terse as the former President's conversation.

And, although Mr. Coolidge is one of the highest paid writers per word, he will not receive a cent for the narrative.

The former President, according to the Mount Rushmore National Memorial association, has accepted an invitation to write historical data to be engraved beside the colossal figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt upon the granite face of the Black Hills mountain. Mount Rushmore is near Keystone.

The history will be Mr. Coolidge's contribution to the memorial which he dedicated during his summer vacation in the Black Hills in 1927.

The Coolidge words, 500, or fewer if the author chooses, will be five or more inches deep, and high enough to be read miles away.

Geologists estimate that the erosion on the granite escarpment will be an inch in 100,000 years. Unless radical earth changes take place, the words on the memorial should endure more than 500,000 years. Gutzon Borglum is the sculptor of the project.

The frowning wall of Mount Rushmore upon which the memorial is to be scratched is 1,000 feet high.

Zero Will Grip City Today; All Midwest Is Hit

A numbing northwest wind was forcing the temperature downwards early today. An unofficial reading at 3 a. m. was 5 degrees above zero. C. A. Donnel, government weather forecaster, predicted that the temperature would drop to zero in sheltered neighborhoods this morning, and to 5 below in exposed suburbs, with severe cold likely for the next 72 hours in the Chicago area. Snow is also probable today and tomorrow.

Chicago's normal temperature for this period of the season is 23 degrees. Yesterday's mean temperature here was 14 degrees and the maximum, at 1 p. m., was only 18, and a biting wind intensified the effects of the cold.

The cold was more intense in central Illinois than in Chicago. At Quincy the mercury plunged to 6 below, the lowest point touched this winter, and roads leading from the city were glazed with ice. Zero was recorded at Peoria and 4 above at Springfield. The temperature was 14 degrees at Cairo.

Temperatures far below zero and heavy snows brought hardship to the sheep and cattle raisers of Montana, Wyoming, and the Dakotas. The Associated Press reported two persons had perished in their snow marooned automobile in Nevada, bringing the toll of the present cold wave in the Rocky mountain states to eight.

HIS POISE FADES AS STATE ASKS ELECTRIC CHAIR

Crowd Hears Final Arguments Begin.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Howard Dorr for the first time since the fatal shooting of William J. O'Brien, last night in the court room of Judge Harry B. Miller appeared to realize that he was on trial for murder.

As Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler, in opening the state's closing arguments, demanded in the name of "the people of Illinois" the forfeit of his life, Dorr's poise deserted him, his shoulders sagged, he slumped back in his chair, and his eyes stared fixedly at the top of the chair in front of him.

Crowds who had waited throughout the day, many persons standing for hours expecting court to open at any moment, were still there when it convened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon after Judge Miller had investigated and dismissed charges that some of the jurors were out on a beer drinking party the night before. The spectators remained during the night hearing, until at 7:30 o'clock Prosecutor Butler closed the session with his plea for the death penalty.

Butler Opens Argument.

Mr. Butler did not point at Dorr, he did not wave his arms, he did not dwell on the blood which had figured prominently in the testimony of policemen during the trial.

Quietly he told of the debts of Dorr, an insurance agent, of the insurance policies to the amount of $5,000 which O'Brien carried, and in which, the state contends, Dorr hoped to share through Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, the slain man's widow. She, the state charges, was infatuated with Dorr.

"It was a desperate financial situation in which this defendant found himself as the fateful Nov. 19 arrived," Prosecutor Butler said. He described events leading up to the shooting early on the morning of Nov. 20, O'Brien's going to work the night before as a street car conductor, Mrs. O'Brien meeting Dorr as she left her father's house.

"They (Dorr and Mrs. O'Brien) went up in the O'Brien flat above Dorr's home at 7328 South Maplewood avenue, and talked for hours—then they went to bed, the same bed," Butler went on. "They awoke about 3 a. m. when O'Brien came home to snatch a few hours' sleep.

"Dorr "Goes Back to Sleep."

"I want you men on the jury to remember this significant fact—for it is important: that this defendant, then as now, assumed the same cool, impudent attitude. Dorr did not quake with fear or apprehension when O'Brien came home—not Howard Dorr!

"No, he went back to sleep."

Citing evidence, the prosecutor sketched the actual shooting of O'Brien by Dorr.

"And this mercenary, cold blooded murderer with his glib explanations has the brazen impudence to tell you men a story of an accident!" Butler said.

"His story, with its palpably framed corroboration, is unbelievable. His defense has been shifted from its original theory of self-defense to one of accident. When under direct examination his memory was clear on such details as starlit nights when he rescued Genevieve from the water. Under cross-examination he ran out of 'I don't remembers.'"

Rakes Attack on O'Brien.

Butler spoke of Dorr's "contemptible attack" on O'Brien's character in his statements on the witness stand, "when Bill could not answer because he was six feet under the ground."

Don O'Brien, father of William O'Brien, wept during part of the argument. He and his wife sat just back of the railing in the same places they have occupied since the trial began.

"If the state's attorney has any conception of his duties, there is only one penalty that can be asked in a case of this kind," concluded Prosecutor Butler—"a case in which the testimony shows that the defendant invaded the privacy of his friend's home, the sanctity of his friend's marriage bed, then plotted his death so he might profit, and murdered him in cold blood as O'Brien made a final plea not to kill him.

"The life of such a man as this defendant must be forfeited to the people of the state of Illinois!"

Butler to Continue Today.

Mr. Butler will speak for another hour this morning before the defense

Gang Holds Up 20 in Hotel on Gold Coast

Four armed and masked bandits last night held up a dice and card game in a room on the mezzanine floor of the Knickerbocker hotel at 163 East Walton place, in the heart of the Gold Coast. They robbed twenty men of approximately $2,000 and jewelry valued at $3,500. The bandits walked coolly out of the hotel after stripping the gamblers of their jewelry and cash and forcing them to lie face down on the floor.

The robbery occurred at 11:45 p. m., but the police did not learn of it until an hour later, when an anonymous phone call notified the East Chicago avenue station. When police squads arrived at the hotel Palmer Jones, assistant manager, disclaimed any knowledge of the robbery.

Four Held for Questioning.

The card and dice games were in progress in the Florentine room on the mezzanine floor, which Jones said had been rented on Jan. 6 by the Wizard Furniture shop, 1977 Ogden avenue, as a furniture display room. He gave the names of the renters as Bert and James Ray of Cincinnati, Al Block of Detroit, and William Wacker, 7338 North Kedzie avenue, all of whom were in the room when the bandits entered. All four were held by the police for questioning.

About twenty men were in the place when the four bandits appeared at the door, with mufflers wrapped around the lower part of their faces. One man knocked and when some one opened the door the first bandit stuck a gun against the victim's ribs and ordered the other men in the room to stand with their hands in the air against the wall.

Take Loot and Walk Out.

The bandits searched their victims and took all their jewelry and sums in cash ranging from a few dollars up to $180 which Block said he lost. From S. T. Frank, who gave his address as New Orleans, the robbers took a ring valued at $1,000.

After completing the robbery, the bandits ordered all their victims to lie on the floor and walked out of the room, closing the door behind them. They apparently walked calmly out of the lobby before their victims could raise an alarm.

DAVIES' WIDOW BURNS PICTURES AS NOT HIS BEST

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Sixty-one oil paintings by the late Arthur B. Davies, American artist, which were found in his Chelsea studio after his death, have been burned by his widow, it was learned today, because she did not consider them representative of her husband's work.

What may have been the commercial value of the paintings destroyed could not be determined. A number of the completed paintings which he left have been sold by his estate at unannounced prices. Sixty-eight water colors by him were sold last April at the Ferargil galleries for $48,000.

4 Years and $10,000 Fine for Violating Dry Law

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Following his plea of guilty to violating the Jones law, Sigvald Andriessen, who served three enlistments in the coast guard service and resigned to take up bootlegging and rum running, was sentenced today by Federal Judge Robert A. Inch in Brooklyn to four years in prison and fined $10,000. This is the longest prohibition law sentence inflicted in a Brooklyn court.

CONGRESS TIED UP BY 25,000 WORD DRY ROW

Orators Bless and Flay Law All Day.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Wet and dry members of congress celebrated the tenth anniversary of the 18th amendment to the constitution with a free for all riot of prohibition oratory—the most strenuous and spectacular of the current session.

Exactly ten years ago, on Jan. 16, 1920, Nebraska formally deposited in Washington the 36th state ratification of the 18th amendment. If there were any at that time who predicted that prohibition would be a settled issue with the passing of a decade, their prophecy was obliterated in the storm on Capitol hill today.

Seven Lengthy Speeches Given.

Four lengthy prohibition speeches were delivered in the house of representatives and three in the senate, despite the efforts of leaders in the latter body to keep it at work on the tariff bill. It was estimated that something like 25,000 words of wet and dry controversy flowed into the Congressional Record during the day, dealing for the most part with the question whether prohibition is a success or failure after its ten year trial.

Senators Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], the father of the 18th amendment; John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], a wet, and Coleman L. Blease [Dem., S. C.], who is a personal wet and political dry, held the center of the stage in the senate ring, while at the other end of the capitol Representatives John G. Cooper [Rep., O.], a dry, and Frank Oliver [Dem., N. Y.], Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], and Robert H. Clancy [Rep., Mich.] furnished most of the fireworks.

Immediate Repeal Demanded.

The only action of the day, as distinguished from speechmaking, was the introduction of a joint resolution in the senate by Senator Blaine calling for the "immediate and absolute" repeal of the 18th amendment.

On the house side Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] had planned to present his resolution, holding the 18th amendment "inoperative," because the states failed to ratify it a second time, as he contends is required by its third section. The house, however, did not reach the prohibition bureau phase of the treasury appropriation bill at which he expects to deliver his attack and he decided to withhold the resolution until tomorrow.

Winning the honor of being the first to get under way with a prohibition address, Senator Blaine presented his resolution as quickly as he could get the floor after the senate convened and held it to discuss the resolution, ignoring protests that he was out of order. Meanwhile, Sheppard, with a prepared anniversary speech on his desk, was compelled to wait until mid-afternoon, when he delivered it to the half dozen senators who remained on the floor.

Hoover's Plan Doomed Already.

President Hoover's plan to put stronger teeth in the prohibition statutes is just one more attempt to "make people good by law," Blaine declared, "and already is doomed to failure."

"In the last nine years three Presidents have been ardent advocates of prohibition enforcement," he pointed out. "None of them succeeded in enforcement, although they had all the governmental machinery under their control and congresses that yielded to every request for more machinery of enforcement. Yet they failed.

"Of course, the government will worry along for a time with prohibition, but the time has come for those who are prohibitionists to make good with enforcement or surrender to moderation and ordinary horse sense in dealing with the question of intoxicating liquors."

Taking exactly the opposite point of view, Senator Sheppard opened and closed his address with the declaration that "nationwide prohibition on its tenth anniversary continues its triumphant tread." On moral, religious, humanitarian and economic grounds, he said, prohibition has justified itself and proved a blessing even beyond the dreams of its original proponents.

Productivity in the United States, home construction, purchase of automobiles, good wages, and the general prosperity of the country all attest to the benefits of prohibition, the Texas senator declared, and as proof he marshalled columns of statistics and quotations from business men.

"That prohibition is being enforced as effectively as any other law against crime cannot be denied," he contnued. "A pronounced majority of the American people obey the prohibition statutes, and most of the cases brought agaist violators result in convictions. I know of no better criterion for successful enforcement than that. Prohibition would be still better enforced and a gap closed in its legal structure by the punishment of the buyer as well as the seller.

Prohibition Is Everywhere.

"National prohibition is in the federal constitution and it is there to remain. It is in the enforcement statutes and it is there to stay. In the hearts and consciences and bank balances, the homes, the comforts, the living facilities, the moral, educational, and economic advantages of the American people, and in all of these, it is forever planted."

In contrast to the carefully prepared and somewhat dignified presentations of Blaine and Sheppard, Senator Blease, whose recent attacks on prohibition conditions in Washington have been a thorn in the side of the administration, opened up with a machine gun fire of sarcasm and irony. Enforcement at present he pictured as a huge joke, but advocated giving the drys all the money they want to hire more agents and judges.

Walsh Questions Blease.

"Has the senator any opinion as to the number of judges necessary to enforce the 18th amendment and Volstead act?" Senator David Walsh [Dem., Mass.] asked him.

Blease—I think if we had a good deputy sheriff, about three constables, and a good judge in every township in the United States we might enforce the prohibition law.

Walsh—Of course you mean federal judges?

Blease—O, yes, I want all the federal judges I can get, because they are appointed for life, and every time a man is appointed for life he can drink a little and put the other fellow in jail for taking a little home with him.

Walsh—Literally speaking, then, I judge the senator means it would take about 100,000 more federal judges?

Blease—Yes, about that. I hope we may get enough money and judges to enforce the law, because everybody knows that if we enforce it against the rich and influential man it will be repealed.

House Forgets Everything Else.

The lower house of congress today presumably was considering the treasury appropriation bill. As a matter of fact, that measure was discussed only about 15 minutes, the flood of prohibition speeches and debating sweeping everything else out of the way.

Representative Edgar Howard [Dem., Neb.] opened the discussion of securing the unofficial passage of a resolution commending Speaker Nicholas Longworth for rejecting President Hoover's proposal for a joint committee to handle his law enforcement legislation. He was followed by Representative Oliver, who secured 15 minutes on the subject, "The Laughing Revolution."

"Ten years ago today," began Oliver, "America woke up in church, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly for 150 years, and took the pledge.

"Then came the morning after. Uncle Sam laughed, and the whole world laughed with him. Judges smile, juries smile, and statesmen smile every time the evidence is produced. It is the best natured revolution that any country ever dealt with. The rebels are armed to the teeth with a smile. The people are laughing off a conquest by their servant—the government."

Fun for All but Bootleggers.

The government, Oliver said, smiling himself, has driven liquor "from the saloon to the salon, from hops to hips, from the keg to the kitchen, and from the loud speaker to the speakeasy." He added that he didn't mind if a few bootleggers were jailed. It serves them right, "considering the prices they charge."

Still smiling, the New York humorist called attention to President Hoover's complaining in a letter to a friend that many people are trying to make him wear a "hair shirt."

"So," he said, "the President clothed a law enforcement commission in a hair shirt, but the commission took it off as soon as it scratched them and sent it back to the President, who sent it over to congress. Our noble President insists on the truth, but he wants it only if it is serene and restful and does not disturb the fishing. You can't fish in a hair shirt."

Was Jesus' Wine Alcoholic?

All this was received with glee by the handful of wet representatives who ringed the speaker. They applauded vigorously—about five of them—while a hundred drys scowled and frowned. But the drys had their inning a few moments later, when Representative Cooper undertook to reply to the "wet" sermon delivered a week ago by Representative John C. Schafer [Rep., Wis.].

Schafer's charge that either prohibition or Christianity must go, as they are not in harmony, brought from Cooper the observation that never in his 15 years in congress had he heard such sacrilege. He paid tribute to "our splendid Christian President, Herbert Hoover," a signal for prolonged applause from the drys.

Answering Schafer's charge that Jesus would be indicted if he came to earth again and turned water into wine, Cooper argued that the wine the Savior made was not alcoholic.

And so the battle veered back and forth, first a wet obtaining the floor and then a dry. Representative Clancy, whose home town is Detroit, Mich., secured time enough to thoroughly lambast the Anti-Saloon league, which is holding its annual convention in Detroit, as "the most bigoted and fanatical organization in the world today, which is shamelessly claiming credit for whatever prosperity there is in the country."

Britten Joins Attack.

Clancy commended Gov. Green of Michigan for his action yesterday in commuting the sentences of that state's "life for a pint" convicts, but foresaw trouble for the governor from the Anti-Saloon league.

Representative Britten [Rep., Ill.] wound up the wet side of the house presentations with another wallop at the Anti-Saloon league, asserting that it is feeding fat on contributions of well meaning but deluded citizens.

As both houses adjourned after the all-day prohibition battle there was no indication that there will be any letup in the controversy. On the contrary, with the law enforcement bills soon to be grinding out of the house committees, there was every reason to predict that the row will increase rather than diminish in furore.

War Hero Leads Wet Rally in Boston and Doran Drys

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Dr. James M. Doran, federal commissioner of prohibition, and Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, retired, known in New England as "the daddy of the 26th division," led the opposing factions today as Boston observed the tenth anniversary of prohibition.

The retired soldier attacked prohibition before a wildly cheering crowd of "wets" in historic Faneuil hall, at a meeting sponsored by the Liberal Civic league. Dr. Doran upheld the wisdom of the 18th amendment at a luncheon of the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance union. Both were assisted by arrays of speakers, all of whom were prominent in religious and civic life.

They Wear Black Neckties.

Most of those attending the "wet" meeting wore black neckties, as the meeting, in addition to being a gathering of protest of the dry law, was advertised as a meeting in memoriam of 1,363 persons who, the Liberal Civic league said, had lost their lives as the result of the enforcement of the prohibition law.

The remarks of Gen. Edwards, Conrad W. Crooker, general counsel of the league; Congressman John C. Schafer of Wisconsin, and E Fitzroy Anderson, general chairman of the Organized Associations, Inc., of New York, received enthusiastic response.

To the "drys" it was a day for celebration, and the enthusiasm rivaled that of the Faneuil hall meeting. Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, honorary state president of the organization; Mrs. Esther Andrews, member of the governor's council; Dr. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of the Park Street church, and Dr. Joseph Egan of Charlestown spoke, in addition to Dr. Doran.

An estimate that prohibition saved 100,000 lives in the United States last year in preventing highway accidents alone, was made by Dr. Doran as he discussed economic and social aspects of the law. His estimate was based on a comparison of automobile death ratios in England, with liquor, and in the United States, with prohibition.

"The fact that we are 30 to 40 years, or maybe 120 or 140 years behind the times in administration of criminal justice can be in no way a fault of prohibition," he said.

Gen. Edwards declared real enforcement would require an annual expenditure of $500,000,000 and a force greater than the present army and navy. He deplored the proposal to place 10,000 armed men along the Canadian border, "which throughout our history as a republic has been free from a single post or outpost manned for either defensive or offensive purposes."

Hits Dry Prosperity Talk.

Representative Schafer took issue with those who maintain prohibition has brought prosperity. "This is true only as applied to the stupendous bank deposits of the grafters, bootleggers, hijackers and rum runners," he said.

"The American people are now spending more money for alcoholic beverages than they ever did before prohibition. Much of the liquor consumed today is filling the insane asylums, jails and graveyards, and doing irreparable harm to the wellbeing and health of this and future generations. We were promised prohibition would empty the penitentiaries, but we find today almost every jail in the country filled to capacity and the courts congested with pending prohibition cases."

REFORM JUDGE SENTENCED FOR CHURCH THEFT

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Albert Nisbet, blind ex-magistrate and former treasurer of the Baptist Tabernacle building fund, was convicted of embezzling $2,084 from the church funds by a jury in Criminal court here today. He was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

The defendant, swathed in blankets and lying on a cot in the court room, showed no emotion when the verdict was read. His counsel announced they would move for an appeal.

Nisbet was taken to jail when a new $10,000 bond was not forthcoming. Judge Burgevin set Feb. 17 for Nisbet's trial on a second indictment, which charges embezzlement of $20,000.

During his term on the bench Nisbet was known as "the hard boiled magistrate" because of the severe penalties he dealt out to liquor law violators.

Propose $650,000 Rescue Boat for Lake Michigan

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Bills dealing with the coast guard were reported today by the house interstate commerce committee. Two of the measures would provide for construction of a cutter at a cost of $650,000 for rescue and assistance work on Lake Michigan, and for establishment of a coast guard station at or near Grand Island, Mich.

DRY CRUSADERS LAY EMPHASIS ON EDUCATION

Anti-Saloon League Aims to Invade Schools.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Prohibition crusaders assembled here in the national convention of the anti-Saloon league celebrated the tenth anniversary of constitutional aridity today by listening to reviews of past victories and laying plans for the future.

A definite swing toward emphasizing the educational side of prohibition, while continuing efforts in behalf of enforcement, featured most of the speeches delivered at the regular sessions of the league. Plans for meetings of an evangelistic nature in various communities for educational programs in schools and colleges were discussed and met with general approval.

Bishop Has Doubts.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit, president of the national organization, expressed doubts in an address as to the advisability of legislation to make the buyer of liquor equally culpable with the seller.

"In principle," said the bishop, "I believe that is soundly true and right, but I have some doubts that the way to get at it is by legal action. The better way is through public opinion.

"The time has come," he continued, "for the church to purge itself and create a new obligation to the flag and constitution, and public sentiment can take care of this by putting a brand on the church members and nonchurch members who are violating the law and indulging their appetites in the process."

Opposes Shooting, Backs Drys.

At another point in his talk, Bishop Nicholson said, "I am not for promiscuous shooting, but I am for Admiral Billard and his associates when they say 'We mean business.'"

The Methodist bishop also stated that the "wet forces tried to keep the church out of politics, but I am proud to say that the evangelical churches have abandoned the doctrine of talking only of the other world and have adopted the policy of watching the kingdom of this world."

The enforcement policy of the organization was stressed at a "support the President luncheon" sponsored by the manufacture and business committee of the league. Messages from all parts of the country were read, including one from Thomas A. Edison, who said, "All good citizens will stand by the wise program of our great President. This reform must go on to worldwide success."

MICHIGAN OFFICERS START NEW CRUSADE TO DRY UP STATE

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Coincident with the Anti-Saloon league's celebration of the tenth anniversary of national prohibition as "Victory day," Michigan authorities launched a new enforcement program today. Three major developments in the impending liquor crusade were:

1. Gov. Fred W. Green ordered Attorney General Brucker to investigate instances of alleged laxity on the part of local enforcement officials in applying the Cuthbertson law, the severe state dry act, and to proceed against any such official delinquents.

2. Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety, revealed plans for combating rum runners operating on Michigan highways by addition of high powered, armored cars equipped with machine guns and tear bombs, and by installation of a state police radio broadcasting station to direct police cruisers.

3. A. J. Young, a federal prohibition agent, started an investigation of Michigan's malt tax and demanded statistics on tax receipts from Sidney Schulte, assistant secretary of state.

BLAME TAX DELAY AS RIVER FOREST CLERK KILLS SELF

Worry over ill health and financial troubles caused by the delay in tax collections was blamed yesterday for the suicide of Arthur S. Hatch, 53 years old, village clerk of River Forest and tax collector of River Forest township. Hatch was found shot to death yesterday morning in the wash room of the River Forest village hall and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.

Frank Shaw, village president, said that Hatch was entitled to 2 per cent commission of all taxes collected but the delay in the reassessment had deprived him of his usual income at this time of the year. In his pockets were found notices of past due notes on land payments, which Hatch, because of his lack of funds, had been unable to meet. On the back of one of the notes, he had scribbled, "I think I am losing my mind."

Hatch left a farewell note to his wife, Mrs. Mae Hatch and 16 year old daughter, Alice, asking forgiveness and leaving a diamong ring to his widow. Mrs. Hatch and the girl had been visiting in Madison, Wis., and during their absence, Hatch had been living with his brother, A. V. Hatch, at 330 Keystone avenue, River Forest. His home was at 7200 Quick avenue. He had been clerk of the village for 21 years.

TRIO OFF TO HUNT 500 MILLIONS IN INCA TREASURE

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Alberto Valenzuela Rossell, accompanied by Gideon A. Lasley and Robert C. Jackson, both of Detroit, sailed today for Peru in quest of treasure limited to the sum of 500 millions.

The exact locale of the venture lies in Lake Huascar, near the town of Cuzco. Here the prospectors will probe, with the aid of natives, for a 1,600 foot gold chain, on the end of which there should be the key to ancient tombs overtaxed with the treasure hoardings of Inca kings, of whom Mr. Rossell is a descendant.

Rossell formed the expedition after much persistence while on a visit here to seek financing of a supposedly foolproof mouse trap invention.

WOMEN SING BLESSINGS OF 10 DRY YEARS

They Cut Birthday Cake for Prohibition.

Enthusiasm dominated the meeting of 400 members of the Cook County Woman's Christian Temperance union who celebrated the tenth anniversary of prohibition in the Morrison hotel yesterday. Several speakers joined in recurring, amidst applause, the benefits which the 18th amendment had brought about in a decade.

A birthday cake with ten candles decorated the speakers' table. This cake was cut and distributed to every one present. Then the members arose and sang an anthem entitled, "It's in the Constitution and It's There, There to Stay." This is the anthem:

It is there to stay; it is there to stay
Till the stars shall sink in silence
And the sun and moon decay.
Till the souls of men assemble in the final judgment day.
It is in the constitution, and it's there,
there to stay.

Mrs. Murry Nelson, president of the Woman's City club, was the first speaker.

On the Northwest Side.

"I was talking to a settlement worker the other day about conditions in the poor districts of the northwest side," said Mrs. Nelson. "It's a different world over there than it was ten years ago.

"No more are calls received in the settlement house from children saying: 'Come over and protect mother from father. He's beating her up and he's drunk.' No more trouble in the dance halls. No more 400 saloons to the square mile. Only a few speakeasies. No longer do children get only to the seventh grade in school. No more black eyes and bloody noses in the streets. No more drunken girls brought in from the streets."

Then Miss Helen L. Hood, president of the Illinois W. C. T. U., spoke. She remarked that there were no loop whistles blowing to commemorate the significance of the day.

"But throughout Illinois," she assured the members, "the bells are pealing out their joy."

Mrs. McCulloch Speaks.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch was next. She was named on the program as chairman of the law enforcement committee of the Chicago Woman's club. She was introduced as chairman of the prohibition enforcement committee of the club.

"The bells may not be ringing here but they're ringing in the hearts of wives whose husbands no longer get drunk and beat them," she said. "The bells are ringing in the hearts of school teachers who no longer see their pupils bruised by drunken parents.

"I want to tell you that the fight is spreading to Mexico. The present president neither serves nor drinks liquor. His successor will probably do the same."

Mrs. McCulloch exhibited posters which she said are flooding Mexico. A poster which proved a favorite with those present showed a huge skull penetrated by a bloody sword. The sword was alcohol, Mrs. McCulloch explained, and the poster showed how alcohol attacks the brain.

What Government Is For.

"There is much talk about the cost of prohibition," she declared. "Of course it costs a lot. It costs every government in the world heavily to arrest criminals. But that's what governments are for.

"Hoover was elected President of this country because he was a dry. The Democrats lost because they had a wet candidate. Even if the present incumbent should give a weak, colorless administration, the Democrats can never beat him with a wet candidate."

The Rev. E. Dawe, pastor of the Covenant Methodist church of Evanston, related his European experiences. He first delighted the members by singing a ditty: "Happy Birthday, Prohibition! Happy Birthday to You!"

"I went to Europe by way of Canada," he said. "I am a sensitive soul and as I passed the Canadian border I sensed something, an atmosphere, which we, thank God, haven't got. There were those wicked liquor signs and other evidences of drinking which appalled me.

He's Proud of Americans.

"On board the boat going to Europe liquor was available, of course. I was never so proud of my citizenship. I saw only two Americans of more than 200 who brought any reflection upon the Stars and Stripes by participating in the drinking of liquor.

"I was ashamed of my own profession, however. There were eight clergymen, all Canadians besides myself. I was the only one who did not drink, smoke, dance or play cards. Only one other did not drink, and he smoked all day and was on the dance floor at night. It almost broke my heart."

In Europe, Mr. Dawe said, Americans are known as water drinkers. The voice of prohibition is spreading throughout the world, he declared, and only in England has the cause gained little headway.

Ancient Timepieces Shown at Jewelers' Exhibit

Worth $500,000

A $500,000 collection of clocks and watches was a feature last night of the 52d annual banquet of the Chicago Jewelers' association in the Palmer house. A pageant, composed of a number of tableaux showing the means of measuring time from the days of the cave man to the present, was given.

More than 1,000 jewelers attended. At the speakers' table were Harry E. Radix, president of the association; Charles W. Seabury, president of the Association of Commerce; Maj. Gen. Frank Parker and Rear Admiral W. S. Crosley.

Among the watches shown was the timepiece worn by Robespierre during the French revolution, the gold watch worn by Peter Stuyvesant when he was governor of New Netherlands in 1602, a watch worn by Marie Antoinette while she was queen of France, and a watch worn by Napoleon, which he presented to Marshal Ney after the battle of Austerlitz. Another watch was that made for the king of Denmark in the 15th century and presented by him to the crown prince.

LABORER KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE; DRIVER IS HELD

Samuel Mareno, 44 years old, 2406 West Adams street, a laborer employed by the Chicago Surface lines, was fatally injured yesterday morning when he was struck by an automobile as he was cleaning a switch in front of 3916 West Adams street. Ralph Lehman, 11 South Austin boulevard, driver of the automobile, took Mareno to the Garfield Park hospital, where he died last night of a fractured skull. Lehman is being held by the Fillmore street police.

Mareno's death and one other raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 29. The other victim:

Mrs. Lydia Schamplin, 70 years old. Died in the county hospital of injuries received when she walked against the side of an automobile in traffic at Adams and Laflin streets, Wednesday. The driver, Timothy Burke, 1122 South Mansfield avenue, was not held. Police found the address, 6914 Wentworth avenue, in her bank book, but an inquiry there failed to find any one who knew her.

SEEKS INQUIRY ON CITY'S REVENUE FROM TAXICABS

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st], chairman of the council committee on traffic regulation and public safety, announced yesterday that he would introduce an order at the meeting of the city council on Jan. 20 calling for a survey of the taxicab industry in Chicago. He plans to have his committee conduct the survey with the purpose of determining if the city collects all the revenue from taxicabs to which it is entitled.

"According to available figures," said Ald. Bowler, "the city receives only $26,000 a year from the taxicab companies. That revenue is derived from the $5 fee per cab for a public hack stand license and is exclusive of other payments made by the taxicab companies which are paid also by owners of pleasure and business vehicles. Some of the cab companies pay large sums for the privilege of standing in front of hotels, which means that outside interests are collecting money for the use of city streets."

PRUSSIA SETS UP PARROT EMBARGO TO CURB DISEASE

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The official gazette today prohibited the importation of parrots into Prussia to guard against spread of the cases of psittacosis, or "parrot's disease," discovered in many parts of Germany. The embargo is effective immediately.

Fritz Meyer, who recently treated several of the cases, today told the Berlin medical society that he had found streptococci only in the three worst cases, and then only as complications. He said that one of the dangers of the disease was that parrots to all appearances healthy might be infectious. No specific treatment is known in Germany.

Three Cases in Saxon City.

HARTHE, Saxony, Germany, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Three persons were reported today to be suffering from psittacosis after a visit to relatives already sick with the disease.

Nurse Dies in Cologne.

COLOGNE, Germany, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Fourteen cases of psittacosis have been reported in this city. Dispatches from Dusseldorf say that a nurse in the hospital there died from the disease today.

Tribune Writer Speaks at Indiana U. Banquet

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Miss Kathleen McLaughlin of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE reportorial staff spoke here this evening at the annual matrix table banquet of the Indiana University Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic sorority. Approximately 400 guests were present. Other speakers were Prof. William Telfer of De Pauw University and Harold Feightner, Indiana newspaper man.

CHICAGO GETS FIRST CASE OF PARROT'S FEVER

Woman Is Stricken After Death of Bird.

Mrs. Vearle Whitson, 29 years old, was seriously ill and under quarantine yesterday at her home at 26 South Lincoln street in Westmont suffering from what is believed to be the first case of psittacosis, or parrot's disease, reported in the Chicago area. The case was reported to the state health authorities by Dr. F. H. Gaffey of Westmont, and last night the state authorities were making an investigation to determine whether the disease is really psittacosis.

Mrs. Whitson has been under Dr. Gaffey's care since last Sunday, suffering from a high fever and the symptoms of the parrot disease, but showed a slight improvement yesterday.

Parrot Becomes Ill.

Mrs. Whiston bought a parrot at a bird shop on West Madison street on Dec. 22, but could not recall the exact location of the place. A few days later the bird began to show symptoms of illness, its wings and feathers drooping, and on Jan. 5 it died. A few days later Mrs. Whitson became ill, but paid no especial attention to her ailment until Sunday, when she began to show a fever which hovered around 104 degrees.

When state health authorities were notified of the case they immediately quarantined the Whitson home and took the body of the parrot to the Illinois Research hospital, where an autopsy was performed yesterday. The autopsy showed that the parrot had suffered from gastro enteritis, an acute inflammation of the digestive tract, the disease from which most birds die.

Hunts Evidence of Disease.

Cultures were made from the bird's organs by Dr. Lloyd Arnold, bacteriologist, who is studying them to determine if there is evidence of psittacosis. Results of the study will not be known until the cultures have matured.

Dr. Gaffey said the symptoms shown by Mrs. Whitson were similar to those of typhoid fever and of influenza.

DEATH IN NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Another death believed to have been caused by psittacosis, or parrot's fever, occurred in the Bronx today. A 45 year old woman, whose name and address were not disclosed, died after an illness of eleven days. She had bought a parrot two days before Christmas and it died a week later.

Husband Finds His Wife Electrocuted in Bathtub

Mrs. Tillie Zablocki, 31 years old, 3110 North Sawyer avenue, was found electrocuted in a bathtub in the basement of her home early yesterday when her husband, Casimir, went in search of her after finding that she had not been in bed. Mrs. Zablocki, who was soon to have become a mother, apparently was killed when she touched an exposed wire on an electric heater. She is survived by her husband and two small children.

NEW YORK WOMAN PUTS BULLET THROUGH HEART OF RACKETEER

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A woman in fear of her life leaned from a second floor window on Elton street, Brooklyn, today and fired two shots into the body of a man who stood pounding a gun butt against her front door. He fell in a heap and a man with him leaped the paling fence and fled.

She told the police how it happened this afternoon and her confession, according to police, ended the search for the slayer of a racketeer's collection man whose body was found on the Elton street doorstep, a bullet wound in the heart.

The woman, Agnes Ambrosia, daughter-in-law of the owner of a bakery at that address, declared that her father-in-law had received a letter last night demanding that he pay $2,000 to two men who would call at his home early today.

The dead man, tentatively identified as Andrew Ingurgia, is believed by police to have been a lieutenant of the gang leader who fell heir to the mantle of the slain Frankie Yale. The gang's racket, they said, is levying tribute for "protection" on Brooklyn bakeries.

FIRST TWO FAIR BUILDINGS TO BE STARTED JUNE 1

Construction of the first two buildings for the 1933 Century of Progress exposition will start June 1, Maj. L. R. Lohr, manager of the fair, told the members of the Advertising Council of Chicago yesterday at the Hotel La Salle. Architect's plans for these two structures, the administration and transportation buildings, will be ready for the contractors by April 1.

The fair grounds will extend for eight miles along the lake front, a total of about 800 acres, Maj. Lohr said. Buildings also will be constructed on a 74 acre island just off the lake shore.

New building methods will be used in the construction of all the exhibit buildings, Maj. Lohr asserted.

CONSUMER WINS BATTLE OF SUGAR BOWL IN SENATE

Retain Present Tariff by Vote of 48 to 38.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Present duties on sugar were approved today by the senate, which thus decided "the battle of the sugar bowl" in favor of the consumers and against agriculture.

Proposed increases in rates went by the board with the adoption of the amendment of Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] for the retention of provisions of the existing law. The vote was 48 to 38.

A suggested bounty on domestic production of sugar will come to a vote tomorrow, but seems certain of rejection.

Desert High Tariff Camp.

Unexpected desertion of the high protectionist camp by as many as eight regular Republicans was responsible for today's result. The winning side was composed of a curious combination of Democrats, radicals, and regular Republicans. For the Harrison amendment were 29 Democrats, 18 Republicans, and one Farmer-Labor member, while against it were 34 Republicans and 4 Democrats.

Republicans from beet sugar states had been confident of defeating the Harrison amendment by a narrow margin. Possible political effect of an increase in the cost of sugar to consumers was the factor which made it impossible for them to hold all the protectionists in line.

In defense of their votes, the protectionists who supported the Harrison amendment asserted that higher duties would be ineffective as long as Philippine sugar is imported free. Opponents of the proposed increased duty favored by the finance committee have contended it would add $54,000,000 to consumers' costs annually.

Victory for Cuban Interests.

Adoption of the Harrison amendment meant defeat for agricultural organizations headed by the American Farm Bureau federation, which also have advocated the elimination of the preferential applying on Cuban sugar and the imposition of duties on Philippine sugar. It was a victory for the Cuban interests, including Americans with investments in Cuba. There was great rejoicing at the Cuban embassy, where the action was interpreted as paving the way for better relations between the two countries.

Present duties which would remain in effect under the Harrison amendment are 1.76 cents per pound on Cuban sugar and 2.20 cents on other sugar. The finance committee amendment, which was supported by the senators from beet sugar states, provided for duties of 2.20 cents per pound on Cuban sugar and 2.75 cents on other sugar.

The house bill provided even higher rates of 2.40 cents per pound on Cuban sugar and 3 cents on other sugar. When the bill goes to conference it will still be possible for the conferees of the senate and house to adopt the finance committee rates which would represent a compromise between the duties of the present law and those of the house bill.

Wins Down East Senators.

The Republican regulars who voted for the Harrison amendment included Senators Arthur Capper and Henry Allen [Kas.], both of whom ordinarily are for American Farm Bureau federation proposals; Wesley L. Jones [Wash.], Arthur Robinson [Ind.], whose state produces some beet sugar and who had been expected to vote for higher duties; John M. Robison [Ky.], and three high protectionist New Englanders, F. H. Gillett [Mass.], J. H. Metcalf [R. I.], and H. W. Keyes [N. H.].

The other ten Republicans for the Harrison amendment were radicals who usually have lined up with the Democratic-radical coalition.

The only Democrats who voted against the Harrison amendment were Senators Joseph E. Ransdell, E. S. Broussard [La.], John B. Kendrick [Wyo], and W. H. King [Utah].

Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.] voted against the Harrison amendment, while Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], was paired against it.

Increase Maple Sugar Duty.

The senate approved committee amendment increasing duties on maple sugar from 7½ cents to 8 cents per pound, and maple sirup from 5 cents to 5½ cents.

Consideration of the paper schedule was commenced. Senator Deneen took an active part as chairman of the subcommittee which handled the schedule.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16—(AP)—The nomination of William E. Lee of Idaho to be a member of the interstate commerce commission was confirmed today by the senate.

M'DONALD STUNNED BY REPORTER'S QUERY ON SHIP REPLACEMENTS

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—During the prime minister's discussion of the forthcoming naval armament conference with the journalists yesterday he was asked if whether, in following British policy in delaying replacements, any nation would be permitted to replace a battleship which accidentally was sunk by disaster or explosion.

Mr. MacDonald gave an affirmative answer.

The journalist said, "Then it would pay a nation to sink an old battleship?"

"I shall assume that the national representatives are honorable men," Mr. MacDonald answered slowly and gravely. "I think you will find I am right."

U. S. DELEGATES TO ARMS PARLEY REACH ENGLAND

British Aim to Junk Big Ships Stuns Stimson.

Chelwood are joint presidents, advocating the abolition of battleships.

Another theory is that the MacDonald declaration was for home consumption of the pacifist element of the Labor party. Surprise is expressed that he made it, in view of his slender hold on parliament and Tory opposition to his navy reduction program. It is suggested, however, that the Tories would doubtless be willing to give him a chance to use the battleship abolition declaration to win the cruiser tonnage concession from the United States.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL THEME

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—With the opening of the five power naval conference only five days off and the American delegation arriving within 24 hours, it is becoming increasingly evident that the main feature of the conference will be a struggle between the French and Americans to secure the support of Prime Minister MacDonald for the conflicting naval theses, and that the British prime minister intends to do his best to reconcile the two views.

Mr. MacDonald's plans, as outlined by him, indicate that he will concentrate on the questions of battleships and submarines. The cruiser question, which chiefly concerns America and Great Britain, he regards as already practically settled.

The battleship question is where he may come into conflict with the American naval policy. American admirals, and the American delegates, too, are believed to hold that the battleship is still the core of the fleet and cannot be abolished. Mr. MacDonald holds with many British experts, headed by Admiral Sir Percy Scott, that battleships "are no damned use at all, sir," and would like to abolish them immediately. He realizes, however, that this is not likely to secure a general agreement and he will concentrate on a gradual elimination by obsolescence, and failing in that, on a drastic reduction in size.

His idea, it is understood, is to reduce the present size of battleships by at least 10,000 tons, and more if possible, and the caliber of guns from 16 to 12 inches. He feels that if this is done an immense burden can be lifted from the shoulders of the taxpayers of both countries, as these huge units cost $35,000,000 each to build and a proportional sum annually for maintenance.

From the preliminary conversations and French statements Mr. MacDonald believes such a compromise possible, and he is looking forward to meeting American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson tomorrow or Saturday.

It is learned that it is likely that before the conference is ended Spain may be called in, as both France and Italy are anxious to secure some sort of Mediterranean regional agreement and none such could be complete without Spain.

No Pageant for King.

All arrangements are now complete at St. James' palace and the house of lords. The king's special gold microphone which he uses for broadcasting has been installed in the house of lords. In St. James' palace special cable, telegraph and telephone wires have been installed for the delegates and newspaper men.

King George will wear morning dress at the opening of the naval conference in the house of lords on Tuesday. There will be no pageantry, the king driving in a closed motor car from Buckingham palace to the house of lords. The conference itself will be held in St. James' palace.

WINNETKA SKATING CARNIVAL.

The Winnetka chamber of commerce will hold its second annual skating and ice carnival tomorrow night at Hubbard Woods. Twenty racing and fancy skating events are on the program. Two thousand persons, all in costume, are expected to take part.

HOLDUP VICTIM SHOOTS BANDIT; TWO ARE CAUGHT

As Arthur Sockman, service superintendent at the Civic Opera building, was putting his automobile into his garage at the rear of his home at 3044 Kimbark avenue last night two gunmen stepped from behind the building and ordered him to throw up his hands. Instead, Sockman drew a revolver from his overcoat pocket and fired three shots. The gunmen fired five shots in return and fled across a vacant lot.

Noticing that one of the men limped and leaned on his companion, Sockman called the Burnside police and told them of the trail the bandits had taken. Sergt. Patrick McShane and his squad followed the trail across the prairie and a few minutes later came upon the pair, hiding beside the embankment of the Nickel Plate railroad tracks near 84th street. They surrendered without resistance and identified themselves as Anthony Smigel, 24 years old, and William Smigel, 26, his brother, both of 8821 Houston street.

Boy Finds Bag of Jewels Lost Year, Worth $15,000

York, Me., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A bag containing jewelry valued at $15,000 which was lost from an automobile on Jan. 27 of last year was found today alongside the road near the Moulton farm by a high school boy, Reginald Bone, age 13, who was on his way home from the York High school. The bag was lost by B. G. Court of Portland.

DRAINAGE BOARD ASKS 18 MILLION; IS NEW RECORD

Plans for the expenditure of $18,500,000 during 1930 for sanitary district construction projects were outlined in the annual report of Chief Engineer E. J. Kelly submitted yesterday to the sanitary board. Of this amount, the largest in the history of the district, a total of $11,740,000 has been set aside to continue construction of the west side sewage treatment plant.

The north side plant, now operating at part capacity, will be placed in complete operation by summer, according to the plans. Property is to be acquired for the site of the proposed southwest side plant and for an addition to the Calumet plant.

About $2,000,000 has been appropriated for bridge construction. In addition to these projects, said Mr. Kelly, the 1930 budget provides sufficient funds to finance uncompleted construction contracts carried over from last year.

Finds Mrs. Adler's Death Due to Acute Alcoholism

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A verdict that Mrs. Harriet Adler, estranged wife of Hamilton Adler, bond broker, died of acute alcoholism and possibly postural asphyxia was returned today by Dr. Charles G. Norris, medical examiner, after an autopsy. Her body was found yesterday morning in the living room of a penthouse apartment occupied by Dudley Murphy, a movie director, just off 5th avenue on East 41st street. Dr. Norris said that there was no evidence of poisoning or foul play.

Charged with Laziness—

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

More than one man today is misjudged and unjustly penalized because of a not understood physical condition rather than any lack of willingness or ability.

So many of us are only half ourselves, only fifty percent efficient, because we are victims of an insidious condition of acidity! That persistent tired feeling—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system.

Acidity is brought on by your unnatural eating, excessive smoking and irregular hours. It impairs digestion, and causes fermentation and putrefaction in the intestines and drags us down physically and mentally.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany.

This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole.

Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen.

Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It exercises a stimulating effect upon the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfect natural manner.

5-Day Acid Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this 5-day acid test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores and Economical Drug Stores or any other druggist on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal for five days. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If five days' test doesn't show you a decided improvement in your health, return the balance of the Oxoids to your druggist and he will refund your money.

DETECTIVES AND PROSECUTORS TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Will Hear Lectures on Presenting Cases.

Starting tomorrow the 900 policemen assigned to the detective bureau will go to school two hours a week. Deputy Commissioner Stege made arrangements yesterday to have two lectures a week by judges and lawyers who will give the detectives such instructions as in time will amount to a complete course in criminal law.

Acting State's Attorney John Norcup announced that weekly meetings will be held at which all assistant prosecutors will listen to lectures on the presentation of cases, discussion of evidence and the proper procedure in bringing criminals to justice.

Judges Hold Meeting.

The two plans grew out of a conference called yesterday by Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court at which all the judges were present and Stege was representing Commissioner Russell, who is ill. The judges offered constructive criticism regarding police methods and Stege said their suggestions were what the department needs. For instance, he said, the judges pointed out that many burglars have gone free because the police failed to procure a search warrant before ransacking the burglar's home or room. Many confessions have been excluded from juries or have resulted in reversals because they were improperly taken by policeman.

Judge McGoorty to Lecture.

"Seventy-five per cent of the cases heard in the Criminal courts are handled by men of the detective bureau," Stege said. "If our men are given an education in criminal law acquittals should be few and far between. Judge John P. McGoorty will give the first lecture and after that we will have two a week, with half of our force attending each lecture.

"Another subject discussed at our meeting was probation and we were able to show where an inadequate record system has permitted old offenders to receive probation. We talked also of changing the rules regarding the boys' court so no adults will be tried there."

NEW CLEW TO LOST FLYERS

Soviet arctic commission today received a radio report that Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, missing American aviators, had landed near the river Anguemy in Siberia. The report was radioed from the Russian station at Anadyrsk. Available gazeteers do not show a river named Anguemy, but cross on map shows approximate position where the flyers may have landed.

RADIO MESSAGE BARES NEW CLEW TO LOST EIELSON

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The soviet arctic commission, which has been directing the Russian efforts to find Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, missing American aviators, today received a report that they had landed near the river Anguemy in Siberia.

The report came from the commission's radio station at Anadyrsk, Siberia, which in turn had heard on Jan. 14 of the aviators' landing. Though the report was not confirmed, government authorities ordered a dog-sled expedition to proceed immediately to the Anguemy river region.

The expedition will be sent out by Capt. Milovsorov of the steamer Stavropol, locked in the ice near North cape.

The actual report of the landing of the American aviators dates from the end of December. It reached Wireless Operator Kyrilenko at Pinkighly Jan. 14, in a letter from Cape Wellen, dated Dec. 30. Eielson and Borland have been missing since Nov. 9.

The soviet government also ordered that an airplane expedition be sent out from Cape Providence, instructing the soviet aviators Gladvishev and Slepnev to join in the search. Another party will be sent from Cape Wellen. Meanwhile the government is taking all measures to verify the report.

Available gazetteers do not show a river named Anguemy, but since the river Great Anguy, which is in northeastern Siberia and empties into the Arctic ocean in the region of Cape North.

HEAD OF INDIANA SCHOOL MISSING; FEAR DROWNING

Arthur Butler Williamson, 36 years old, principal of the John F. Nuner High school at South Bend, Ind., had been missing 48 hours last night. His wife fears he may have been drowned in the flooded St. Joseph river, which flows 100 feet from the Williamson home.

Mr. Williamson came home on Tuesday evening, ate a lunch, and retired to his bedroom at 11:30 p. m. seemingly in a jovial mood, according to his wife. Next morning she found the suit he had worn the previous day carefully hung, while a pair of pajamas, a pair of old trousers, and an old brown overcoat and a cap were missing from his wardrobe. Mrs. Williamson believes he may have suffered a nervous breakdown.

LITSINGER STICKS TO SANTA CLAUS ASSESSMENT CUT

Scorns Cutmore Values on His Friends' Land.

Edward R. Litsinger of the board of review yesterday announced that he would stand behind his Christmas gift of a blanket 25 per cent reduction of unit land values to a group of his neighbors in a section of North Town over the protest of Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment. William H. Weber and Charles V. Barrett, Litsinger's colleagues, pledged their support.

The affected area extends west from Lincoln park to Larrabee street, between North avenue and Center street. The reduction applies to every street in the district except Ogden avenue and La Salle and Clark streets. It is the most extensive ruling made by the board, involving more than a thousand pieces of property, valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

Two weeks before Christmas Mr. Litsinger announced in a community newspaper that he would make the cut, and his friends in the neighborhood hailed it as a Christmas gift. John H. Glenn, Litsinger's secretary and secretary to the Republican organization of the 43d ward, and Ald. Arthur F. Albert, also the political associate of Litsinger, live in the ward. Glenn lives at 1911 North Ogden avenue, one of a few addresses on that avenue to benefit, and Albert at the North Park hotel.

Cutmore Cites Prices.

Cutmore delivered a report citing sales offers and prices asked for fifty of the properties. With a single exception, the assessors' valuations are lower than the indicated market values. He examined the district again before submitting his demand for a reconsideration. The order to reduce was signed only by Litsinger.

Reviewer Litsinger was found holding hearings alone, contrary to the order of the state tax commission, which requires the board to sit as a whole. He ignored reporters, busying himself with complaints. When he was joined by his fellow members he consented to give two minutes of his time.

"I don't care for Cutmore's report," he said. "You can bring him here and I'll tell him that. Let Mr. Cutmore and Mr. Fairweather (George O. Fairweather, chairman of the commission on real estate valuations)—yes, and Mr. Malone (Chairman William H. Malone of the state tax commission)—run for office. Let them learn what the people think of them.

"Outrageously High."

"I saw that property myself. I made a personal investigation, and found that the valuations are enormously high. I say outrageously high and I don't care for all the reports Cutmore can get. I am willing to furnish cars for disinterested people to look at the district.

"You can say it's a coincidence that Glenn and Albert live there. You can say anything is a coincidence. The values stand. Now you've had two minutes. Go say whatever you please, just so you say something."

"Wait a minute," Reviewer Barrett addressed Litsinger. "That sounds like a mayoralty boom. Some one just said I was making a boom because of a decision in another case. We can't have two booms in an afternoon."

Fifty complainants joined in the laugh. They had hopes of securing reductions.

TAYLOR HEIRESS SUES TO DIVORCE BOOTH, CANADA LUMBERMAN

Mrs. Louise Taylor Booth, daughter of the late Lloyd B. Taylor, trunk manufactufer, yesterday filed a suit for divorce in the Circuit court against her husband, Frederick H. Booth of Ottawa, Ont. The bill, drawn by Attorney John J. McMahon, charges that Booth was repeatedly intoxicated during the last two years the couple lived together.

Mrs. Booth is a sister of Mrs. Robert J. Dunham Jr. of Lake Forest. Mr. Booth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Booth and a grandson of the late John Rudolphus Booth, Canadian lumber king. He is a cousin of Princess Lois, wife of Prince Eric of Denmark.

The Booths were married in a fashionable wedding at St. Chrysostom's church on May 31, 1919. After a honeymoon tour the Booths made their home at Ottawa, where Booth directs lumber interests. The couple separated on Dec. 8, 1928, when Mrs. Booth returned to Chicago. Since that time she has made her home here. She could not be reached last night.

The case will be heard by Circuit Judge Lynch.

COURT CONDEMNS COATH; OFFICIAL GETS JOB BACK

Ex-School Head Censured by Judge Taylor.

J. Lewis Coath, who once called himself "Iron Handed Jack" when he was champion of the America First ideals in Chicago schools as president of the board of education, was condemned yesterday by Chief Justice Thomas Taylor Jr. of the Circuit court. The judge lashed the former school board head in an opinion granting a writ of mandamus for the reinstatement of Cornelius J. Lamb as superintendent of construction for the board.

Lamb was ousted at the order of Coath June 22, 1927, after having served the board in various capacities for thirty-four years. He was a civil service employé so that the discharge was made through a nimble maneuver ordered by Coath. The board voted to abandon the bureau of repairs so that his position was no longer required and transferred its functions to the bureau of architecture.

Failed to "Go Along."

Behind this action was Coath's resentment at Lamb for failing to "go along" with him in the matter of awarding contracts to favored bidders at increased cost to the board, the opinion holds. Lamb testified during the trial that he had been given 23 samples of varnish to try out. Specifications held that the varnish should be bought at from $2 to $3 a gallon. The board was to buy approximately $10,000 worth.

Lamb put the samples on the door of the board building. After a test of several weeks he selected five of the samples, priced at $2 a gallon, and was summoned before Coath, who gave him two samples he wanted accepted, priced at $2.50 a gallon, the opinion recites. Lamb said he would recommend his five samples.

Coath is said to have urged his samples. Lamb refused to listen to him because he would have no excuse to offer in the event of an investigation.

Told He Was Through.

"Coath said I was a fine cuss," the opinion quotes the testimony, "I said those five samples were equal to his. He turned around and looked at me, and reached over and took his hat off the desk, grumbled something and went out of the door."

Several days later John E. Byrnes demanded Lamb's resignation.

"All this seems to me like the dishonorable discharge of an heroic soldier just after he has earned a distinguished service honor," Judge Taylor declared.

WOMAN ON TRIAL NAMES JUDGE AS SLAYER OF CHILD

Camden, N. J., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The name of a Common Pleas judge in Atlantic City was brought into the Parka trial here late this afternoon. It came in the reading of a statement made last November in which Gladys May Parks accused Judge Joseph A. Corio of having choked her two year old ward, Timothy Rogers, and then held his head under water. Miss Parks is accused of the murder of both Timothy and his four year old sister, Dorothy, the children of Alan A. Rogers of Woodbury.

The accusation came at the end of a day of lifeless legal argument about the admissibility of five statements the defendant is alleged to have made.

At the end of the day's session, which closed with the reading of the last statement shortly after six o'clock, the Camden county prosecutor, Clifford Baldwin, said that he was sure in his own mind that Judge Corio had nothing to do with the case.

BUTCHER SHOT DURING HOLDUP; MAY NOT LIVE

Joseph Kroupa, 46 years old, was shot through the left lung and wounded probably fatally yesterday evening by one of two bandits who robbed his butcher shop at 4339 22d street of $450. The robbers fled with the money.

Kroupa, his wife, Mrs. Marie Kroupa, and Joseph Kastle, 2235 South 59th avenue, Cicero, a butcher, were in the shop when the two men entered and asked for a pound of ground beef. When Kroupa turned his back to go to the refrigerator the robbers drew guns, and while one of them covered Kastle, the other forced Mrs. Kroupa to hand over the money from a cash drawer behind the counter.

Kroupa turned back in time to see his wife deliver the money, and snatching up a metal meat tray he flung it at the bandit's head. The gunman ducked and fired one shot, hitting Kroupa in the chest. The bandits fled.

Your baby may look plump and healthy and still his bones and teeth may not be developing properly

Every mother knows how much these things mean to health and appearance all through life!

To ensure them, physicians are telling mothers that their babies must have special protection. Even though your baby is breast-fed, even though he is plump and rosy; still he needs protection against the ever threatening danger of poor bones and teeth.

There are two common sources of the essential protective factor (Vitamin D). Sunshine and good cod-liver oil! But because of clothing, clouds, fog and smoke, it is almost impossible to get enough sunshine on your baby's bare body. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting rays.

Physicians say that the one dependable protection is to give your baby Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—regularly every day. And thousands of them say, "Give Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil."

They prefer Squibb's because it is very rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin," which helps to build good bones and teeth, and Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to infections.

Your physician knows how much Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil will help in correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth. For your protection, insist on Squibb's, the vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil. Plain and Mint-flavored.

MAYOR INVITES 100 EDITORS TO SECRET PARLEY

Purpose of Meeting Tonight Is a Mystery.

Mayor Thompson sent invitations yesterday to between fifty and one hundred community newspapers requesting them to send a representative to a conference to be held in his office tonight. The intentions of the mayor were kept secret and precautions were taken to limit the attendance to the authorized representatives of those newspapers.

Members of the mayor's cabinet either declined to discuss the meeting or professed ignorance of the mayor's plans. Administration aldermen, city officials and city employés also contended that the business to be taken up in the conference was not known to them.

Text of Invitation.

The telegram of invitation signed by the mayor read as follows:

"You are cordially invited to attend a conference of community newspaper publishers and editors Friday, Jan. 17, at 8 p. m., to discuss the tax problem created by the reassessment. Action at this meeting is vital to the welfare of community newspapers, their readers and the people. Please phone to the mayor's office the name of the person who will represent your paper."

At the mayor's home last night it was said that the mayor was in the city hall. His office door was locked, but over the telephone the information was given that he was not there. John Kelly, the mayor's secretary, expressed the belief that the meeting was limited to outlying community newspapers and declared that he knew of no further purpose than to discuss the tax reassessment.

"I heard about the mayor calling in some people to tell the story about the reassessment," declared Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe, who denied rumors that he was the author of the conference plan. "But I do not know what he will tell them nor have I the slightest idea concerning his plans."

No Comment—Ettelson.

Corporation Counsel Ettelson stated he did not care to discuss the subject and Robert M. Perbohner, member of the board of local improvements and confidant of the mayor, said, "I don't know a thing about it." Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], and Louis B. Anderson [2d], leaders of the administration group in the council, were equally in the dark.

Sam Griffith, night elevator operator, shook his head and smiled. "No, I haven't heard a thing," he said.

PAIR ROB BUTCHER OF $6,250.

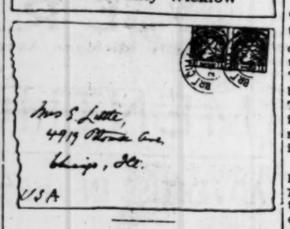
Two armed men entered a meat market at 627 West 18th street yesterday morning, compelled the owner, Walter Kilten, to unlock the safe, and escaped with $250 cash, a $500 gold bond, and a $5,500 real estate bond, Kilten told the police.

THE TRIBUNE CONTEST OF INTERESTING LETTERS

Every morning The Tribune prints a photograph of the stamp and postmark and the name and address of the recipient of a letter from an interesting or little known place, with a map showing its origin and a brief word of description.

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune. The sender of every envelope which is reproduced will be paid one dollar.

From County Wicklow



This little town of Bray is prettily situated on the Irish sea, about fourteen miles south of Dublin. It is thronged in summer time with people who come from other parts of Ireland and Great Britain as well as from America. County Wicklow's mountain scenery is regarded as second only to Killarney. It is accessible by rail and road, and Bray is the gateway to the best spots. One of these is Glendalough, where there are historic ruins of the seven churches.

ANNULMENT AND DIVORCE ASKED BY ROOMMATES

Mrs. Alice Anderson, 20 years old, 840 Montrose avenue, yesterday filed a bill for the annulment of her marriage to Roy Anderson, while her roommate, Mrs. Dorothy Brown, 24 years old, filed a bill for divorce against Otto Brown. Both actions were brought in the Superior court by Attorney Irving Eiseman.

Mrs. Anderson charges that her husband did not secure a divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Mae Anderson. She was married Sept. 17, 1928, and left her husband when she learned of his former marriage Oct. 22, 1928. Mrs. Brown was married June 30, 1926, and separated from her husband the following Nov. 27. She charges her husband with habitual drunkenness and relationship with other women.

SCHOOL BUDGET LEGALITY IS PUT UP TO LAWYERS

Board Takes Aldermanic Hint; Asks Opinion.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The school trustees decided yesterday to seek expert legal advice on the validity of their $53,389,103 educational fund budget, a part of the total school budget of $101,786,408. They have asked Chapman & Cutler, bond lawyers, to express an opinion. The trustees hope to have this opinion ready for the city council tomorrow morning when the school tax levy is up for adoption.

This removes the necessity for the proposed aldermanic attempt to compel the board to clear up any question regarding the legality of the educational fund budget. The board was spurred to action by the recent aldermanic discussion of the school budget and the councilmen are pleased that the trustees are assuming the responsibility for obtaining in advance legal assurance that the tax levy is valid.

Up to Board to Make Changes.

If the lawyers hold that there should be some amendments to the budget, the aldermen think it is the duty of the board to make the changes. Therefore, while the city council must pass the school board tax levy, the trustees are taking the responsibility for its legality, in the opinion of the aldermen.

The trustees' apparent concern about the legality of the budget is indicated by the fact that no copies of the budget, as adopted, are available to the public. It is the aldermanic suspicion that the trustees desire that the public shall not know whether any changes will be necessitated by the opinion of the bond lawyers.

Basis of the Criticism.

The chief criticism is that the school trustees have appropriated more money from the educational fund for 1930 than is or will be available, although the new school budget law prohibits the board from appropriating money that is not available and applicable. The board has appropriated the full 1930 tax levy, minus 10 per cent for loss and cost of collection, or $46,901,555, for the educational fund. It has appropriated from other revenue to make the $53,389,103 total. The taxes, however, cannot be legally collected until next year, and are therefore not available for 1930 expenditures.

But another law permits the board to anticipate the collection by issuing tax anticipation warrants for 75 per cent of the tax levy. The expert accountants of the board have told the trustees that this amount is $39,100,000. The board proposes, therefore, to spend from the tax anticipation revenue $7,800,000 more than will be available, according to its own accountants. There is no legal authorization for such borrowing or expenditure, in the opinion of several aldermen.

City Budget Action Tomorrow.

The feeling among the aldermen yesterday was that they will dispose of the city's corporate budget tomorrow. They are beginning to feel the pressure of city employés who want to be paid. If Mayor Thompson vetoes the amended budget tomorrow, it is planned to amend it again, pass it as amended, and then adjourn.

If the mayor then submits another veto, there will be no appropriation for the vetoed items, because it is contended that the council after this recessed meeting adjourns, loses the power to amend the budget further. The opposition to Mayor Thompson has the votes necessary to amend, and most of the aldermen interviewed yesterday expressed unconcern as to what the mayor does.

3,000 TO GO PAYLESS

Nearly 3,000 school board employés, including engineers, firemen, janitors, and civil service workers, will go without pay today. Pay checks for the first half of the month, totaling $400,000, will not be given out, because only $300,000 in cash remains in the educational fund out of which the employés are paid, said Charles E. Gilbert, secretary of the school board, last night.

Some 1,000 employés who are paid out of the building fund, however, will receive their checks, amounting to $83,634, promptly on schedule. Included in this group are the employés in the architect's department and bureau of repairs and the men working on schools under construction. The building fund shows a large cash balance, the board's auditor said.

One week from today a $1,850,000 pay roll for the 13,000 school teachers is due. They are paid out of the educational fund. According to President Caldwell, there is no possibility of meeting this pay roll until after Jan. 31, when the board will have 1930 tax anticipation warrants on which to borrow funds.

Last month the teachers were paid by borrowing $3,000,000 from the building fund, but this cannot be repeated, he said.

Born Gets Right to Move Art Treasures from Home

Superior Judge Sabath yesterday granted Henry Born, president of the Born Refrigerating company, permission to remove his personal belongings from his home at 4715 North Kenneth avenue, now in possession of his estranged wife, Mrs. Edith Wilmans Born, former member of the Texas legislature. Born declared that he owned two valuable oil paintings, a teak table, and two miniatures of European kings, which he valued highly. Mrs. Born, a dry crusader, sued for separate maintenance last week, charging her husband with secret tippling and cruelty.

LOESCH ASSAILS LAX PROSECUTING AS CRIME CAUSE

Veteran Battler Again Heads Commission.

Corrupt, bungling and ignorant policemen, a state's attorney's office in which the lawyers are incapable and unfit to meet the men against whom they are pitted in the courts, complacent or lenient judges—this is the combination responsible for the high rate of crime in Chicago, according to Frank J. Loesch.

Mr. Loesch, now 77 years old, who for the last two years has opposed the alliance of criminals and politicians—which he says still exists—spoke before the annual meeting of the Chicago crime commission in the Union League club. He went further to say that the difficulty in Chicago "lies in the absence of proper cooperation between the law enforcing agencies and officials, together with a criminal code of procedure out of date with present day conditions."

Outlines Commission's Program.

Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the commission, also made an annual report at the meeting in which he outlined generally what the activities of the organization in the next year or two will be. He said the commission will fight to have created "a criminal court in fact and not by assignment of judges; abolition of the office of coroner," and other changes which require changes in the state constitution to be brought about.

Mr. Loesch was elected to his third term as president of the crime commission. Other officers are Robert H. Hunter, Gustave F. Fischer, and Gerhardt F. Meyne, vice presidents; Charles R. Napier, secretary, and Joseph R. Noel, treasurer. A number of well known men also were elected to membership on the commission, which now numbers 158 men. It was organized 11 years ago.

The veteran Loesch, just resigned as special prosecutor, the post in which he conducted his fight against the criminals and politicians, attacked one after the other those he blames for exisiting conditions.

Chicago Gets Notoriety.

"During the last year I have been afforded an excellent opportunity to view the general crime situation in the nation," Mr. Loesch said. "The Chicago situation is a part of the general situation, but the city has acquired an unfortunate notoriety because of many spectacular manifestations of criminals in this community and because here more than elsewhere there seems to be a more open alliance between crime and corrupt politics.

"The police, the sheriff, the state's attorney, the juries and the courts are all concerned in the enforcement of the law and all have a responsible part to perform in the execution of laws which seek to provide for security of life, liberty, and property of citizens.

"The police have a very large portion of the responsibility, and the defects in that department are very great. Crime and politics are strongly linked therein; criminals find their protection in large part in incompetent, inefficient, and corrupt police. There is too much politics in the police force. The commissioner is not permitted that freedom of action which would enable him to discipline, as he should be permitted to do, the inefficient, corrupt, brutal, or careless members of the force."

Competent Men Needed.

The white haired president of the commission at this point commented on the manner of selection and training of the new blood for the department. He said a low order of men was only insufficiently trained when placed on the rolls.

"The city needs a larger police force, but it needs more than that; it requires honest and competent patrolmen and officers," he continued. "The number of police officers who have been indicted and tried for brutality, for murder, for assaults to commit murder, for blackmail, for robbery presents a ghastly picture of the corruption in the department. There are plenty of good men on the force—honest and capable—but they have no freedom to do against the others."

Criticizes Prosecutor's Office.

"That office has not been and is not now manned by a sufficient number of capable assistants, earnest in the discharge of their duties, unremitting in their services and capable of meeting the lawyers for men charged with crime, against whom they are pitted in important cases.

"There is too great an inclination to trade with the defendant and his counsel rather than to prosecute for the crime committed and leave the responsibility with the court and jury. The temptation to follow along the lines of least resistance is the rule of incompetent and inert prosecutors. A firm attitude on the part of a prosecutor will product results in convictions and pleas that a trading attitude never will."

He went on to the courts:

"On the part of the courts there is too much leniency. There is a tendency to apply the judge's opinions of what the law ought to be in the cases at hand and so probation is granted where the law allows none; felonies are waived and misdemeanor charges substituted; the judges, prosecutors, and defendant's counsel bargain and haggle over the restitution a thief should make to escape punishment."

He gave other troubles with the courts and then went on:

"Not making too general an application of the following instance—what must be thought of the administration of justice when in an indictment of one count for assault to rape, upon which after a trial the jury returned a verdict of guilty, the court sets aside the verdict, the assistant state's attorney waives the felony, the defendant pleaded guilty to attempted petty larceny, the court found the property to be of the value of $14, and sentences the defendant, without warrant of law, without any count in the indictment charging larceny, to the House of Correction for six months!

Makes Mockery of Law.

"This is making mockery of the law. Other cases,not quite so flagrant might well be cited."

In conclusion Mr. Loesch attacked our jury system,

"The judicial council of Cook county sought to correct some of the defects in the jury law by a bill introduced into the last legislature," he said. "The bill passed both houses and was vetoed by the governor. The veto was a calamity."

HIGH SALARIED WIFE NEEDN'T PAY SPOUSE'S DEBTS, COURT RULES

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Creditors who counted on the large salary of Belle Bennett, stage actress, to bolster the business ventures of her husband, Fred Windemere, found today that it wasn't worth a nickel—to them.

The creditors had sued for $1,500 which they alleged her husband owed them and when they failed to obtain it from him they started action against the actress.

"I see no reason," Municipal Judge William Frederickson said, "why Miss Bennett should be held liable for business ventures of her husband. Just because she is making a large salary is no reason why a woman should be penalized. The attachment is dismissed and these creditors will have to look to Windemere alone for payment."

TEXTILE REDS BATTLE POLICE; 19 ARRESTED

Meetings Are Broken Up at New Bedford.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A revival of textile labor trouble in this city today was marked by 19 arrests of radical unionists and resistance to police charges which broke up two protest meetings. Among those jailed was Fred Erwin Beal of Lawrence, Mass., now out on bail awaiting appeal from a 20 year sentence in connection with the Gastonia (N. C.) textile strike.

The first meeting was called outside the gates of the Dartmouth mill by National Textile Workers' union leaders to protest against five arrests made yesterday at one of a series of mill gate meetings. These meetings have been held for the last week under the leadership of Beal and his aids.

Speeches Halted Abruptly.

One thousand workers had assembled shortly after noon when Martin Russak, district organizer of the union, mounted a chair. A score of policemen stood ready while he said: "I open this meeting in the name of the National Textile Workers' and Communist party—we have no quarrel with the police, but . . ."

At this point Deputy Chief Raymond Chase blew his whistle and the police closed in. Russak and John Vincent, a mill worker, were arrested.

A moment later Beal appeared. He started to say he had come with a message from the "embattled workers of the south in their fight for better working conditions," when policemen took him by each arm and walked him quietly away.

Hit Officer with Cuspidor.

Later in the afternoon several hundred men and women blocked the street in front of the south end quarters of the National Textile Workers' union and a cuspidor and chairs were thrown at police by those inside the building when they attempted arrests. The thrower of the cuspidor scored a direct hit on Sergt. William McCarty. Three more men were taken by police to join their comrades in cells at the central police station.

All were charged with disturbing the peace or loitering and some of them with resisting arrest and assault upon an officer.

PAINTER WHO RAN MISSION FOUND SLAIN

Charles H. Lerbeck, 45 years old, house painter by trade and evangelist on Sundays, was found slain last evening in the kitchen of a vacant restaurant at 2436 Diversey parkway. His head had been split by a club or ax. The slayer had smeared gray paint on the floor to conceal blood stains.

Shakespeare police last night were seeking Charles Anderson, a vagrant whom Lerbeck took from a West Madison street lodging to assist him in his daily toil and in his preaching. Lerbeck operated the Metropolitan mission, 1638 North Artesian avenue, where he taught the Swedenborgian faith.

Neighbors told the police Lerbeck and Anderson had been quarreling because the latter wished to convert the mission into a free hotel for his hobo acquaintances. Anderson accompanied the amateur missionary to his job of redecorating the restaurant yesterday, the neighbors said. The body was found by Mrs. Mary Schauner, former tenant, who called there to show a prospect the restaurant fixtures she had advertised for sale.

BANDIT TRIO ROBS GROCER.

Three bandits last night held up Joseph Stimpsele in his grocery at 836 Willow street and robbed him of $30.

DEMAND MAYOR GIVE FACTS ON TRANSIT FUND

Seventy-five representives of organizations affiliated with the Northwest Federation of Improvement clubs unanimously approved a resolution last night calling upon Mayor Thompson and the city council to make public a statement on the present condition of the $57,000,000 transit fund. The resolution was presented at a meeting in the fieldhouse at Independence park.

"In view of rumors concerning the 'looting' of the fund and in consideration of the particular concern of the northwest side, which has inadequate transportation, we call upon the mayor and council to make public a statement as to the cash on hand in the transit fund," said the text of the resolution to be presented at the city hall today.

The improvement clubs specifically ask what depositories the fund has and how much interest it is drawing; if some of it has been diverted, as rumored, were the diversions legal? The resolution suggests employment of a certified accountant to make a thorough audit. The federation, under whose auspices the resolution was drafted, has been conspicuous for its fight on behalf of feeder buses.

DENYCOMPROMISE ON DRUGGAN AND LAKE TAX CASES

Terry Druggan's and Frankie Lake's hopes of a settlement favorable to them of their income tax difficulties went glimmering yesterday when it was reported at the federal building that the entire case, including both civil and criminal charges against the two hoodlums, had been placed in the hands of the United States attorney.

At the same time it was announced that orders had been received from the commissioner of internal revenue for the local collector, Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, again to seize and list for auction the gangsters' west side brewery, at Campbell avenue and Roosevelt road.

Druggan and Lake have been making efforts to compromise on their $473,842 delinquent income tax bill and to reach an understanding on the criminal charges in the tax case.

Druggan has made two trips to Washington, and it is reported tax officials there expressed willingness to compromise on $250,000 if the department of justice assented. However, the department of justice has refused any compromise and declared that it was disposed to prosecute vigorously. Mrs. Blackledge said that she now has orders to collect all possible.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

BREAK IN LEVEE SENDS FLOOD ON ARKANSAS LAND

Lake Waters Loosed on 170,000 Acres.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A major break in the Big Lake, Ark., levee late today was reported to the United States engineer's office here tonight. The report said water was pouring through a 300 feet crevasse and that already more than 170,000 acres of extremely valuable lands had been flooded from two to three feet deep.

After the break, engineers transferred their attention to the White river between Georgetown and Evalls Bluff, Ark., where breaks threaten. Over there have been augmented. Maj. L. D. Worsham, engineer for the Fourth government district, went to Evalls Bluff tonight to direct personally the fight to save the levees.

Northeast of Big Lake in Greene county, approximately 10,000 acres had been flooded by the St. Francis river, which swept over depressions in its levees. In Mississippi, the Cold Water river had topped its levees at several points in Quitman county and flooded lowlands.

Wabash at Highest Stage.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Additional hundreds of acres of Indiana land were inundated and scores more of families left homeless today as the flooded Wabash river, at the highest stage ever known, rose to 25.2 feet here tonight, exceeding the 1913 flood mark by 1.3 feet, and appeared certain of going even higher. The near zero cold wave, which stopped rainfall and checked floods in northern Indiana, only increased the suffering here.

Weather conditions were blamed for four deaths in Indiana today. Miller, Beatrice, 3, were killed by a skidding automobile, driven by Helen McNeeley, 16, at Evansville. Isaac Benton, 79, a retired school teacher, was drowned in flood waters of the Ohio river near Yankeetown. Harry Petty, 16, was killed when his automobile skidded at Wabash.

Battle Rising Waters.

Workers striving to protect Vincennes from further flooding are desperate from fatigue and anxiety. Sandbags are being placed a foot higher on the Wabash levees every twelve hours.

The United States weather bureau predicts that the crest of the flood will reach Terre Haute Friday and Vincennes Saturday or Sunday.

The Indiana state board of health sent L. S. Finch, chief engineer of the board, and two assistants today to erect two emergency chlorinating systems. Dr. William King, in charge of the state health service, has issued a rush order for army blankets at Jeffersonville, to be used for refugees housed in box cars.

Illinois Streams Receding.

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Most rivers in southern Illinois were slowly sinking back into their banks tonight after a midwinter flood that brought misery and hardship to hundreds of farmers.

The crest of the flood was reaching the lower Ohio and emptying into the Mississippi river at Cairo where flood stages were forecast. No serious situation was expected, however.

5 Mexican Bandits Slain Near Morrow Summer Home

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—(AP)—El Universal Grafico reported today that five bandits captured after holding up tourists on the highway between Mexico City and Cuernavaca, site of Ambassador Morrow's country home, had been shot dead by troops. The bandits attempted to escape.

H. W. McDavid, Internat'l Kiwanis Head, Ill in Idaho

NATIONS GETS 18 MONTHS FOR RUM CONSPIRACY

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Heber Nations, former Missouri labor commissioner and newspaper publisher, who was convicted yesterday of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act in connection with a beer grafting plot, was sentenced today by Federal Judge Charles B. Davis to serve eighteen months in Leavenworth federal prison and pay a $2,000 fine.

The sentence was the same as that assessed two years ago, when Nations was convicted for a second time on the conspiracy indictment. His first conviction, in 1925, and the 1928 conviction were reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on error.

Sentence was passed today after a motion for a fourth trial was overruled. The case was appealed for a third time.

Nations is a brother of Gus O. Nations, formerly chief of prohibition enforcement in St. Louis. In his first trial Nations was prosecuted by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, then assistant United States attorney general. She discussed the case in a series of articles last year and, as a result, Gus Nations brought a libel suit against her. This suit is pending.

2 ADMIT RAILROAD YARDS THEFT.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Fred H. Becks and Warren Thomas pleaded guilty in federal court here today of theft from interstate freight in the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy yards at Quincy. They were probated to Kenneth A. Elmore.

DORR CRINGES AS STATE ASKS DEATH PENALTY

Court Crowded as Final Arguments Begin.

makes its closing arguments. The defense attorneys have asked four hours in which to present their pleas. It is expected the case may go to the jury at noon tomorrow.

The defense rested its case shortly after court convened at 4 o'clock. Following more than two hours of rebuttal testimony by state's witnesses, Attorney Barratt O'Hara, Dorr's counsel, announced that he would offer no sur-rebuttal. Mrs. Rose Dorr, wife of the defendant, who was made happy on Wednesday by the promise that she might be put on the stand to testify in behalf of her husband, was not offered as a witness.

Former Employé Testifies.

As a rebuttal witness Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne questioned Miss Marcella Egan, 7854 South Ashland avenue, a former saleswoman for Dorr. She testified that she went out and hunted up insurance prospects and that Dorr then called on them to clinch the deal.

Q.—Did you know Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien? A.—I have met her, but I do not know her.

Q.—How often did you meet her? A.—Every time I went out with Mr. Dorr in the machine to close insurance deals—it must have been seven or eight times.

Miss Egan said that Mrs. O'Brien was in Dorr's office on Nov. 18, which was two days before the fatal shooting of O'Brien, and that on Nov. 19 Dorr said to her, "Miss Egan, do not make any appointments for this evening because I have a date for the whole evening."

Finds Beer Charge False.

Convening of the court was delayed by Judge Miller for almost six hours while an investigation was made concerning a story told by Mrs. Peggy Edman, 2822 North Kedzie avenue, that she had seen three jurors in the trial sipping beer in a southwest side speakeasy on Wednesday night.

When it was found the story was without foundation, and after Mrs. Edman had identified as the "jurors" three men who were not jurors, she and her husband, Albert C. Edman, were taken to the detective bureau. Mrs. Edman will be charged, with others, with conspiracy to obstruct justice, according to Acting State's Attorney Northup.

Judge Makes Statement.

"There has been no tampering with this jury so far as the court knows," said Judge Miller before he convened the court. "I implicitly trust my personal bailiff, Walter Kohler, who is in charge of the jury, and defense and state's attorneys have agreed that there is nothing to warrant the abandonment of this case."

The judge added that there was no accusation or intimation or suspicion at that time against any one connected with the case, but said that his investigation was not completed. He recommended a raid on the beer parlor at 3239 West 26th street, where Mrs. Edman had said she saw the three jurors. Judge Miller declared it was "wrong if such a place as that operated so close to the criminal courts building, or anywhere, of course."

FIRE ON 24TH FLOOR OF BUILDING.

Flying sparks from a salamander early yesterday started a fire on the 24th floor of the new 26 story National Garage Company building at 26 West Quincy street. The blaze was confined to a pile of lumber and canvas. The loss was estimated at $200.

GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Charlotte Helen Gabbert.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Charlotte Helen Gabbert, 21 years old, 11031 South Park avenue, yesterday won a divorce from her husband, Walter Gabbert, 26 years old, before Superior Judge Sabath. She charged cruelty and was awarded the custody of her son, Ronald, 2 years old, and $20 a week for his support. The Gabberts were married Oct. 26, 1926, and separated last Aug. 20.

SENATE LOBBY QUIZZERS MEET A REAL LOBBY

Women Seeking Pledges Break Up Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.] — Until an indignant woman burst into its hearing room to interrupt with her protest, an otherwise tedious proceeding, the senate's lobby investigating committee was blissfully unaware today that the very building in which it sat was being stormed by the shock troops of one of the most powerful of pacifistic lobbies.

While Senators Robinson [Rep., Ind.] and Blaine [Rep., Wis.], gouged away at witnesses for details of the importers' fight against proposed tariff increases, fellow senators were scurrying through corridors and into secret "hideouts" to escape bands of determined looking women—delegates to the national conference on the causes and cure of war—who sought to pledge votes for ratification of the Root world court formula.

Woman First to Protest.

J. W. Bevans, New York attorney and customs adviser to the Council of American Importers and Traders, Inc., had just concluded his testimony when Mrs. Charles Fuller Winter, president of the American Federation of Industrial Women, pushed her way through the hearing room crowd and confronted Senator Robinson.

"I demand," she cried loudly, "that this committee investigate this crowd of silly women and peace organizations who have invaded this building. I have just seen more than 250 women galloping all over this senate office building, harrying senators through the corridors, and they should be investigated."

"You senators investigated Shearer," she continued, emphasizing her remarks with jabs of a forefinger into the chest of the bewildered senator, "and all he wanted to do was to insure the United States an adequate navy——"

"But, my dear lady," protested Senator Robinson, backing away. "I'm only one member of the committee. I believe these organizations should be investigated, but you should take this matter up with the chairman——"

"I thought that would be the answer," said Mrs. Winter. "I didn't expect any action, but let me tell you something, senator, if you and your committee don't investigate these busybodies, I'll have an investigation if I have to do it myself."

Deneen and Glenn Trapped.

Mrs. Winter's last fling at the "busybodies" was lost on Senator Robinson, who, seeing an opening in the crowd, scuttled out of sight just as a group of Indiana delegates to the conference appeared in the offing.

Senators Deneen and Glenn [both Rep., Ill.], were not so successful, however. Deneen's secretary had explained to the visiting Illinois ladies that the senator was already engaged in an important "conference."

Setting out to find Glenn, the women trapped Deneen in the subway between the senate office building and the capitol and forced him to listen to their demand. Miss Edith Rockwood of Chicago, public affair secretary of the Illinois League of Women Voters, reminded Deneen he had voted for the court protocol and reservations in 1926.

"That problem is not before the senate at this time," answered Deneen, when Miss Rockwood insisted upon his promise to vote for the Root formula. "One ought to keep his mind open and I will consider the problem, yes, I shall be delighted to follow your campaign and read your literature," the senator assured.

Glenn Gives Advice.

Senator Glenn gave the Illinois women a little more time and some advice. He refused flatly to pledge his vote, recalling that he campaigned for the senate on an anti-world court plank and found an overwhelming sentiment in Illinois against the court.

"Now," he told the women. "Don't go back home and shower us with a lot of names signed on petitions. They don't mean anything, anyway. What we want is real information."

Accompanying Miss Rockwood were Mrs. Herman N. Bundesen, wife of the Cook county coroner; Miss Nettie Bauman, Mrs. A. W. Purvin, Miss Lydia Schmidt, Mrs. H. A. Tolles, Miss Jane Mague, Miss Rose Hanskatt, and Dr. Annie R. Ranes, all of Chicago, and Mrs. W. A. Rowell, Hinsdale; the Misses Catherine and Jessie Colvin, Lake Forest, and Mrs. W. A. Thoburn, Oak Park.

Before Mrs. Winter broke into the hearing room, it had been the lobby committee's purpose to complete its investigation of the importers' lobby today, but the interruption caused the session to adjourn in confusion. One witness, Frank J. Boal, a newspaper correspondent, had testified he had found Dr. E. P. Pickrell, agent for German dye interests, working in shirt sleeves in the offices of Senator King [Dem., Utah]. Five other witnesses, all except Bevans, officials of New York importing firms, told of their activities in Washington opposing increased rates and the proposed substitution of United States valuation for foreign valuation for customs duties.

At the White House the women peace lobbyists were given a cordial greeting by President Hoover. "He talked to us as man to man," asserted one delegate. The delegation to the White House was led by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

LITTLE ENTENTE THROWS MONKEY WRENCH AT HAGUE

Big Six May Sign Young Plan Without Them.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 16.—Forty-eight hours before the final protocol of the Young plan for the settlement of war reparations was supposed to be signed, it developed tonight that three months more are required to carve a settlement out of the tangle of the central European claims and counter claims.

The little entente, composed of Greece, Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia, and Jugo-Slavia, will probably not sign on Saturday when the French, English, Belgians, Italians and Japanese delegates put their initials beside those of the Germans.

Echo of 1919 Debacle.

The real significance of the collapse of central Europe in 1919 is just beginning to be realized by some of the major powers, it seems. When Louis Loucheur, the French delegate, announced wearily that another three months might be enough time to settle the central European squabbles, some of the big six looked pained indeed.

Tomorrow Belgian Premier Henri Jaspar, as president of the conference, will try to work out with M. Loucheur some formula by which the Czechs, Roumanians, and Jugo-Slavs will declare in an annex to the protocol that they will ratify it in six months.

Demand Foreign Loans.

The negotiations struck a snag on the home stretch today when the Germans said they could not give France the assurance she demanded on the floating of new foreign loans before the sale of the first issue of reparations bonds. The reich delegates claim the urgent need of a postoffice and a railroad loan. Their experts will arrive from Berlin tomorrow and pending their arrival discussion of the matter was postponed. It was reported, however, that France herself might advance the $50,000,000 Germany requires, charging her the same interest as on the reparations issue.

The bankers laboring here to bring into being a bank for international settlements were dismayed to learn today the canton of Basel, chosen as its site, is demanding $400,000 yearly from the bank. The canton is Socialistic and disapproves of the new international banking "octopus." They were annoyed when the Swiss government agreed to free the bank of all charges.

Germany Interprets Sanctions.

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The German foreign office today issued an official interpretation of certain points agreed upon at The Hague. This interpretation made the point that the right of sanctions established by the Versailles treaty has been abolished.

LEAGUE WINDS UP ITS FIRST DECADE OF WAR ON WAR

Remembers Wilson for His Peace Efforts.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—Congratulating itself on its progress during the last decade, the league of nations council terminated its 58th session at noon today exactly ten years after the first session was called in Paris by the late President Woodrow Wilson.

August Zaleski, Polish foreign minister and delegate and president of this session, enthusiastically addressed his colleagues on the league's achievements, expressing confidence that the next ten years will see even greater progress through the council's efforts to maintain peace and settle international difficulties.

Sees Bright Future.

"I am confident that the number of skeptics and pessimists who thought that the league's work on behalf of peace would prove unavailing, is constantly diminishing," said M. Zaleski. "We know that we are on the right road, and that we will not go astray. We know that we are employing the right methods. We know how to measure our efforts and what results are possible."

The president of the session also paid a tribute to the memory of the late President Wilson and other league of nations pioneers who have died since the beginning of the organization's history.

Original Member Speaks.

The reply to M. Zaleski's speech was made by Quinones de Leon, Spanish ambassador to France, who is the only member of the first session of the league who was present today.

As everybody's mind has been on the London naval conference, and since the present agenda is lighter than usual, this week's meetings have been raced through. The outstanding items were easily cleaned up this morning, and the delegates are leaving Geneva on the earliest possible trains. Most of the delegates were bound for London.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS SELF, DIES.

Staunton, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Henry C. Hasse, 35, Staunton alderman for the last four years, was fatally wounded yesterday when his automatic shotgun was accidentally discharged as he prepared to start on a hunting trip. He died late yesterday in a Litchfield hospital. A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury.

POLITICS WARMS UP AS WRIGHT ABANDONS RACE

Treasury and Senate Contests Affected.

BY PARKE BROWN.

State Senator Harry G. Wright's withdrawal as a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer has given the first breath of real life reported in downstate politics in these pre-campaign days.

Wright's decision to drop out of the treasurership race was made known quietly in his home town, De Kalb, last Saturday after several months of preliminary work on his part in preparation for the contest. Ill health following an automobile accident was given as the reason for his stepping aside; but reports from Springfield indicated that conferences there about New Year's time showed that he would not receive important support upon which he had counted.

The results of his announcement on Saturday were in two directions. They livened up the interest in the question of what candidates will now go into the treasurership field, and they foreshadowed a warm battle in the event that Wright determines to run again for his senate seat, to which he was considered to have relinquished title when he announced his candidacy for treasurer.

Another possible candidate is Howard P. Savage, former national commander of the American Legion, some of whose buddies have been urging him to run for this office instead of for sanitary district trustee as proposed by several business men's organizations who submitted his name to President Elmore of the district.

With Wright out of the picture, it is said, the service men are more than ever inclined to urge Savage to announce himself immediately. Savage is noncommittal.

In Wright's senatorial district, the 35th, which includes De Kalb, Lee, and Whiteside counties, his announcement made a stir because State Representative George C. Dixon of Dixon, immediately after Wright's treasurer candidacy announcement, came out for the senate seat, and an increased number of aspirants to the house appeared because Dixon was out of their way.

Following the three way split in the combination that for a time controlled the majority of the Cook county Republican central committee, Chicago politics subsided with the forces led by Chairman Snow going into retirement to pick their candidates. Both Charles V. Barrett and Edward J. Brundage repeated their statements that they will have nothing to do with this slate. It was rumored that County Commissioner Louis Nettelhorst would be a Brundage candidate for clerk of the Probate court.

Only four of the five Deneen candidates for the sanitary district live north of the river. Attorney Rush C. Butler reminded critics who charged they all were selected from the same section. George B. McKibbin is a south sider.

Wales Nonchalant as Ship Stops with Engine Trouble

S. S. KENILWORTH CASTLE, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, together with other passengers on the Kenilworth Castle, had an unusual experience today when minor engine trouble caused the liner to stop and remain hove to for 85 minutes. The trouble was due to a defect in the packing of a piston, necessitating its replacement. The prince awoke, but showed not the slightest concern.

CHARITY, FRIENDS SHARE RECLUSE'S $300,000 ESTATE

Fortune of Fire Victim Is Found in Bank.

The will of Andrew Klor, 67 year old crippled recluse, was was found burned to death on Wednesday in a room of the building he owned at 1351 South Sangamon street, distributes an estate of $300,000 to charities, and friends. The document was filed yesterday with Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, after the public administrator's office found the fortune in a safety deposit box at the West Side Trust and Savings bank.

The chief beneficiary of the will is a friend, William Fogle of Berwyn, who is to receive $25,000 outright and the balance of the estate after other bequests are made. The balance will be more than $100,000. Fogle had been a friend of Klor for twenty years. Their friendship began shortly after Klor suffered the loss of a leg in a street car accident and grew when Fogle took the injured man on long motor trips.

Attorney Is Given $25,000.

Other beneficiaries are Klor's attorney, John Leo Fay, who will get $25,000; Herbert S. Pflaum, vice president of the bank; Mary A. McDermott, Mary A. Tensey, John J. Ehlen, Mary Agnes Dillon, Harry Fogle, brother of William Fogle, all friends; and Emma Erickson, a second cousin. All of them will receive $10,000 each.

The charitable bequests are $25,000 to the German Old People's home of Forest Park, $20,000 to the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, and $10,000 to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. The last bequest is a reward for administering free treatment to Klor's brother during a fatal illness several years ago.

Inherited Father's Money.

Klor inherited the large part of the estate from his father and mother, who came to Chicago in 1848. Klor was a tinsmith until he lost his leg in 1909. He was awarded $25,000 damages for the accident. Klor lived frugally in his room and seldom went out, his friends said, his only comfort being the visits of his friends.

Pflaum declared that Klor undoubtedly fell asleep with a lighted cigar in his mouth, which caused the fire. He explained that Klor was a heavy smoker. Police found a revolver beside Klor's partially charred body, with two empty cartridges, but a postmortem examination failed to reveal bullet wounds.

BABY BORN AS FIREMEN FIGHT HOSPITAL BLAZE

It was a hot reception that Baby Boy O'Neill received when he entered this world in the early hours yesterday morning at Mercy hospital. The infant, weighing a bit over ten pounds, was born to Mrs. Veronica O'Neill, 219 East 48th street, while a fire raged in a basement storeroom and firemen raced the corridors with axes and fire extinguishers.

Baby O'Neill and 14 other new born babes were removed to another part of the building on the fourth floor to escape the fumes of burning debris. Six firemen were overcome by the smoke and hospital oxygen tanks used to revive them. The fire is believed to have originated from spontaneous combustion in oily rags, the flames spreading to newly painted screens.

4 ways to rejuvenate MIDSEASON COSTUMES

1. Fur Trimmed Coats $157.50

In Gazzah cloth—because "spongy" woolen fabrics are assuming new importance for midseason and Spring. And trimmed with beaver or kit fox for the cold days that are still ahead. In tan, navy, green, oxford, red or brown—colors that promise to be smart for Spring.

Misses' Coats, Sixth Floor, North, State
Also in Evanston Store and West Suburban Store, Oak Park

2. Little Handmade Hats of Ribbed Ribbon, Special at $6

And "special" is a mild word when you consider that these hats have all these fashion virtues:
a—They are "fabric" hats.
b—They are draped and fitted in the dressmaker manner.
c—They are handmade in a variety of close-fitting styles.
d—They offer a wide selection in colors.

LOBBIES AND POLITICAL MORALS.

Probably the most consequential thing emerging from the senate lobby committee in which Senators Caraway and Walsh have been particularly interested has been to give the United States senate a senator who except for the committee would not be there. Mr. Grundy, the eminent Penn state lobbyist and industrialist, unquestionably would still be just what he had been theretofore if the inquisitors had not made it irresistible to Gov. Fisher to appoint him to a place among the conscript fathers who had tried to badger him.

Senator Grundy was transferred thus from the lobby to the seats of the elder statesmen where soon he was able to make a little point of delicacy, undoubtedly relished in the senate, of not voting on the wool yarn schedule because he was interested in the business. That is one thing the committee has scored up on the board. Another is to make generally conspicuous that a lobbyist can't be any worse than the senators on whom he tries to use persuasion or coercion. Whatever his intentions may be, he can succeed in evil only as the conscript fathers prove unworthy, in intelligence or character, of the place they have. It might be more to the purpose to have committee investigation of the senators from time to time in search for soft spots where the fathers might be weakening, an inspirational toning up of such as might confess their need of stimulation toward good works and sustenance in the better life.

A little later the inquisitors had before them a vivacious young woman whose lobby interests included sugar, and she, being feminine, good looking, and in possession of some facts, was able to hold her own about as well as the present Senator Grundy in his turn had been able to do. She scored by saying that her opponents, the beet sugar people, didn't hire a lobby but elected it, mentioning Mr. Timberlake of the house, Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee and chairman of the subcommittee on sugar, and Senator Waterman of Colorado, formerly counsel of the Great Western Sugar company.

In a recent article Charles A. Beard, the historian, asks the question, "Whom does congress represent?" and suggests that Mr. Grundy, insisting, before he was senator, that the backward states should pipe softly when economic questions were up, was deriving his authority from the origins of parliaments and the traditions of their development. "Representative government originated in Europe in the middle ages, in the necessity of kings. They had to collect money to pay for their wars and support their courts. When their private purses ran short they invited the various classes of potential taxpayers to send delegates to some central place to speak (parler) with the king about the amount and manner of their coming taxation. . . . There was no use of asking anybody to vote or serve as a delegate who had no property out of which to contribute to the royal chest."

This nation started with a great party, the Federalist, committed to that idea as to a moral cause, and in spite of Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln the solid men of Boston have not passed out yet. The conflict is still going on, with a pattern of political morals highly fictionized and dear to the demagogue set against the economic realities of the country. Hence the confusion of public morals and real economics which produces the chatty, bulldozing, tub thumping, vivacious and virtuous inquisition of the senators into the reliability of the senatorial conscience and the efficacy of lobbying wiles in Washington. Beard thinks a way can be found out of this confusion of morality and economics and is convinced one must be.

DECIDING AS TO THE PHILIPPINES.

Philippine independence is before congress again in two forms. It is incidental to the tariff discussion, beet sugar and dairy interests seeking to escape from the free import of island products. It is before the senate committee on territories and insular possessions, with a Filipino commission at hand to ask for freedom.

The status of the Philippines under the American flag is unsatisfactory because it is fixed by evasive expedient rather than by policy. In theory the promise of the United States is to give independence, rather soon by Democratic pledge, rather later by Republican. That does not indicate either to Filipinos or to Americans anything definite as to the future, and the uncertainty has its effect on the native temperament and on the development of resources.

There was a time when the far Pacific was so troubled that the release of the Philippines might have been decided upon as an escape from a possible war. That condition has been changed. The islands themselves are not filled with complaint and have little cause for any. American administration is not oppressive but unquestionably helpful. There is greater security and stability because of it.

No decision can be made sensibly or considerately on tariff schedules. The issue is one of consequence and grave responsibility. It would seem to be about time to discard the legend that the United States is waiting for the natives to reach competence in self-government. That is the expedient which has been used in theory thus far, and it only produces uncertainty. It would be more honest to consider the realities, the interests of the United States now and in the future, the interests of the Filipinos and the common good of the two countries.

THE INDIVIDUAL IN THE AMERICAN SCHEME.

Harry Massey of El Paso, Ill., is free again after an experience with law in Chicago which must have disturbed a great many others as well as himself. It seems to be agreed as fact that Massey had not committed any offense. George Hunt, an El Paso high school football player, hopelessly injured, had been sent to a Chicago hospital by his townspeople. Massey, his cousin, came here to be with the boy when he was taken home. Massey, to save money, got a ride on a Peoria truck coming north and it found the Chicago streets obstructed with a heavy snowfall. It was in the car tracks when a supervisor of the street car company, ordering it out of the way, jumped to the running board, fell off, or was pushed off, and was killed.

Massey was arrested with the driver of the truck and his helper and, although entirely innocent, soon found himself involved with the law and with little hope of getting out. He was charged with manslaughter and held under $10,000 bond. All three men were exonerated by the coroner's jury last Saturday, but that did not extricate Massey. Fortunately his story was in the newspapers and finally some lawyers and citizens came to his aid as a matter of public duty and disentangled him from the ropes in which the administration of criminal justice here had tied him.

He had been in a helpless position before the law for eleven days with nothing properly to be charged against him, and it required a real effort on the part of disinterested Chicagoans to get him out. There does not seem to be a disposition to blame any one particularly for the episode, although in all its phases it was distressing, not only to the victim but to the community's sense of justice.

Justice only partly serves its purpose when it is dealing with offenders. It is intended to protect the individual, obscure or otherwise. In these great masses of population the individual is the ward of justice, to be guarded in his rights by the only power which can guard him. In these masses he is so negligible that in many cases he cannot assert anything for himself, and yet, if he is actually negligible, the whole civilization is failing in one of its essential purposes.

There is an American disposition of the present day to be indifferent not only to the rights of the individual but to the rights of minorities, careless of the one and heedless of the other, not a good sign for a democracy.

HOSPITALIZATION FOR NEGROES.

Sponsors of the New Provident Hospital and Training school are now soliciting the public to complete the underwriting of their noteworthy cause. We hope the enterprise will get the response it deserves. The conspicuously high mortality rate among Chicago Negroes is certainly attributable in large part to a deficiency of hospital facilities for members of that race and to the lack of educational opportunities for the training of Negro physicians. Although northern medical schools have been open to Negro students, few of them are able to take the advanced training because of their exclusion from clinical work with patients. Moreover, internships are available to only a handful of the Negroes who graduate from medical schools. There are but forty internships for Negroes throughout the country.

These inequalities the Provident hospital will go far to remove. Under the wing of the University of Chicago Medical school exceptional opportunities for the training of Negro medical students, doctors, and nurses will be provided. The objective is to make the Negroes eventual trustees of their own health. It is a constructive program. Contributions, we are sure, will pay dividends in better health conditions for Negroes and whites alike, for, as the campaign brochure states, "Germs draw no color line."

PICK THE PAVEMENT FOR THE MOTORISTS.

We are distressed to learn that political influence is being sought in behalf of the use of brick for paving public roads. Every observant motorist knows the inferiority of brick to concrete. Highway engineers confirm the opinion of motorists. Money must not be taken from the motorists to subsidize brick yards. We are sure that any politician who would openly champion the use of brick for highways would suffer extinction at the hands of the voters, most of whom are drivers.

Editorial of the Day

AN IOWA INCOME TAX.

[Sioux City, Ia., Journal.]

The trend of opinion in Iowa for some time has been in the direction of an income tax. It has been before the general assembly without emerging in the form of a statute. It has been advocated and opposed, praised and denounced. But today it is stronger than ever in the state. More and more, Iowa thought is crystallizing on an income tax as not only a necessity to relieve the unjust levies made under an archaic system of taxation, but as a thing demanded if there is to be any attempt at economic justice in government.

Nowhere can an honest, informed citizen of Iowa be found who would undertake to say that any individual or group of individuals possessed of the ability to pay should be exempt from taxation. Thousands of successful citizens of Iowa today do not pay a dollar into the treasury for the maintenance of the state government. Such citizens derive extensive benefits from the state. Their children attend the public schools, which are maintained by taxes, and they enjoy in addition numerous privileges paid for by taxpayers to which group they do not belong as mutual contributors to government expense. For there are thousands who draw high wages and fat salaries who have no personal property or real estate. The license fees they pay on their motor cars would be their only taxes paid into the treasury.

COMMON SENSE DOCTORING.

DR. C. W. CHAPMAN offers a number of common sense suggestions from the notebook of a physician in large practice. Some of these follow:

Children should not be allowed to eat between meals. This applies especially to chocolates and sweets. Feeding between meals upsets the rest periods to which the digestive apparatus is entitled. It disturbs the appetite for the regular meals and it is at the regular meal that the child is to get its balanced ration of meats, breads, milk, vegetables, fruits, and minerals. In addition all highly seasoned foods make other foods seem tasteless and, therefore, unattractive. A child who has developed a taste for sweets will not care for spinach, vegetables, meats, nor for unsweetened breads.

The habitual use of purges and laxatives by adults or children does much harm. A tumblerful of warm water on arising in the morning, repeated at some time before retiring, is generally the only laxative required. This water can be flavored with some fruit juice or with tea. Some people use a warm, normal salt solution instead of plain water. A liberal use of fruits and vegetables is all that some people require. The Arabs, who live on curds, sour milks, and dates, get on fairly well in this particular, even though drinking water with them is a luxury on a plane with champagne in some parts.

A coated tongue is likely to mean nothing more than insufficient chewing. A decayed tooth or sore gums might cause the tongue to be coated near by the sore places. Chewing gum is often a better remedy than a dose of pills.

As a rule tonics are useless. If one needs iron let him get it by eating liver, tripe or heart. If he has other dietary deficiency let it be supplied by foods. Sunlight, air, exercise, and diversion about complete the list of approved tonics.

The use of teething powders is not justified. They do no good.

If a child has a fever not otherwise explained, tonsillitis is apt to be the cause. Much of the heart disease of later life is due to overlooked tonsillitis and rheumatism which was called growing pains.

SAYS BORACIC ACID CURES.

C. S. writes: I had suppuration around the nails for some time. I tried everything. Boracic acid finally cured me. Saturate nightly [and whenever convenient] with wet boracic acid [powdered]. It takes some time but it is a sure cure.

BREAD MAY BE FATTENING.

M. A. writes:

1. Is whole wheat bread fattening?
2. How many calories does a pint of skim milk contain? Or two pieces of whole wheat bread?

REPLY:

1. Yes. If eaten in large quantities all breads are fattening.
2. A pint of skim milk supplies about 17 calories. An ounce of whole wheat bread, 140 calories. Weigh two slices as you cut them and find out what part of an ounce they weigh.

IT'S PERFECTLY SAFE.

Mrs. W. S. writes: My brother-in-law is in a sanitarium for tuberculosis. He is coming home for a while. I have invited his wife for dinner. Is it safe to invite him also? There are a few small children to be present, among them my own.

REPLY:

There should be no danger in so casual a contact. I am sure all parties will take proper precautions. Sanitarium patients are trained in making themselves safe for others.

DEPENDS ON YOUR AGE.

Constant Reader writes: 1. Is it possible for a person to gain in height? 2. Can medical treatment remedy shortness and if so up to what age?

REPLY.

1. For a person under 18 years of age it is. For an older one it is not.
2. No. Physical exercises that caused one to stand straight may increase the height a fraction of an inch.

DOCTOR BILLS.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. May a hospital or doctor collect part of my wages for their bills? 2. Can they charge interest on the money I owe them? I am married and have a baby. Earning $30 a week. R. H. S.

1. Yes, by appropriate court proceedings.
2. Yes, on proper facts.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ICE SKATING IN CHOPIN PARK.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—When will the Chopin park field be flooded for ice skating? F. E. G.

Upon investigation the board of commissioners find that the field at Chopin park was flooded on Friday, Jan. 3, and remained in that condition until it froze, several days later.

The reason it was not flooded earlier was because of the great amount of snow which had drifted on the field, during the heavy snowfall prior to that time.

WILLIAM J. HILL,
President Old Portage Park District.

MARRIAGE UNDER ASSUMED NAME.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In securing a marriage license one of the parties gave an assumed name which he has been using for several years. Will this make the marriage illegal? G. M.

No. But if the answer given amounts to a substantial deception of the county clerk, then the party would be subject to prosecution for perjury.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BUILDINGS MUST COME DOWN.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Can anything be done about three buildings at Root street and Princeton avenue which I have reported and which investigators sent out say are dangerous and that is all that is done about it. R. N.

Owner had been notified Nov. 22, 1929, to repair and put these buildings in good and safe condition or have same taken down. As no response has been had from the owner, this case will be sent to city prosecutor at once for prosecution.

CHRISTIAN P. PASCHEN,
Commissioner of Buildings.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Right Now We Seem to Be Waiting—

because congress hasn't done anything yet to make those people stop drinking; that is, those people who have heard that this country has been totally dry for ten years but who refuse to believe it. We don't know how congress is going to make them understand it, but that's congress' business, and they'll probably figure out some way. There didn't seem to be much in the papers yesterday but things about likker. Well, yes, there was a good deal about the floods. It seems some of the rivers are rising and the water is pouring over the levees and doing a lot of harm and flooding miles of country and driving people out of their homes. But the drys used to tell us that water never hurt anybody. They would put a glass of water on a table in front of us when they made speeches and they would point at it and say, "Water, water, water! Man's best friend. The one thing in all the world that never did mankind any injury." And now look at the water in the flooded districts! Washing away homes and everything for miles. And that's all water—not beer, or gin, or whisky—just water! And look at the trouble it's making. Which reminds us of what old Harry Benton used to say years ago. He was a tramp printer, and after he had borrowed enough money to buy a few drinks he would climb up on the imposing stone and say: "Beware of water! It rots your boots. What won't it do to your stomach!" Harry was quite a philosopher.

THOUGHT FOR 1930.

There are prongs that tear the flesh,
Like javelins that pierce the hearts of roses,
Ranging the wooded slopes in the green of spring,
To pasture where some crystal river flows.

Or like the barb sent whizzing from the bow
To dye with crimson drops the feathers of a bird
That only wished to sing, then falling through the leaves,
With glazed eyes closing, ere the song was heard.

Once I recall an unkind word let fall,
Bruised so a heart, no potion yet may heal,
Choking a song and darkening a whole life,
Rending the soul like well directed steel.

Who would not offer the full reward of time,
But to recall some hasty word once spoken,
That he might bind a wound, hold back the unbidden tear,
Or mend with love a heart in sorrow broken!

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

THE DAY OF MOURNING.

He had a large black eye. We met him in Rush street yesterday as we were en route to our daily toil. "How come?" sez we. He looked at us reproachfully through the half open black eye. "I am observing this great day properly," spake he. Then he went on to tell us that the day was the tenth anniversary of complete and entire prohibition in the land of the brave and the home of the free. That in some places the drys were ringing the glad church bells in celebration. But as a scofflaw he could not join in, and so he was wearing black. And he pointed to his black eye. And to make it more appropriate yet he had deliberately sought a speakeasy, where he felt assured that if he had enough hootch and mingled with the merry-makers he would get one of his eyes appropriately draped in mourning. "And you got what you went after," sez we. "Don't be silly," sez he; "look at my eye. And I only had two drinks. Service while you wait." And he drifted on down the icy stretches of Rush street.

AT THE REQUEST of Mister Thomas Atkins, who is too busy at the moment to attend to his correspondence, we wish to thank Master Otello Moore for his present of a fine rubber rat with a horrifying squeak. Otello is the large and ferocious dog eating Persian cat of M. Edouard Moore, the musical editor of our sprightly contemporary, the w. k. TRIBUNE. Mister Atkins was delighted by his pretty present, and, mistaking the rubber rat for a badger, killed the squeak in three minutes, ate the tail off in five more, and at the end of ten triumphantly swallowed the rest of it, after having torn it into convenient pieces for that purpose. Whereupon Mr. Atkins returned quietly to his duty of eating contributions to the Line which failed to stick to the ceiling.

AND STILL THE THING ISN'T SETTLED!

The Philippine representatives are in Washington demanding that the U. S. let their native land go free. The Perspiring Reporter of the Line interviewed five passers-by on the Boul Mich yesterday, asking them the simple, almost foolish question, "Should the United States keep the Philippines or give 'em the gate?" The answers were as follows—towit, namely: "I didn't know we owned the damn things." "What are a Philippines?" "I was never in Indiana and couldn't say." "We should sell the Philippines but keep Ireland and Australia." "If the U. S. owns the Philippines it must be a British trick and we should annex Canada at once."

"I DO NOT agree with you," wrote E. K. J., "so I kept the ten cents that I otherwise would have spent for a Linebook." All right, E. K. J., keep your old ten cents and see if we care. And we hope somebody steals one of your spats. We found a quarter yesterday, and that's two and a half times more than you were going to spend anyhow. So, ha, ha, we are laffing to you!

FUTILITY.

When light of dawn glistened
Within her heart,
She sang a sad song to the world,
But nobody listened.
But when twilight darkened
The world,
She sang a sad song to her heart,
And all the world harkened.

EOLUS.

LAGNIAPPE.

AND NOW what are we to expect! Tck! Tck! Tck! Dr. Olga Stasny says in Washington that if girls expect to have nice thin ankles they must learn to put their feet on the office desks like men do. And the Doc tells the gels they must see to it that they do it good and put their feet up higher than their heads. Oh, well, far be it from us to stand in the way of progress. We've moved our typewriter to a little table and left our desk free and we've swiped a couple of more chairs out of the city room and placed them right alongside of the desk, which is reasonably high. We're for the new idea, gels. Whenever you come to see us you can park your dogs away up on our desk without one dissenting voice.

THE WINTER DAYS they come and go, and poets write only of the snow. Sometimes these poets are meek and mild, but a snowstorm drives 'em simply wild. They grab their pens and rave and rave, and pour sonnets off in a tidal wave. But the poets, too, would probably balk, if they had to clean snow off the walk. R. H. L.

GOING TO TURN THE POOR THINGS LOOSE?

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Maj. Gen. Butler has arrived in town accompanied by his personal staff. He appears in citizen clothes, but is manifestly in a warlike frame of mind. His examination before the commission promises to be rich.

WASHINGTON.—A City Point dispatch says that Frank P. Blair returned to that place from Richmond and immediately left for Washington. The Richmond Dispatch announces that, after an interview between Jeff Davis and Blair, Davis placed a letter in the hands of Blair offering to send to Washington or to receive in Richmond commissioners to make an amicable settlement of the war.

CAIRO.—Deserters are continually arriving at Paducah and other points from Gen. Hood's rebel army. They report that portions of Gen. Forrest's command are busily engaged in conscripting to fill up Hood's depleted ranks. One said that he had left Hood's army the day before at Corinth, whence he probably moved southward.

NEW YORK.—It is expected that Gen. Warren soon will be assigned to command the Army of the James. The Tribune's Washington letter says that the rebels have commenced arming Negroes and that it is certainly known that there are five black regiments in Richmond.

CHICAGO.—John T. Harvey and Miss Emily J. Smith were married on Jan. 16 in the Church of the Holy Communion by the Rev. E. W. Hager. William Eden of Chicago and Miss Sarah Davis of Memphis were married on Jan. 15 in Chicago by the Rev. Bishop Whitehouse. Perry Yates of Chicago and Miss Harriet J. Tremper of Crystal Lake were married at the latter place on Jan. 10 by the Rev. Dr. Millard. Edward R. Knowlton of Joliet, Ill., and Miss Alice J. Wheeler, daughter of Charles Wheeler of Mattison, Ill., were married at Mattison on Jan. 11 by the Rev. J. George Cross.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Sanitary district trustees started for Lockport, the site of the drainage canal controlling works, at 1 o'clock this morning and it is expected that by 9 o'clock the gates will have been opened and the waters of Lake Michigan will be flowing down the Des Plaines valley to the Illinois, the Mississippi and the gulf.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—David G. Colson, former congressman and former colonel of the 4th Kentucky volunteer infantry, and Ethelbert Scott, nephew of former Gov. Bradley and formerly lieutenant in the 4th infantry, fought a pistol duel in the crowded lobby of the Capitol hotel with the result that Scott and two other men are dead and Colson and two other men wounded, one probably fatally. Colson and Scott had been deadly enemies ever since Scott shot Colson at Huntsville, Ala., after the muster out of the 4th infantry last February.

CHICAGO.—After holding office in the Union Stock Yards and Transit company since it was organized in 1864, John B. Sherman, the president, retires from the company today. The man most prominently mentioned as his successor is John A. Spoor.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1920.

CHICAGO.—John Barleycorn, who has been more or less interned by the war prohibition act since July 1 last year, is dead as a doornail. His official demise occurred at 12 o'clock this morning. The most marked event of his last day was the continued purchase of liquor for home consumption and its transfer to the homes. Auto trucks were at a premium.

PARIS.—What may be a step toward making peace with the bolsheviki was taken by the allied supreme council. The resolution adopted provides for the resumption of trade and commercial relations with Russians—Reds as well as Whites—if there are any of the latter left.

CHICAGO.—There are now more than 1,200 reported cases of "flu" in Chicago, and an estimated equal number not reported. Eighteen persons died of the disease during the last week. Yesterday 650 cases and ten deaths were reported.

RABBITS AND FARM RELIEF.

Genoa, Ill., Jan. 15.—I hope I will be allowed space to tell this sad tale, for perhaps a great many city folks do not know that thousands of farmers and their families have been saved from starvation the last few days by nothing more or less than the wild rabbit.

With Hoover's farm board going strong and corn selling at 65 cents per bushel at local elevators and prices of other farm produce in proportion the farmers have reason to be discouraged and they realize to shoot a female rabbit at this stage of the game means the same thing as taking a pot shot at the goose that laid the golden egg.

These farm folks say that President Hoover could live up to his promises and do a lot of good by uniting with Democrats and so-called sons of wild jackasses from backward states and enact a law that would make it unlawful to shoot a female rabbit until March 4, 1933. Penalty same as Jones law, and any rubberneck that sees a female rabbit shot or shot at and does not blab to the proper authorities shall be considered a felon within the eyes of the law and shall be subjected to the same penalty as the boob that does the shooting. Of course this would be a real farm relief bill that would give results and would not raise the cost of living in the east, so would not interfere with the promises of the Hoover farm board nor provoke a howl from greedy eastern senators and would also save poor bunny from going the way of the buffalo.

H. E. SMALL.

EQUITY.

Millington, Ill., Jan. 15.—Two million Chinese dead and 2,000,000 more dying of starvation, according to THE TRIBUNE, and our American farmer going broke because he is raising a surplus of foodstuffs.

Some ten years ago, do you remember, the farmer was prevailed upon to give a donation of corn to be sent to the Chinese to educate them in the use of our corn and thereby create a market for this surplus? I knew many farmers in this vicinity that donated corn for this cause.

Now we read in THE TRIBUNE that the taxpayers of this country have been taxed to donate $32,000,000,000 to the European countries because the officials of this government saw fit to relieve the wartime debtors of Uncle Sam of the accounts they owe us.

In the list of those debtor nations you do not see the name of China. Now, why not donate them, say, as much as the amount England got, which is listed as $2,000,000,000? Send them that much in foodstuffs, help them and make a market for some of this surplus that is so often mentioned. ROY W. SCOGGIN.

CHICAGO'S BOWDLER.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—If Philip Yarrow would only go a step farther in his excellent work and give us poor, befuddled booksellers a list of good, wholesome literature fit for the public to read it would be such a help!

I have taken everything off my shelves except the Elsie Dinsmore and Little Prudy books, but I am really not sure about the latter—a litter of puppies is mentioned. One just cannot get away from those nasty sex things, can one?

JULIA WILSON.

SEER.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 14.—Have you not missed entirely the point of Mr. Hoover's letter to Dr. Thompson? Your editorial of today takes the attitude that Mr. Hoover the engineer is not quite aware of being subject to criticism as Mr. Hoover the President.

It seems to many of us that Mr. Hoover is as capable as President as he was an engineer. And his letter to Dr. Thompson, for that matter, was not dealing with "criticism," but with "truth and untruth." No one is readier to receive just criticism than our President. What he handled in his letter to Dr. Thompson was the "making of mud pies." And of that some of our great newspapers have been extremely guilty. Criticism is one thing. Distortion of every piece of news that has any bearing upon prohibition is another thing. If newspapers ever face a curbing of what one might call free editorial writing and free news distortion, it will be the fault of no one but the newspapers themselves. I could have written this morning's editorial myself. Any one, with half the wit of the average schoolboy, could have done so. In fact, one could even now write some of your forthcoming editorials on the London conference.

You have a great newspaper, in many ways. But it can hardly be excelled in casting every headline into misleading phraseology. These instances are so numerous and so flagrant that the discerning are not misled even by a false attempt at pious writing, occasionally, when you express grave concern in editorial space about the church, her mission, her prestige and influence. Even though prohibition may prove to be wrong in principle, why fight it with falsehood and distortion?

REV. F. W. BACKEMEYER,
Minister, First Presbyterian Church.

CENOTAPH AND GRAVE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE shows the cenotaph in Whitehall, London. The caption states that it is the "grave" of the Unknown Soldier.

The real grave is in the center of the west end of the nave of Westminster abbey, amid the tombs of kings and queens and the illustrious dead of many ages, which is the last and greatest honor that the country can bestow. The inscription on the cenotaph in Whitehall states that it is to the "Glorious Dead of 1914-'18." The meaning of cenotaph is empty tomb. The center of a crowded street is no place for a tomb.

LONSDALE GREEN.

TESTIMONIAL.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 14.—I have traveled in every state in the Union and read the newspapers of every large city and many small ones, and I want to say that the editorials of THE TRIBUNE are the most fearless, truthful, and honest I have ever read. Your editorials on prohibition are the facts which no minister of the gospel, no business man, no tramp, or no prohibition officer dare deny in the face of truth. I can hear praise in every section of the country and thousands of people urge you not to retract from your campaign against bureaucratic and fanatical laws in this free country. HARVEY A. ROBERTS.

CUSTOM BUILT

By SIDNEY HERSCHEL SMALL

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thornton to marry him. She agrees but not very graciously. When she hears that he has just lost his job she scolds him and calls him a playboy. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him he will never inherit the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that since he has lost one job after another he will have to double five thousand dollars in thirty days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this to Barbara and she offers to give him five thousand to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells her he is going out to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Morgan who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying good-by in Utah John Andrew tells Anne that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

Arrived in San Francisco John Andrew meets an old school friend, Peter Merriam, at the depot. Pete is selling Mercury cars and tries to sell one to John Andrew. They go for a trial spin and with John Andrew at the wheel have a slight smashup. In order to keep Pete from losing his job John Andrew buys the custom built roadster for $4,980. He also gives all but a hundred dollars of his expense money to an old man with an operation without asking what the machine is. He drives to Los Angeles in the Mercury and sees Anne at the Consolidated studio where she is being tried out. He makes an appointment to take her to dinner. Before starting out he looks at the old man's plans and learns they are for a noiseless camera. He sells the patent rights to Consolidated for twenty-five thousand, the money to be turned over to him on the receipt of the invention of Blake, the inventor.

In the meantime the hotel people become suspicious of John Andrew and ask him for his bill. He decides to pawn some belongings. He receives a telegram from the inventor's attorney asking for five hundred additional or lose the contract. He decides to sell the Mercury. He offers it to an automobile agency for two thousand dollars. They make an investigation of John Andrew and he finds himself under arrest.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

JAIL.

There were two other men with John Andrew, solid fellows, and they all moved off toward the automobile entrance to the hotel.

John Andrew's head was very high, and he looked neither to the right nor to the left as, the two deputies behind him, he walked rapidly through the gay lobby of the hotel. He might have been going on location [as the hotels figured]; he was going to jail.

No scarlet and gilt poinsettias ornamented the walls where John Andrew now was; the only perfume in his nostrils was the penetrating odor of chloride of lime, which overwhelmed even the stench of unwashed bodies. Kellogg was in a cell in the central cell block; he had been booked, searched [everything except one handkerchief taken from him and sealed in an envelope], told that he would be questioned later, and then given a steel compartment along with a Mexican awaiting trial for manslaughter.

"Estoy sirv'endo aquí hace tres meses," the little Mexican muttered, looking up at Kellogg.

John Andrew, sitting on a stool, nodded; he would have been more distressed if he had known that the laborer was saying that he had already been in the jail three months. Since the Mexican seemed to be waiting for him to say something, Kellogg asked, "I expect the customary question is, 'How'd you get in?'"

"No Ingles," and a shrug, answered him; the brown man, however, deftly rolled two cigarets, and handed one to his new cellmate.

They lighted the brown paper tubes from the same match.

John Andrew wondered what the other was thinking, and that set his own thoughts working. First of all, as soon as possible, he must get permission to wire Craig, find out what was wrong at the bank, have it rectified, get out of jail, explain things to Anne, get the money for the Mercury, wire Blake in San Francisco, close the deal with the Consolidated for the soundless camera, get the money ——

It came to him that the first thing he had to do was to get out of jail. The overwhelming thought came to him; through some legal technicality, if Craig had stopped payment on the check, could he, Kellogg, still be held, tried, convicted, for the check he had given the Mercury people? [Not at any time, nor now, did John Andrew think that Craig might have been acting through anything save friendliness, even if payment had been stopped. He knew Craig, and loved him; the old attorney felt the same way toward him.] The first thing to do—the only thing to do right now—was to get out of jail somehow. To do that it was going to be necessary to wire Craig.

"Caracoles . . . en la que me he metido," the Mexican muttered.

Which fitted Kellogg's case perfectly: what a mess he was in himself.

The third hour passed even more slowly; John Andrew's thoughts began to find bitterness. Why had he ever tried to double the money? Why not have been content with a yearly dole—ten thousand a year, or fifty thousand, or whatever it was? Why not [bitterest of all] realize that he had seen Anne for the last time.

"Hey, Kellogg," he heard, "got a visitor f'r you, you c'n talk through the bars instead 'f coming out to the r'cept'n room."

John Andrew started, flushed, and, looking up miserably, saw another man standing beside the jailer, where, for a moment, he had hoped—feared—that Anne might be.

"Here's my card," the stranger said. "Pete here'll tell you I'm O. K."

The jailer nodded, and, his part played, went to the far wall of the cell block. John Andrew glanced at the man's card, and stood holding it between his fingers.

"You're in a hell of a mess," the attorney said. "But if you take my advice, we can get it fixed up." He looked fixedly at Kellogg, and added, "Wilson & Wilson know their stuff."

"Isn't there such a thing as getting out on bail?" Kellogg asked. "I want to send a wire, Mr. Wilson, and ——"

His name, the attorney said, was Thorne; he only worked for Wilson & Wilson. "You lissen to me," he went on in a husky, low voice; "we can get a good break. The D. A. himself says to me, 'Bill, you get this Kellogg to plead guilty, an' I'll fix it so he only does ninety days here. But if he goes to trial, we'll see that he gets fr'm one t' fourteen years, and tip th' prison board t' give him the limit.' So I says to th' D. A., 'You leave it to me, Big Boy; I'll talk with Kellogg an' I promise you he won't make no fuss'—now, how 'bout it?"

John Andrew, frowning, said, "I appreciate your trouble, Mr. Thorne, but I'm not guilty."

"Say, I'm your attorney, Kellogg, an' not th' jury! Y' passed the check, an' let me tell you th' jury in L. A. are death to paper hangers, believe me. I saw a boy just yesterday, an' he had a good attorney an' a good story, but they sent him up just the same. Can you raise five hundred?"

"I couldn't raise five dollars," Kellogg said. "But that's beside the point. I can clear this all up if I'm allowed to send a telegram."

"Not a chance," Thorne said. "Th' aut'mobile people're going to make an example out of you. Even if you make th' check good, they're going to go ahead an' prosecute. 'They want him sent up to the Big House,' th' D. A. told me, 'but if you say so, Bill, I'll see that he only gets three months here'—say Kellogg, you plead guilty, an' retain us as your attorneys, an' you'll never regret it."

"You can't put an innocent man in jail."

"The hell you can't," Thorne told him. "Say, they got over four thousand of 'em now up in the Hotel Holohan at San Q. an' all of 'em 're innocent, to hear 'em talk. You take our advice, bud, or you'll be making tracks t' keep the state's beans in, an' prob'ly get T. B. in th' Jute Mill—you plead guilty, or you'll be beaned to death, breakfast, dinner and supper, for about ten years."

"You're still missing one essential fact," John Andrew said soberly. "I'm not just talking when I say I'm innocent."

"I know, I know, but I'm your attorney, boy; all you got to do is to raise five hundred smacks before your ninety days're up, and it'll be eggs in y' coffee. Three months here are a cinch. Ten years up at the Point, and . . . say, you'll be an old man when you come out, bud. 'He's a decent fellar,' the D. A. tells me, 'you see if he won't lissen to reason, Bill, and ——'"

"I haven't seen the district attorney," said John Andrew.

"Of course, you haven't." Thorne said soothingly. "But the D. A. knows all about you; he gets a report as soon as a crook comes in. He says t' us ——"

"Can you get his, or some one's, permission for me to send a wire?"

"That's a pretty del'cate thing t' ask . . . th' authorities trust me here, an' I wouldn't want to violate their confidence by takin' out messages."

"If you are so close to the district attorney, surely you can get his permission?"

Thorne's broad face was in the light; John Andrew could almost see him think; when the attorney did say, "You give me th' name an' address of the feller you want t' get in touch with, buddy, and I'll 'tend to it f'r you. An' add about gettin' th' five hundred to us, see? And give me th' cash f'r th' wire." When he said that Kellogg looked him squarely in the face.

"You're a pretty fluent liar," said John Andrew.

"Then . . . you won't ——"

John Andrew returned to his stool. Since Thorne was still standing by the bars, Kellogg called, "I'd probably only get the ninety days anyhow. I don't believe you'd recognize the district attorney if you saw him."

Finally, "I'm down, you know, but I'm not out yet."

"No," Thorne sneered, "an' you won't be for a long time, neither."

GASOLINE ALLEY—DEEPER AND DEEPER

BYE LORA. SEE YOU IN CHURCH.
I THOUGHT YOU WERE GOING TO ASK MR. GLOSS TO COME IN. LORA.
I DID BUT HE HAD A LOT OF OTHER THINGS TO DO. HE'S AWFULLY BUSY YOU KNOW.
YOU MUST LET US MEET HIM BEFORE YOU SEE HIM ANY MORE. HE MAY BE AWFULLY NICE BUT HE IS A LOT OLDER THAN YOU ARE, ISN'T HE?
YES SOME, COUSIN PHYLLIS, BUT THE BOYS MY AGE ALL SEEM LIKE SUCH KIDS TO ME. HE ISN'T OLD, HE'S JUST GROWN UP.
I WONDER IF HE'D LIKE MY HAIR BETTER THIS WAY.

Offer $414,500 in 20 Minutes to Help Negroes

Provident Hospital Plans Pushed at Banquet.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Gifts totaling $414,500 in twenty-one minutes for the projected Negro hospital and medical teaching center in Chicago was the record made last evening at a quiet little dinner which Samuel Insull gave in the quiet little English room of the Blackstone hotel to thirty of his white and colored friends.

Less than a third of the three millions required for the launching of this great and direly needed benefaction now remains to be raised.

Gifts by the Rockefeller General Education board ($1,000,000), the Conrad Hubert estate of New York City ($500,000), and the Rosenwald foundation ($250,000) were made known last month.

Night before last a group of 25 colored business and professional men and 46 colored nurses at a quiet little dinner of their own raised $20,175.

Thus, sums totaling $2,184,675 have been pledged. The sum of $815,325 remains to be raised. It is expected that the end of next week will see most of that amount pledged.

Last night's top notcher at the Insull party was a gift of $100,000 by the Public Health institute, the foundation whose differences with the medical profession on the foundation's right to make its work known to suffering mankind recently made clamorous history. That gorgeous gift having been announced by Col. A. A. Sprague, and having been heartily applauded, Col. Sprague added in the manner of a happy afterthought these words.

"And, Mr. Insull, I was asked by Mr. R. T. Crane Jr., who couldn't be here tonight, to say that he would like to give $50,000."

Then Col. Sprague had another happy thought, saying "O, yes! And Mr. Max Epstein, who is in New York —that's the only reason he isn't here this evening—also asked me to present his subscription of $50,000."

Thereupon the host spoke in a small, casual tone, saying, "I'll give $50,000," and all the reporters had to peer, and crane, and ask, "Who said that? Louder, please."

Mr. Insull promptly became louder, as follows:

"Mr. Keeley"—addressing James Keeley, one of the vice presidents of the Pullman company—"perhaps you can tell us to what extent the Pullman company, to which the well being of our Negro fellow citizens must be a matter of real concern, will cooperate with this great project."

Mr. Keeley replied that he had high hopes, that conferences were in progress, and that the Pullman company would not be unmindful of the opportunity to aid a race with which it long had worked. Meanwhile, to show how much in earnest he personally was, he asked the recorders to put him down for $1,000.

And so the good, specific talk over the coffee cups purled along toward the evening's total of more than four hundred thousand dollars.

Jesse Binga, the colored banker, who began his Chicago career as a youth willing to do anything honest for a quarter, rose and made quite a little speech, pausing once to ask whether it were too much of a speech. "No! No! Go on!" said the white magnificoes. "Well," continued Mr. Binga, "this is a great cause. None knows better than I the need of hospital service for my race in Chicago and the need of educational opportunities for colored physicians. I know this so thoroughly and feel it so deeply that I'm going to give $5,000 if I have to take off my coat and get a new job in order to earn it." [Prolonged applause.]

Then it cost Willoughby Walling $5,500 to match dollars with the forty-six colored hospital nurses who on Wednesday night gave $5,500 to the fund. "I want to match every dollar they gave," said Mr. Walling, "because I think their deed was beautiful. It's real self-sacrifice!"

After Martin J. Insull had pledged $5,000 for himself and his wife, his brother, Samuel, said, "Mr. Insull also has suggested to me that $20,000 be pledged for the Middle West Utilities and its subsidiaries, and between us I think we can arrange it." Laughter, then, from the guests, who understood Brother Samuel's position in Middle West Utilities.

Besides those already mentioned the following pledges were announced:

Marshall Field III.	$15,000
Clarence W. Sills	10,000
Louis B. Kuppenheimer	10,000
Central Trust company and affiliated companies	10,000
Boetius Sullivan	10,000
Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild	6,000
Jacob M. Loeb	6,000
Samuel Insull Jr.	5,000
Mrs. Samuel Insull Sr.	5,000
Col. A. A. Sprague	5,000
Mr. and Mrs. James H. Becker	5,000
James Simpson	5,000
L. E. Myers	5,000
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred K. Stern	5,000
Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody	3,000
Frederick A. Ingalls	3,000
Edward E. Ayer	3,000
George E. Scott	2,500
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Meyer	2,500
Charles Piez	2,500
Bernard E. Sunny	2,500
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler	2,000
Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Schwab	2,000
Frank G. Logan	1,000
Rufus C. Dawes	1,000
Joseph B. King	1,000

The most costly gift of the evening was Samuel Insull's. For it cost him just $50,000 to win back the regard of the newspaper photographers—faithful, eager, mannerly young men ever willing to help good causes with their vivid publicity—who had come quietly into the English room to take pictures. They received permission from Mr. Insull's aids, and they were expediting their work when he shouted at them, "Well, hurry up! Don't spoil the dinner. Take 'em and get out!"

The guests looked their distress.

"Now, one more, gentlemen," said one of the photographers after the first picture had been taken.

"Yes, an' that'll mean a third!" snarled the host. "It's always the way."

You could have cut the shamed silence.

Later Jacob M. Loeb, one of the evening's donors, begged the photographer not to feel hurt by the sorry incident.

"I guess, Mr. Loeb," said Photographer John Steger, "that in view of Mr. Insull's gift of $50,000 for the good cause we can overlook his temper. Besides, we're used to it."

Hopes to Find Third Galley Recalling Roman Caesars

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Jan. 16.—The theory that there may be a third Roman galley lying at the bottom of Lake Nemi, advanced by Prof. Ugo Antonielli, who is in charge of the salvage work, has created considerable interest in archaeological circles in Rome. Several noted archaeologists, including Senator Corrado Ricci, however, are skeptical about the existence of a third galley.

An important find has just been made near the remains of the landing stage especially built by the Emporer Caligula to give access to galleys in the middle of the lake. This was a small Roman boat, having almost the identical technical construction and shape of a larger galley.

MORE SUPERVISION OF TEACHERS URGED BY U. OF C. EXPERT

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. William H. Burton of the University of Chicago, specialist in education administration, addressed members of the parent-teacher council of Cleveland Heights today. He declared teachers cannot be oversupervised.

"Modern supervision, if done correctly by competent people, cannot be overdone," he said. "Such supervision, impersonal and scientific, is stimulative and helpful. It comprises inspection, training of the teacher in service, guidance beyond ordinary range of service and careful research.

"There can be no question of the need for modern supervision in the school systems. In the state of Missouri there are 80 regularly certified teachers working at a salary of less than $400 a year. Only one teacher in five in America boasts of a normal school education.

"One-fourth of the country's teachers are not old enough to vote. More than 30,000 American teachers, teaching 1,000,000 children, never even graduated from the eighth grade. America has fewer trained teachers proportionately than any other country."

Grenfell Here; He's Doctor to All Labrador

With Hospitals 150 Miles from Each Other.

A smiling unassuming man on the upward side of sixty, known for his deeds among the fisher folk of Labrador, came to Chicago yesterday. He is Sir Wilfred Grenfell, whose work as a medical missionary for 37 years has won him recognition on both sides of the Atlantic.

Sir Wilfred was accompanied by Lady Grenfell, the former Miss Anna Elizabeth MacClanahan of Chicago. Tonight he will speak at Orchestra hall on "The Challenge of the Labrador," under the auspices of the Chicago chapter of the Grenfell Association of America. Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell are guests of the Francis R. Dickinsons, 1518 Astor street.

Sir Wilfred felt at home in the icy blast and snow that slapped at him here. But Chicago topics were not first on the visitor's mind. He thought of Grenfell mission and his 15,000 charges—descendants from old English and Scotch stock who eke out a living in the Labrador wastes. It is among them he has worked, doctoring them, teaching them, elevating them from the wretched conditions known there for generations.

"When I went there I was told the country wasn't any good. But now I have five hospitals, and coöperative stores and industries," he explained simply. "They're like this country's Kentucky mountain people. All they need is a chance."

Dr. Grenfell's hospitals are 150 miles apart along a 1,500 mile stretch of Labrador and North Newfoundland coasts. There are nursing stations, an orphanage, and two schools, and an industrial department which employes about 800 women and convalescent patients. And Labrador, according to Sir Wilfred, is beginning to be worth something.

In addition to honorary degrees in English, Canadian, and American colleges and universities Sir Wilfred was made a commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George in 1927 by King George. In 1928 he was chosen the fifth honorary knight for life of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table, and the same year was elected rector of St. Andrews university, Scotland.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Miss Helen Schmitt, 209 Pine street, Newton, Kas., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What place in Chicago is the most interesting to you?

The Answers.

Mrs. Cecelia Geake, 1711 Cleveland avenue, music teacher—The old Moody church, on La Salle street. I used to sing there in the choir and my husband also had the honor of being one of the preachers at that church. I belonged there for twenty-five years. That church has done a lot of good for Chicago.

Chester Brundage, 12 South Michigan avenue, contractor—There are so many of these. On the moment, probably the most interesting thing to me is the beauty of Chicago's skyline at night. Also the University of Chicago, especially its magnificent new chapel. The Chicago Temple spire, illuminated, is the most inspiring thing I ever saw.

Mrs. Mary Paulsen, 2440 Monroe street, housewife—Notre Dame church, because I feel more at home there than in any other place. I feel as much at home there as I do in my own home. But at best our homes are but temporary abodes. The church is like something of the other world in this world.

Edward Perlick, 2750 Fullerton avenue, clerk—The Field museum is about the most interesting place to me, because a trip through it takes one all over the world and back again. To travel is one of my life's ambitions, but in the meantime I can travel, as all of us can, through the Field museum.

Miss Catherine McGivern, 909 Argyle street, stenographer—I would say the entire lake front, Grant park in particular, and the Buckingham memorial fountain as the crowning ornament of it all. Any one who contemplates the monumental buildings going up on Wacker drive will have something to think about.

THEATER

BEING in possession of a mind and of the right to change it, Miss Pauline Frederick has changed her mind, and decided that, regardless of what was done by Miss Grace George and Miss Barrymore, she will appear Sunday through as many weeks as she may remain in Chicago.

Hesketh Pearson, on his way hither to act in "The Matriarch" with Miss Constance Collier, wrote a book named "Men and Mummers"; and yesterday the title appeared here as "Men and Manners."

Miss Cornelia Skinner's program for Sunday in the Selwyn made up of "Homework," "Night-Club," and "In a Gondola," which were not in last Sunday's bill, and "The Eve of Departure," "Monte Carlo," "The Lady Explorer," "Aftermath," and "Sailing-Time on the Olympic," which were.

Next week will be the last of "Tour du Monde" in the Goodman, where "The Field-God," by Paul Green, is now dated for the night of the 28th.

Next week's new plays in New York will be "Josef Süss," Ashley Dukes' dramatization of Feuchtwanger's "Power," and a piece called "The Challenge of Youth." . . . The former play is known in London, where it has been highly successful, as "Jew Süss."

"Dear Old England," a success in its Philadelphia try-out, will probably be the fifth play in the schedule of the Dramatic League of Chicago for the Princess Theater.

Alex. R. Carqueville to Wed Miss Flach, Former Movie Actress

Alexander R. Carqueville of Highland Park, director of the Union League club, and Miss Ellen Elsa Flach, former German moving picture actress, will be married at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Belden-Stratford hotel. There Miss Flach has been residing for the last year. Immediately after the ceremony the couple will leave on a two months' honeymoon trip to the South Sea islands. On their return will make their home at 176 Laurel avenue, Highland Park.

Miss Flach is the daughter of a leather goods manufacturer in Hanover, Germany, and for several years acted in German films. She came here a year ago to study the English language. She is 30 years old and Mr. Carqueville is 54. Until his retirement two years ago Mr. Carqueville was a partner in the lithographing firm of Rolland & Carqueville. He is a member of the Exmoor Country club and of the Chicago Athletic association. His first wife was Eva Jeffery, daughter of Thomas B. Jeffery,

Charities Ask Aid for Poor as Need Grows

Winter's Unusual Factors Are Cited.

An emergency appeal was issued yesterday in behalf of the city's needy who face hunger, misery and illness due to Chicago's labor and financial crisis. The plea came from the United Charities. Letters seeking aid from 25,000 more fortunate citizens were mailed last night.

Warren A. Lamson, president of the organization, said the "acute situation" was due to the condition of public finances, continued laying off of workers, severe weather and stock market deflation.

"Never before has such a mixture of factors simultaneously contributed to cause an emergency," Mr. Lamson said. "The condition of public finances resulting in both county and city making serious cuts in public social service and relief department budgets, has brought immediate increase in calls for service and relief from the United Charities.

"The continued laying off of workers by industries has caused a 20 per cent increase in the number of families seeking help from the United Charities in December compared with November. In November 2,552 families were aided. In December 3,067. The stock market deflation caused contributions from the public, for the support of the United Charities work, to fall short in November and December. Meanwhile the family needs increased. As a result the United Charities begins 1930 with an almost exhausted treasury."

Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, named the county's reduction of $150,000 in its budget for mothers' pensions, and the $150,000 reduction for outdoor relief to needy families, as the most serious in effect. Those reductions have cut off, he said, the source of supply of many who are now turning to the United Charities and other private agencies.

Some Jewish Charity Plans.

The Young Men's Jewish Charities of Chicago, which for 23 years has carried on boys' work in the city, will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at the Covenant club. More than 1,000 are expected to attend. The organization aponsors both the American Boys' commonwealth, 3048 Roosevelt road, and a summer camp at Camp Wooster, Round Lake, Ill. The work of the charities has been aided by the recent gift of $100,000 from the estate of the late Jacob M. Franks. That will be used to build a new clubhouse and more camp improvements. Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Temple Anshe Emet will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

D. A. R. Has Pageant of American Women's Dress

Feminine styles in America from the earliest times to the present era were modeled yesterday at the annual pageant of the Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Stevens hotel.

Wearing authentic costumes, 35 young women, directed by Mrs. P. L. Mathisen, started the pageant with a representation of the American Indian. Costumes of Puritan times, the colonial period, empire stage, hoop skirt era, and the Gibson girl followed.

Fifty dollars toward the reconstruction of George Washington's birthplace was turned over to Mrs. Thomas J. Dixon, president of the Chicago chapter, by the wheel and distaff branch of the chapter, which gave the pageant.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD.

As a Man Eats, So Is He, Food Expert States

Great Health Possible by Proper Diet.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The most famous of all gastronomists has been credited with the saying, "Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are." Since his day we have progressed in diagnosing the effects of diet. We do not have to be told. We can, some of us, look at a man and pretty nearly tell him what he eats, fundamentally. Almost anybody will look at an overstout man and tell him that he eats too much, but in one sense he may not be doing so, or he may. There is infinitely more than merely meets the untrained or casual eye in the results of eating.

It may be and often is a fact that the fat man does not necessarily eat too much as far as quantity is concerned—he, himself, believes that, anyway, in most cases, and will tell you so—but he does eat too much as far as quality is concerned. In other words, he eats too much of what are the wrong foods for a man of his temperament. He eats too much bread and cake and candy, because he has a special liking for them. Sometimes this is called a sweet tooth.

These foods are all on the fuel or energy order, and only the extremely active person and the small eater need to be on special guard in order to get enough of the energy and fuel foods. The man of fat making temperament by eating these foods in what are to him satisfactory quantities, may clog his body, his mind, and his disposition.

Eating as a Discipline.

Scientific eating imposes a great discipline easy enough to abide by when once acquired, but human beings are none too willing to be disciplined, even for their best good. However, they will accept discipline if they can see definitely enough a highly desirable goal, such a goal as the musician sees as he endlessly practices, and as Edison sees as he works. We who believe in the eating goal may rack our minds in vain as to how to make those who do not know it believe in it.

As for me—and I wish I had realized decades ago that a certain goal could be reached—I would like, even if I did not have other good reasons for being a disciplined eater, to eat in such a way as to be a pleasant ancient person—not nervous, fussy, helpless or intolerant, and without the hardening of the mental or emotional arteries. I wish I could show all the reasons why I believe this can be done.

At any rate, I believe that oldsters should make more of an effort than they do to convince impatient youth that it is worth while to work for a glorious old age, as glorious as the poet had in mind when he said: "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made." Of course, oldsters cannot do this if they are feeble, which is another reason for eating so that they will not be, and will be useful social agents.

Continuous Health.

For a long time, or ever since the positive advent of vitamins, I have believed that human beings could, through discipline—and barring accidents—eat so as to maintain health over long periods of time, without a break, yes, just by disciplined eating, avoid exhausting pain and any protracted illness through all the years of their lives.

Now, in addition I realize, with so much of my life spent—inevitably gone—that I have come to the place where I want to do more things, and I am equipped to do more things, enthusiastic to do more things, than ever in my life before, and I am looking at my human chemistry for encouragement.

And I am not the only oldster hoping to maintain pronounced vigor, as I have found out by expressing this fact about what I still hope to do to friends near my age, usually somewhat younger. Many of them, too, feel that they are just beginning to live.

No matter what our intelligence is, everything in the long run depends on how we eat, but it is a business to learn by continued effort.

Eating an Art.

We could collect here a thousand sayings to the effect that eating is an art. We could illustrate this by describing the behavior of one individual artist in the business, while it has been the description of gross eaters and gluttons and of diseased people who have given their major attention to eating that has often put eating into disrepute, and even made it seem a negligible business. Between these two extremes there are at least a hundred degrees. The higher degrees are nearer the art; the lower are near to the behavior of the beast.

But when we mention the beast we must acknowledge that we possess an animal life. It is what carries the rest of us through to our last breath. It is one of the higher objets of life: one of the nobler efforts, is that it shall not rule us. But it cannot merely be driven to give us good service. It must be led—gently, and persuasively, and intelligently.

But, O, how can one use up words and yet not bring out the very heart of this matter! Nevertheless, we have made an effort here to do so, and could only wish for a command of words persuasive enough to picture this high side of the eating business. The drudgery, the scullion work, the thankless work, in this eating business, are too ever present with us. Once upon a time people used to do more to present the romantic pictures of the procuring of foods, of the marvelous growing of foods, and many other aspects of this great business.

But preachers should know when to stop, and so I say I shall continue to discipline myself through eating so that, if possible, I may be a pleasant ancient person.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Winter Parsnip.

Most people look at the parsnip with a jaundiced eye, because they do not know roots, anyway, in culinary perfection. The fine cooking of roots is not a common accomplishment, yet the parsnip belongs to the same family as celery, with its almost excess of flavor, or at any rate of odor, to which also belongs the great seasoner, parsley.

The winter parsnip is usually a tender vegetable which can be cooked in a short time, has the virtue of being inexpensive, and contains in itself a seasoning element of great value—namely: sugar. This sugar, when caramelized by frying the parsnip or sautéing it, changes the character of the whole vegetable so much that people unaccustomed to believing it a delightful vegetable will vote for it as such.

One of the best ways I have of preparing parsnips for an excellent hot supper or luncheon dish, and a way I have talked about each year for some years, is the following: Wash and boil parsnips and then rub off the skin. Ten minutes' parboiling, then a cold rinse greatly shortens the boiling time for parsnips. When the parsnip is cooked tender slice lengthwise in exceedingly thin slices, not thicker than a knife.

Heat a tablespoon of butter, or more, according to the quantity needed in the frying pan and shake the thin slices—remember, they are the whole length of the vegetable—in this and cook to a light brown. Have ready a hot dish or platter—they seem grander on the platter—put them in it and keep them hot. Then make a sauce with the butter in the pan, adding an equal measure of flour and blending and cooking the two before adding enough hot milk or cream to make a sauce of thin consistency. A thin sauce is superior. When it is ready pour it over the hot parsnips in the hot platter and serve at once.

Slicing boiled parsnips in thin slices the long way of the root certainly makes them most attractive, whether they are to be sautéed and browned and served as a garnish with meat or whether they are to be served in a sauce or scalloped.

4,500 INDIANIANS ATTEND PURDUE FARMERS' MEET

All but 3 Counties in State Represented.

BY PAUL POTTER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—While student life on Purdue university campus settled down today to final examinations, every available assembly space was taxed to hold the lectures, meetings, and banquets of farmers and their wives, more than 4,500 with today's influx, at the annual big week of Indiana agriculture.

Challenged for sufficient space to hold these elderly scholars from all but three counties in the state, organized groups began today a drive which they say will be carried through Purdue's administration to the legislature for a new building to house agricultural administration on the campus, where 8,000 may be fed or seated for such meetings as this.

Distinguished Certificates.

David E. Ross, president of the university board of trustees, said that farmers have availed themselves of Purdue's adult education program better than any industrial group in Indiana. Four former Purdue students were awarded "distinguished certificates" this noon at the university's agricultural alumni association annual dinner at which E. S. Bayard, farm editor of Pittsburgh, gave the principal address. These men are Harry F. Caldwell, Fayette county; Wilson Chenoweth, Martin county; C. C. Palmer, Noble county, and Paul Mitchell, Tippecanoe county.

Fourteen selected Hoosier farmers are to be recognized at the closing banquet tomorrow night, when C. V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, Chicago, will name the Indiana master farmers for 1929.

The men honored are: John E. Webb, Marion county; Harry F. Caldwell, Wayne county; Newton Y. Yates, Knox county; Walter Crothers and Isaac McConnell, Noble county; William Stasburger, Benton county; John Lindemer, Lake county; Irving Lafuze, Union county; Harry Stamp, Putnam county; Sherman Trout, Montgomery; William Higgs, Franklin; B. A. Madill, Delaware; Robert J. Craig, Jefferson, and C. E. Moseley, Miami county.

Honor Four Farm Home Makers.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Because of their outstanding success as wives and mothers four Illinois women out of 32 nominated for the honor today were publicly recognized as master farm home makers in special ceremonies held in connection with the thirty-third annual farm and home week at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

They were Mrs. James Cox, Hudson; Mrs. Casper L. Mast, Quincy; Mrs. Walter C. Rogers, Covell, and Mrs. Harvey N. Moore, Carthage. Illness kept Mrs. Rogers away from the ceremonies, but she was represented by three members of her family.

Illinois now has 14 master farm home makers, this being the third year that a group of women has been selected for the distinction.

NAN BARCLAY SEEKS DIVORCE FROM ARTIST

Mrs. Nan Barclay, 14 West Elm street, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court against her husband, McClelland Barclay, wealthy, nationally known artist. The bill, drawn by Attorney George L. Schein, charges Barclay with illicit relationship with a woman named only as Mary Doe, said to be a model.

The Barclays were married March 11, 1916, in Washington, D. C. His wife was a popular Washington debutante. They came to Chicago and lived here until his business took him to New York. They separated last July 15, when she learned of his relationships with other women and refused to live with him, the bill states.

Mrs. Barclay estimates her husband's income at $100,000 a year. Attorney Schein said that Barclay has established a $100,000 trust fund to insure payments which courts might order.

15 PHYSICIANS VOLUNTEER AS AIDS TO KEGEL

Fifteen physicians were deputized yesterday by Health Commissioner Kegel as supervising health officers to aid the health department in controlling communicable diseases. The physicians volunteered their services until such time as the health department is given a full staff. The department's funds have been reduced in the city's financial crisis. The physicians are members of the Chicago Medical society's advisory committee to the health commissioner and represent the 4,500 physician members of the society.

The physicians were informed by Dr. Kegel that contagious diseases are increasing in the city and that, according to a survey completed yesterday by the department, there are 2,800 infected areas in the city.

"It is my belief," said Dr. Kegel, "that the diseases are being brought into Chicago from downstate regions."

How G. Washington's is prepared for your table
Made from the finest coffee beans, roasted, ground and percolated in glass containers, the moisture is then removed, leaving only coffee part of the coffee bean. All you need do is add hot water to have a perfect cup of coffee uniform and fresh.

"The new G. Washington's Coffee", says Lucy G. Allen, Principal, "is certainly a labor-saving product far more uniform in quality than the average 'coffee-pot Coffee'. In tests made by our staff covering an extended period of time, we found that there was no variation in strength or flavor... Everybody will appreciate the speed and ease with which it can be served, as well as the unvarying quality which is assured."

What a pleasure to know that you can rely upon the unvariable good flavor of G. Washington's, no matter what the occasion may be... This coffee, made "the new way", is remarkably convenient and economical as well as dependable. Simply add a level teaspoonful to a cup of hot water, and your favorite drink is prepared. It is the coffee that makes itself... The age of "good coffee today and poor coffee tomorrow" has passed. Pots and percolators, strainers and bothersome grounds are no longer necessary. Not with G. System Makes the Household Run Smoothly

Take Inventory, Buy in January.

BY SALLY LUNN.

The modern housewife who would systematize the workings of her realm of domestic activities will do well to note the habits of business concerns. One of these that she can emulate profitably is the custom of taking inventory during the first part of the year. January is the logical time for her to take stock of her household assets and liabilities because she can then take advantage of the sales that follow the storekeepers' checking up. Of course, there's nothing new in the idea of patronizing the January sales. Even our grandmothers did that, but we can be a little more analytical than we have reason to believe she was.

Grandmother's sphere of entertaining was more or less limited because of the lack of transportation and communication facilities that we now enjoy. Her sociabilities resolved themselves into a certain routine, whereas we have a wider range of determination as to when, how often, and in what manner we choose to entertain.

Parties at Intervals.

Many women who are socially busy plan their parties to take place at regular intervals. This scheme is more amenable to budgeting, as it is simpler and less taxing to the family exchequer than paying off one's obligations with fewer and larger affairs. One popular woman who incurs much social indebtedness because of her desirability as a guest and who is most careful about repaying such indebtedness, makes it a rule to give a dinner for six every Thursday evening during the winter. Naturally, this does not constitute all of her entertaining, but it goes a long way towards keeping her score even.

If you do not care to be as strict as this about your entertaining, you can at least formulate in your mind some idea of the number and kind of parties you will give in the future, and can replenish your store of tableware accordingly. If you do apply some forethought to the question of entertaining you will save yourself such qualms as "We simply must have the so-and-so's for dinner, but I don't know when I'm going to get it in." You will find that planning ahead and equipping yourself for such affairs as you plan to give will make a pleasure of a bugbear, and you will probably accomplish more than you have previously.

Leads to Wise Buying.

If you go about the business of taking stock rationally you will be less prone to fall victim to the enchanting things to be found in the stores, whether you need them or not. You will know before you set forth on your shopping tours exactly what you want, and will not purchase unwisely things that you will afterwards find you needed less than others.

A wise plan to follow would be to conduct a little savings campaign throughout the year so that when January comes around you will have a definite sum to expend for the new things you want.

I should advocate reserving a portion for the latter purpose even at the expense of the others, as there is nothing like new things to add zest and interest to the old ones.

A SYMPHONY IN BLACK AND WHITE

This table is set with some of the new wares that are so popular. A white damask cloth, black Wedgwood center adornments, heavy crystal candlesticks dripping with prisms, goblets with black glass stems, and black and white Wedgwood plates with classic design make up a symphony in black and white, with the yellow roses in the center the only touch of color relief.

1,000 REASONS FOR BOMB, ELLER INFORMS ROCHE

"There might have been a thousand reasons for the bombing of my home," said Morris Eller, city collector and leader of the political faction in the Twentieth ward that figured in a hundred indictments and several trials as a result of election violence and murder, in reply to questions regarding the blast early yesterday at his new home, 201 South Central avenue.

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, wasn't interested in the other 999 but he was seeking the one reason for the one bomb. He said he believed the motive was to be found in the rule of Eller and his son, Emanuel, a former judge, of the market privileges on Maxwell street, but the Ellers gave him no help on that theory.

"Numerous complaints have been made regarding Eller's favoritism in disposing of space on Maxwell street," Roche said. "Morris Eller has always had the appointment of the city market master and thus he had political domination of hucksters."

Eller's home at 1301 South Peoria street has been bombed before, and when he moved west to 5552 Congress street, although retaining his voting address in the Twentieth ward, his home there was bombed and the home of his son-in-law, Israel Warshawsky, was also bombed.

RAILWAY SEEKS TO PREVENT CUT BY BARGE LINES

Southern Opposed to River Service.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Railroad opposition to establishment of rail and barge routes at rates 20 per cent under all-rail rates came out in the open today with the filing by the Southern Railway system with the interstate commerce commission of a protest against approval of a proposed barge line service on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

The Southern asked the commission to deny the application of the Mississippi Valley Barge Line company seeking approval of a barge service on the Mississippi and its tributary between Cincinnati and New Orleans and intermediate ports and the establishment of rail-and-barge routes and rates.

Only Additional Line.

"The proposed water line would open up no new territory, but would simply be an additional line in a section now more than adequately served by various carriers," said the Southern. "It would depend entirely for traffic upon tonnage which it could take away from existing lines."

The rate of return of railroads in the southern group declined from 4.14 per cent in 1928 to 4.07 per cent in the first eleven months of 1929, asserted the Southern in support of its contention that the rail lines should not be compelled to give up traffic to a competing barge line.

Confer on Waterway.

Further conferences on proposed legislation for completion of the Illinois state waterway project by the federal government took place today. Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom of Illinois conferred with President Hoover and later talked with Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Brig. Gen. Herbert Deakyne, assistant chief of engineers.

Mr. Carlstrom left tonight for Illinois after being assured that legal questions relative to the matter would be adjusted satisfactorily. It is believed that it will be possible to carry out the project without requiring a referendum vote as is necessary under the constitution of Illinois in case title to property were to be transferred by the state to the federal government.

Mr. Carlstrom may return to Washington next week for further conferences in advance of the submission of the engineers' report on the Illinois project to congress.

Before leaving the city, Mr. Carlstrom went over the situation with Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.].

Senator Deneen was named today as a member of a subcommittee of the senate committee on commerce, which will consider all flood control legislation.

CONGRESSMEN STUDY TWO BILLS TO REDUCE IMMIGRATION MORE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A study of the needs for further restriction of immigration into the United States was begun today by the house immigration committee as it opened hearings on two bills to limit entry of aliens from countries of the western hemisphere.

The two measures, introduced by Chairman Johnson of the committee and Representative Box [Dem., Tex]. Although widely at variance in the methods they propose, have as their common goal the restriction of such immigration to an annual maximum of approximately 50,000.

Meanwhile Representative Bacon [Rep., N. Y.] proposed legislation to cut to 2,500 the number of Mexicans who could come into this country annually.

Still another immigration bill, although not applicable to the western hemisphere question, was introduced by Representative Welch [Rep., Cal.], who proposed to stop all Philippine immigration by classifying Filipinos as orientals.

Peter Charles Diem Modernist Exhibits at Johnson Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of recent paintings by Peter Charles Diem opened Wednesday in the Chester Johnson galleries in the Fine Arts building. Peter Diem was born in Stuttgart in 1890. He studied in Germany, France, and Italy, and has exhibited in Berlin, Vienna, Zurich, and other European centers. His pictures are in various museums in Germany. Just now he is a resident of Chicago and he has exhibited at the Art institute. He went through the war and suffered various injuries. He is a modernist of the moderns and his exhibition is startlingly interesting and arresting.

There is an exhibition of California landscapes and undersea paintings by Tilden Wakin in the J. W. Young Art gallery. The paintings of the redwood forests are particularly fine. A quality of softness is something of a drawback in an age that is looking for sharp, clear cut, and unsentimental records, and this infrequently mars the artist's effects. Figures occasionally impinge upon the grandeur of Mr. Dakin's forest glades, but when he handles nature alone, the woods and mountain streams, or the high peaks and clear lakes, then we get him at his best and strongest and can find a number of qualities in his canvas to admire.

An exhibition of paintings by Bessie Lasky is announced by the Knoedler gallery, to begin on Jan. 25. Mrs. Lasky is the wife of Jesse Lasky, film magnate.

At the Kroch gallery there opened on Wednesday an exhibit of portraits by Baron Szankowski. There are eight canvases, all of members of the Charles Morse family of Chicago. Mr. Morse, his sons and daughters and three adorable grandchildren are all presented to us. Mr. Morse met the artist abroad and invited him to Chicago to fill this commission.

The portraits of the adult members of the family are distinctive and distinguished work. Baron Szankowski has a flair for the dramatic and the portraits are strongly painted, the figures set boldly against an effective background. In the portraits of the grandchildren the artist deals in more subtle and softer tones. They remind one of Raphael's angels or Murillo's lovely children. They are exquisite, and fascinating, and very lovely, whether one takes them for portraits or, not knowing the children, for just paintings.

Allen Buchanan, aids to the President.

Lady Isabella Howard, wife of the British ambassador, headed the receiving line this afternoon at the reception and tea given by the board of governors of the National Woman's Country club, opening the clubhouse on Bradley lane. Others in the line, members of the board of governors, were Mrs. William E. Borah, Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. Henry Price Wright, Mrs. Virginia White Speel, Mrs. E. M. Cummings of Detroit. Mrs. Borah is chairman of the board of governors. Mrs. James E. Hughes, formerly of Springfield, Ill., is chairman of the executive committee.

Ruth Hanna McCormick has returned to her home in Illinois. Mrs. McCormick is on the club's board of governors. She sent a telegram.

New Catholic Hospital Will Be Opened on Sunday

In a cablegram received yesterday by the sisters of the Little Company of Mary at 4130 Indiana avenue, Pope Pius XI. sent his blessing to their new hospital at 95th street and California avenue, which is to be opened Sunday. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil will bless the hospital, which contains 150 beds. Future plans provide for another similar unit, with a smaller building to house a convent and chapel between the two. The order has a site that covers ten acres.

Dr. Fleming Takes Gotham Pulpit; Quits Bishop Contest Here?

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick S. Fleming, former rector of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement here, and now the rector of St. Stephen's church, Providence, R. I., has accepted the call as vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession, New York. He will succeed the Very Rev. Dr. Milo H. Gates, who was installed two weeks ago as dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in that city.

Dr. Fleming's acceptance of the well known New York church came as a great surprise to Chicago clergy, due to the late development of his candidacy for election as bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Chicago. That election is to be held in the February election is to be held in February. The esteem in which Dr. Fleming is held in Chicago leads some local observers to view his quick acceptance of the New York appointment as a voluntary relinquishment of his Chicago candidacy.

During the last few days a substantial group of advanced Chicago churchmen had reëstablished Dr. Fleming's name at the forefront as a possible majority candidate, if the laity should fail to confirm the election of Suffragan Bishop Sheldon M. Griswold by the clergy. It has been predicted by some persons that the clergy will elect Bishop Griswold on the first ballot, if at all. Otherwise it was believed by advanced churchmen that the clerical voting might turn toward Dr. Fleming, whose candidacy was said to find more favor among the laity than Bishop Griswold's.

It is felt by a large group that strength has developed the candidacies of the Rev. Dr. George H. Thomas of St. Paul's church, Kenwood, and of the Very Rev. Duncan H. Browne of St. James' cathedral, during the last few days. It is believed by some that Bishop Griswold's clerical strength has been enhanced by Dr. Fleming's action. Others believe it has aided the chances of Dr. George Craig Stewart of Evanston.

The Chapel of the Intercession, to which Dr. Fleming has been elected, is the largest of a series of churches mothered by Trinity parish at the head of Wall street on Broadway, that chapel having nearly 4,000 members and being located on Broadway at 155th street. Dr. Fleming holds the honor of declining two bishoprics—Olympia and northern Indiana—within a week.

Chicago Professor Gets Greeting from Heidelberg

Congratulatory messages from the University of Heidelberg and from Baron von Prittwitz-Gaffron, German ambassador to the United States, were received yesterday by Dr. George O. Curme, professor of German philology at Northwestern university, on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. Dr. Curme, a member of the Northwestern faculty since 1896, is the author of German and English grammars widely used in American universities. He holds an honorary degree from the University of Heidelberg.

Chicagoans, Who Admire Franklin's Work, Celebrate

The Benjamin Franklins, a group of 100 Chicagoans named after that American statesman, today will observe the 224th anniversary of his birth with a luncheon at the Union League club. Bishop Benjamin Franklin Ivins of Milwaukee, historian and an authority on Franklin, will be the principal speaker. Following the luncheon the society will lay a wreath at the foot of the Franklin statue in Lincoln park.

Lake Forest's Society Turns to Winter Sports

BY THALIA ——.

If the weather ever stays cold long enough, there will be lots of plain and fancy skating done on the Winter club's fine rink in Lake Forest.

So far this winter, though, the freezing spells have been too brief to more than get the ice in proper condition before a thaw set in and spoiled everything. The Lake Foresters, it seems, are great advocates of skating. Many of them are taking instruction, not only in the simple rudiments of staying upright without turning of the ankles, but also in the more subtle intricacies.

The Thursday evening suppers with skating afterwards already have begun, and the children are out every afternoon that the weather allows. There was a program planned for New Year's day, but the ice melted.

There will be a carnival in several weeks when "perfect ice" is fairly assured so that plans can be made. Donald B. Douglas is chairman of the ice committee, but probably won't be able to indulge in any fancy skating because of a wrist injury that he got during the hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Newton Perry are to give a dinner dance this evening for Miss Dorothy Ranney.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miner Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Whiting are to give a dance this evening at the Arts club.

Col. and Mrs. Hanford MacNider are to entertain a party of Chicago friends at a housewarming this weekend at their new 8,000 acre Indian Head farm near Mason City, Ia. The group, which is to include Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan, Mr. and Mrs. John Matz, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hooper, the Peter Connors, Miss Jubanne Doane, Mrs. Columbus Healy, Scott Linn, and Ferron MacMahon, leaves tonight on a special car and will return on Sunday evening.

Miss Madeleine Loomis of New York City, who is the chief authority in this country on the Braille system for the blind, will be the luncheon guest of Miss Agnes Foreman at the Arts club tomorrow.

Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger has taken Lady Williams-Taylor's bungalow, "The Wave," on Hog island, off Nassau, in the Bahamas for the season. She chartered a special plane to fly there from Miami. The John M. Hutchinses are also at Nassau for a winter sojourn, at the New Colonial hotel.

Society was represented last night in what was purported to be the largest audience to ever witness an ice hockey match in North America. Fashionable fans of the exciting sport were discernible all through the box circle at the Chicago Stadium, where the Chicago Blackhawks and the Boston Bruins had such a fast fracas. They included Col. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Blackhawks; Mrs. McLaughlin, wearing a trig brown sports outfit; the Philip D. Armours, Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Miss Harriet McLaughlin, Miss Edith Cummings, the Russell Kelleys, Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, Mrs. Vincent Healy, the Sidney Strotzes, the Paul Walkers, the Tommy Wheelocks, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sudler, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Welles.

ENGAGED

[Bernie Photo.]

Mrs. James D. Neilson of Evanston has announced the engagement of her daughter, Margaret Alice, to John Leonard Fix, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fix of Wilmington. Miss Neilson attended the Art institute of Chicago and the Academy of Fine Arts in Evanston. Mr. Fix is a graduate of the University of Illinois and a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Concert of Indian Music Will Be Given Tomorrow

American Indian music and costumes will be a feature tomorrow morning in Orchestra hall for school children who attend at 9:30 o'clock and a second at 11:15, the opening of the "Hearing America First" concerts. After each of tomorrow's concerts Indians will meet the children in the foyer.

At the instance of Dr. J. Lewis Browne, its musical director, the board of education is approving the concerts that are under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer. Two concerts will be given on each of six alternating Saturday mornings.

The music of the American Negro, the mountaineer, the cowboy, and of Washington's and Lincoln's time, and the compositions of Edward MacDowell, outstanding American composer, are to be presented in the series.

There is a small charge for admission.

Favors Teaching Children About Beauties of Garden

An educational campaign to teach children the beauties of the old-fashioned home surrounded by flowers was advocated yesterday by John R. MacGregor of the Chicago Association of Commerce in an address before the Illinois State Nurserymen's association at the Sherman hotel. Mr. MacGregor said such a campaign would produce better citizens. William H. Craig, Boston garden authority, will address the association today.

Society Attends Opera 'Conchita'

A capacity audience heard "Conchita," a last minute substitution for "Tannhäuser," at the Civic Opera house last night. Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick had as her guests her daughter, Miss Eleanor McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Field and A. J. Pack. Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet and Ove Vett.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's guests included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Maher, and Edwin D. Krenn. Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Wanner and Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fitzmorris were with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn. With Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart were Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Cresap and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. David Owen had with them Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Templeton and Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Tullis. Mrs. Waller Borden was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Blair, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, Robert Eskridge, and Herman Waldeck.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stibolt, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Covington and Dr. Lynn Rogers were with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welles were hosts in the John W. Scott box to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bronson, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harris, and Waldo Allen.

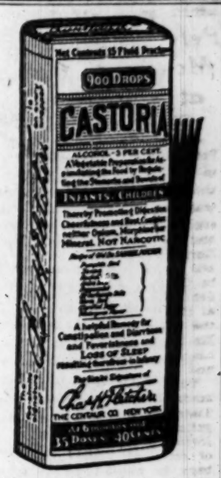
Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell were with Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham. Mrs. George B. Dryden was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dawson, Mrs. Ernest Palmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Merrick. With Mr. and Mrs. George Ives Haight were their daughter, Valerie Haight, and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin H. Faithchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Winterbotham. The Henry J. Patten box was occupied by a group including Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, and Dr. and Mrs. William Allen Pusey.

To Discuss Man Power.

"Man Power" will be discussed from three divergent points of view at the midwinter meeting of the Economics club at the Blackstone hotel next Tuesday evening. The speakers will be Magnus W. Alexander of New York, president of the national industrial conference board; Louis B. Hopkins of Crawfordsville, Ind., president of Wabash college, and the Rev. George Craig Stewart of Evanston, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

When Babies CRY



Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

That Beautiful Playroom Is Always Neglected

A booklet by Mrs. Bevans on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them" will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

You've heard it, I'm sure. Or if you haven't heard it you've had the experience, yourself. It is described in some such way as this:

"We have fitted up one room in the house as a playroom and it is really lovely. It has everything in it a child could wish for, but my little girl of not quite 3 simply will not stay there and play. Do you think I should insist? She wants to be around me and bring her things to where I happen to be."

They do, at that age. There's no fun in playing quietly all by yourself like that, off in another part of the house, when you're little.

You want people and you like your mother. She's always been around. You need companionship, anyhow. Not some one who's talking all the time, necessarily. Maybe you'll be as quiet as the proverbial mouse, playing away by yourself, for a long, long time. But you like to have your mother nearby where you can hear her moving around, or giving the order to the grocer, or telephoning. Or perhaps you like to have her see the long winding road you're making with your blocks, or the load you've piled on your wagon. It's so chummy to do things where there are people, even if you don't pay much atention to them. And besides, if you feel like talking and talking and talking as you often do, all of a sudden, you don't want to be stuck off all by yourself, some where.

Another thing, you may want to play butcher's order boy, with that old cap of Daddy's, and write down your mother's list for the butcher and then deliver it in your basket. In fact, all kinds of interesting things may happen, and thoughts may come to you that you want to talk about or ask questions about, and if you're way off in a quiet room you can't do it. And mother is rather nice to be with—she's really quite a lot of fun.

When you're older you'll like to take the girls and boys in your room and talk and show them your things and play big boy and big girl way—but no playroom for you all by yourself when you're 3. No, sir! not if you can help it, and you can certainly help it if you're persistent enough!

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Clarence, the paper boy, who sells newspapers in our office each evening, is not to be kidded about charging papers to the account of his customers. The girls in the office often tell him they have only two cents and will give him the extra penny the next day.

The boss, not always in the office, took it upon himself to kid Clarence. "I want a paper," he said, "but I haven't the money. You'll have to charge it until tomorrow."

Clarence chose not to trust the boss, who further persuaded him, saying, "You're around every evening. I'll give you the three cents tomorrow."

"Yeah!" exclaimed Clarence, "I'm around every day; but you're not."

A. E. I.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

In the Wrong Direction.

My most embarrassing moment occurred about six weeks ago. Crossing the street, I saw my street car waiting. I ran around to the back, and, starting to get on, found a very stout lady with her arms full of bundles on the first step of the car. Feeling very helpful, I took her elbow and tried to assist her on. She would not move. I exerted more force, and was just about to lean against her to get her on when she half turned and said:

"Young man, I appreciate your efforts, but I'm not trying to get on this car. Im trying to get off!"

Dance Frocks Show Long, Even Hemlines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —Even the men have discovered that there is something new in fashions. The total eclipse of legs on the dance floor and the numerousness of curves about the waist line have registered on their clothes blind minds. The registration appears to be favorable, for the new silhouettes for dancing do add to the grace of the ladies, and they certainly make it easy to move around with agility as well. Robes de style, which were the forerunners of longer dancing dresses, have gone back to the picture books whence they came and passed out of the smart picture. The new lines are as slender as they are long, and they leave quite as much space on a packed floor as did those straight chemises we used to wear. They also, as afore affirmed, demonstrate that the feminine silhouette is a curved one.

Paris likes the skirt of the dance dress uniformly long all around. Nothing dippy or zigzaggy about the hem line, but the skirt right down to the ankles or insteps, just high enough to prevent any chance of disaster from the feet of uncertain steppers. This is for the past debutante. The young 'uns can wear them shorter if they like.

As to color, Paris likes nothing so well as white. There haven't been so many white dancing dresses worn in smart society here for ages and ages. Violet and fuschia are colors that are adopted by some sophisticates. Black is supremely chic, but less seen for dancing dresses than elsewhere.

Princess lines are the most popular dancing silhouette lines. Princess with some modification, that is. The newest Paris dance dresses show the fitted princess silhouette modified, like the white marquisette dress in our sketch, by a bolero. That makes it easier to wear.

The body of this Lenief frock is shirred and the skirt is a series of circular panels set on at the high waist line on the right side and descending to a low hip line position on the left side. These panels are floating and placed over a plain foundation skirt.

Mother, as Family Cook, Deserves a Day Off Now 'n' Then

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How many mothers throughout this broad land of ours can sympathize with "Worn Out Mary"! She is 52 years of age and the mother of two married daughters with children.

Every Sunday the daughters, their husbands and their respective broods of children come camping on the old homestead lot. Only it isn't an old homestead. It's a small house. And the visitors don't camp. They come to be fed in the style to which mother's cooking has accustomed them.

After five years of it now, mother is just about ready to rebel. She is tired out, catering, and the expense is heavy. She and her husband are not getting younger and while the subject of food expense goes against her hospitable grain, still it is something serious to reckon with in these days of high cost food.

"I wonder, sometimes, why my girls never think to invite me and my husband to their homes for a Sunday dinner and evening meal. They never do. Perhaps I am begining too late now to complain and I don't suppose I would if my health were as good as it used to be.

"If the larder is not well stocked, they don't even mind complaining. They do it lightly, of course. Nevertheless, they are disappointed if there isn't a hearty meal on hand."

I suppose it is sheer thoughtlessness on the part of married daughters and sons who plan their week-ends at mother's expense in actual cost and labor. But what the thoughtless ones need more than anything else is a good Sunday jolt. Let them come over one Sunday and find that the good, old reliable provider has decamped for the day, leaving no forwarding address.

If explanations seem forthcoming, simply let mother say she and dad decided to take a Sunday off, for a change. If one treatment does not work, try a second absence, or a third. Maybe they'll say that mother is getting queer, lately. Let them say it. Be queer—at least until the idea is put across that the family cook is due for a day off, now and then.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be Patient.

"Dear Miss Blake: My parents do not want me to go with the boy I love. Please advise me. JENNIE."

I don't think your parents would ask you to give him up without a very good reason. Your love for the young man may blind you to his shortcomings.

Bad News, Sisters! Uncle Sam Says 34, Not 36, Is Ideal Size

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Did you note in the papers how Uncle Sam, that tall, reserved, eminently respectable uncle of ours with the 'andsome Van Dye, put one over on the girl-glorifying Mr. Ziegfeld, Mr. Scandals' creators and the Mr. Revues' promoters?

Yes ma-a-am, Uncle Sam's good eye, or mebbe the t'other one, has not been tight glued to international conference reports nor to the business of the tariff. It's been a-wandering. And over the girls, believe it or not. "And why not," queries the good citizen at our elbow. "He ain't your AUNT Sammy, you know. He's a boy!"

And WHAT a boy to think up the alibi he had on tap for looking the girls over! If some of his bright sons, now, could think up a good one like that. Well, it seems that the bureau of standards had to find some basis of standardization for dress patterns. What could be sweeter than the female silhouettes. Anyway, that's Uncle Sam's story. And the bureau did call in representative manufacturers and merchants, thereby putting a quite righteous face on the recent survey of the form divine, as it is called outside of reducing camps.

And WHAT, my full-blown 38 size sisters, do you think they put the ideal figure at? At THIRTY-FOUR! Can you bear it? Thirty-four bustline, 28 inch waistline and hips 37, hot off the tape! The hip measure, it should be explained, was reached at seven inches below the waist line, in case you want to check up.

Another epitaph to be prepared for the good old days when—

When we could cast a covetous eye on a thirty-six model and by foregoing the fleshplates for a week, manage even to wiggle into one of them. But THIRTY-FOUR is further than Tipperary in its long, long way from size 38.

We big 'uns may extract our small grain of comfort from the ample thirty-two inch waist line and the forty-one inch hipline the bureau of standard permits us to enjoy along with the 38 grading. Or, if that doesn't put us to sleep, we can, on the suggestion of an esteemed editorial columnist, think of Abraham Lincoln's mother. She wasn't any half-pint size. Neither, according to the same authority was Bertha, the big-girl mother of Charlemagne.

If we can't be beautiful cloak models, we can't be beautiful cloak models. Neither, I guess, can we be Abraham Lincoln's mamma nor Charlemagne's.

Indeed, altogether, it looks like a bad night at sea for us 38 size sailors!

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This lovely frock is just the thing to wear for bridge, the restaurant, and Sunday night occasions. Shirring at the center front waistline molds the line through the hips by adding a slight draping that breaks the long straight line. The low placed circular tiers take an upward line at the front with two loose hanging panels at the center front. The tiers in the back take a downward line, to correspond with the cape at the back of a slightly dipped neckline. The cape collar at the front is knotted in scarf effect. Coarse net in black, black crêpe satin and blue chiffon are interesting suggestions.

The pattern, No. 3149, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 5 yards of 39 inch material.

EAST CHICAGO RUM CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

Attorneys Rap Evidence of Two Convicts.

All yesterday a patient jury in federal court at Hammond listened to fiery and cajoling oratory in the closing arguments of the trial of Mayor Hale, Chief of Police Regan and eighteen other defendants of East Chicago, charged with rum conspiracy. At 6:15 o'clock last evening the jury, offered the choice of continuing far into the night and closing the case, or of returning today, chose the latter.

This morning special Assistant Attorney General Earl J. Davis will give the final summary for the government, Judge Slick will read his instructions and the jury will retire for their deliberations, probably about noon. Court fans predict a "quick verdict."

Courtroom Is Crowded.

Ten defense attorneys gave brief addresses to the jury in behalf of thirteen of the defendants during the afternoon session, in an attempt to disprove the charges pounded home against their clients by United States Attorney Oliver Loomis, who argued the entire morning. But the final plea for Raleigh P. Hale, East Chicago's mayor, and James Regan, police chief, came at the close of the day from the lips of Attorney Timothy Galvin of Hammond. In anticipation of it, fresh crowds filed into the courtroom in the afternoon and by the time Galvin took the floor at 4:40 p. m., every seat was taken and standing room was at a premium.

Mayor Hale is a practicing physician and was recently reëlected despite his arrest last August and the indictment returned against him at South Bend in October.

Regan was a Chicago police sergeant until he was brought to head the East Chicago force in 1926. Both, according to government evidence, have accepted booze bribes and otherwise contributed to the success of a liquor syndicate that ruled the town, allegedly, for the last three or four years.

But the pair became heroes, striving to run a clean city in the face of tremendous odds, in Galvin's words.

"Mayor Hale and his puny police force of sixty-four men worked valiantly to enforce a difficult law in a community of 65,000, made up, for a large part, of foreign born peoples who had been drinking beer and wines in their native land all their lives.

"Of course," he said, "there were liquor violations, but the police, under Chief Regan, battled against them. In proof of that we offer the fact that of the thousands of liquor search warrants issued there since 1926 but three were asked for by the government. The police were responsible for all the rest."

Attacks Convict Evidence.

Referring to Nich Marovich and John Burhop, star prosecution witnesses and both under prison sentences, Galvin shouted, "why, if this town was so wide open, didn't the decent citizens come in and testify against their mayor and their chief? If this conspiracy existed, as is claimed, the righteous folk would storm these courtroom doors to offer the truth."

Burhop, the mayor's nephew, testified that he had collected $600 from bootleggers and given it to Hale. Galvin referred to his testimony as unworthy of belief and charged that Burhop's mother is now the wife of Dr. A. G. Schliecker of East Chicago, Hale's bitterest political enemy. Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Schliecker are sisters.

At the beginning of yesterday's session, Judge Slick sustained a motion granting a directed verdict for Attorney Lester Ottenheimer of East Chicago, who was charged with having taken a mortgage on two Greek bootleggers' property for a fee and of telling them he could fix their case. He will be released by the court's instructions.

SAYS RICH MATE WANTED TO LIVE WITH 2 WOMEN

Mrs. Lewis Luckenbach Seeking Divorce.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The marriage of a Long Island yachtsman and a wealthy shipman's daughter went on the rocks today and added a new angle to the "eternal triangle." While Lewis Luckenbach, vice president of the Luckenbach Steamship lines and master of the yacht Mana, was supposedly basking in the sun on his Florida island estate, his socially prominent wife, Lillian Lundbeck Luckenbach, was telling of high jinks at their Sands Point (L. I.) home while she was absent.

Mrs. Luckenbach, who is the daughter of G. Hilmer Lundbeck, director general of the Swedish-American Steamship company, filed a petition for divorce in Supreme court here, and revealed for the first time that Luckenbach had fled to Florida with their 9 year old son and Della Louise Stone." Miss Stone, at times referred to as "Aunt Della," is named as co-respondent in the divorce action.

Fled to Florida, She Says.

Luckenbach ran away to Florida, his wife says, because he feared arrest under an order signed Dec. 23 by Supreme Court Justice Richard H. Mitchell, who desired to put him under $25,000 bond in the divorce action. Mrs. Luckenbach will seek $50,000 a year alimony.

The new twist to the triangle is outlined in the complaint. After she had trapped Luckenbach in their home with the co-respondent in the case, Mrs. Luckenbach avers, her husband came to her and suggested they resume relations as man and wife because he loved her dearly, but that she must promise not to interfere with his affairs with the other woman.

"I called that proposal preposterous," Mrs. Luckenbach stated.

In her affidavit the complainant says her husband, Miss Stone, and the boy, Lewis Jr., known as "Chubby," are on an island estate called Islamirado, off the Florida coast.

Tricked, Wife Charges.

The trouble began last July, according to Mrs. Luckenbach. She charges that, after a quarrel, her husband "tricked her into taking a trip to Europe on Aug. 10. When she returned in September the Sands Point place was dismantled and closed; her 9 year old son had been put in a boarding school in West Newton, Mass., and Della Louise Stone and Mr. Luckenbach were living in the 5th avenue home."

Mrs. Luckenbach decided to investigate, she relates, and a few nights later headed a raiding party of three friends and five detectives. She got an eyeful, according to her complaint which states than her husband was nabbed trying to exit by way of the servants' stairs and that Miss Stone was found hiding in the bath room. She was not bathing but apparently had dressed in a hurry, the petition surmises, for she had neglected to fix her garters which dangled below her knees.

DR. WILBUR AND WIFE HERE ON WAY TO COAST

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur and his wife spent several hours in Chicago yesterday and left last night on the Overland limited of the Chicago and North Western for the west coast. Secretary Wilbur announced he intends to develop government oil wells on the Pacific coast.

The Wilburs' Chicago visit was marred when Mrs. Wilbur mislaid her purse and both occupied their time in the city trying to locate it. Secretary Wilbur and his wife arrived early yesterday from Cleveland.

Skinny Girls Laughed At Gain Lbs. with New Yeast

DOCTORS WARN ABOUT SLIMNESS

Pounds of Weight Quickly Gained with Amazing New IRONIZED YEAST Tablets

Behind every "skinny" figure stands the shadowy spectre of grave disease. Slimness is directly responsible for more cases of fatal decline among women than any other cause. This is the statement made at a recent health convention.

So watch out if you're thin. The quickest way to gain normal weight—not fat—in no time is to simply take IRONIZED YEAST Tablets every day. They are small and tasteless, never cause gas or bloating. But it is astonishing how soon you gain pounds and wonderful new energy and pep.

Men Always Prefer Soft Graceful Curves to "Skin and Bones"

Gain 5 to 15 lbs. Quick with New IRONIZED YEAST

Gains 12 Lbs. in 5 Weeks
"Since taking IRONIZED YEAST 5 weeks, have gained 12 lbs. Aches and pain have left. Complexion fine."—Edna Lausch, Chicago, Ill.

"What I know about nice women"

LISTEN to a doctor whose practice includes hundreds of the better class. "It is simply unbelievable," he says, "how many women—supposedly nice, fastidious women—are suffering from halitosis and utterly ignorant of the fact. No wonder their husbands hesitate to kiss them, or that women friends avoid them."

Don't fool yourself

Be the first to suspect yourself of having halitosis (bad breath). So many everyday conditions cause it that it is folly for any one to assume complete freedom from it. Defective teeth for example. Fermenting food particles. Pyorrhea. Germ infections of the mouth. Keep yourself on the popular side by gargling with full strength Listerine morning and night, and before meeting others. Listerine instantly ends halitosis.

Destroys odors—kills germs

Being a safe germicide so active it kills even Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds, it naturally combats germ conditions which cause odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it destroys the odors themselves.

Keep Cool, Men

Will you send Your Son to College . . . after reading this?

FROM the Dean of one of our first universities comes the most scathing indictment of modern college education ever handed up to the American public!

Dean Berry has watched students troop in and out of Johns Hopkins classrooms for nearly a generation—and now he frankly tells fathers and mothers just what their sons will get—or won't—out of the costly college years.

"What the ordinary college curriculum today represents," he says, "is simply the accumulated debris of the past three or four hundred years of hit-or-miss instruction. Some of it is plainly superfluous and some of it should be dismissed immediately—as the merest flubdub and flapdoodle. In some of our most popular universities undergraduates are simply products of stuffing machines, and the degree of A. B. becomes a mere label—a standard bonded label on a bootleg bottle."

A stirring, disturbing article no American parent can afford to miss—"How Colleges Rob Men of Priceless Years!"—as seen by Dean Edward W. Berry of Johns Hopkins University.

ILLINOIS BARS HAWKS FROM RELAY GAMES

Iowa Penalized Anew by Big 9.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa, long a prominent contender in the University of Illinois indoor relay carnival, has not been invited to compete in the big meet which will be held March 14, it was learned today.

Invitations to about 200 universities and colleges were mailed about Jan. 1 by C. D. Werner, acting track coach and manager of the carnival, but no announcement of the omission of the Hawkeyes from the list was made.

Questioned today regarding a rumor that Iowa was not included, Manager Werner confirmed the report, but declined to make a statement. George Huff, director of physical welfare, was absent from the city.

Hawks Hold Mile Record.

However, it was understood the feeling at Illinois was that since the Western conference has suspended athletic relations with Iowa, it would be somewhat anomalous for the Illini to invite the Hawkeyes to compete in a meet which is completely under Illinois control.

Although track news from Iowa City some weeks ago listed the Illinois meet in the Hawkeye probable engagements, recently George Bresnahan, track coach, was quoted in the college newspaper as expressing doubt that Iowa would be invited.

The Hawkeyes hold the present record in the mile relay which they made in 1928 and have won the mile race six times, an excellent showing. Ohio State will hold its annual relay meet May 3 and will also have to decide whether to ask the Hawkeyes.

KANSAS CONSIDERS CASE.

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, said here tonight that the question of inviting the University of Iowa to the major relay carnivals of the country was one for the American Relays association to decide. Allen said that all colleges and universities having winter and spring carnivals, except the University of Pennsylvania, are members of the association and guided by its rulings in their invitation lists.

"We will be guided by the precedent set by the other institutions which hold relays long before the Kansas relays April 19. We do not invite any school the association does not want us to ask," Allen said.

Carl Werner of the University of Illinois is secretary of the association.

HUFF URGES FAIR PLAY

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—True sportsmanship, fair and courteous treatment of opposing players and visiting teams' rooters, and respect for officials was urged today in college athletics by George Huff, athletic director of the University of Illinois. Huff was principal speaker today at a banquet given by the Kiwanis club of Crawfordsville in compliment to the Wabash college 1929 football squad.

In making a plea for clean college athletics, Mr. Huff said he was not worried about the criticisms made by those who are unfriendly to athletics in colleges.

Strikes at Team Backers.

"I am concerned, however," he declared," with the actions of those who claim to be friends of college athletics. I regret the actions of students and townspeople who think they are being loyal when they bet on their team and who make athletic contests the occasion for drinking, before, during, and after games. I regret the actions of supporters of college athletics who demand winning teams at the sacrifice of true sportsmanship."

"There is always less sportsmanship in the stands than on the gridiron and the diamond," he declared.

Mr. Huff said, "Football, basketball and baseball, and other forms of college sports are just incidents in your college life. Important, yes, and valuable but not all important and by no means of the utmost value. You are not in college to play football, but being in college you can reap benefit by participation in college activities, and football is just one activity."

JAMES AND LEO END DEBATE TO PICK UP GLOVES

How They Line Up

James J. Braddock, New Jersey vs. Leo Lomski, Washington, 10 rounds; light heavyweights.

Archie Bell, England vs. Harry Fierro, south side, 10 rounds; 120 pounds.

Emil Paluso, Salt Lake City vs. Ray McIntyre, Los Angles, 10 rounds; 120 pounds.

Oscar Baker, Chicago vs. Tony Talerico, New York, 5 rounds; heavyweights.

Solly Schuman, west side, vs. Mickey Gill, Ireland, 5 rounds; 122 pounds.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

James J. Braddock and Leo Lomski, both of whom have been busy for several days reminding the Chicago public that each has defeated Tuffy Griffith, tonight at the Coliseum will confine themselves to the business of trying to defeat each other.

JACK DEMPSEY.

They will be the headliners on Promoter Jack Dempsey's fifth fight card in Chicago and have expressed eagerness to help Jack keep the home fires burning until such time as the weather gets balmy and the ex-champ launches his promised big outdoor campaign to establish a few championships.

Braddock Is Chagrined.

Two of the crowns Jack plans to bestow are coveted by the two big boys who will fight tonight. Lomski still has notions that he'll be the light-heavyweight champion. Braddock tonight will say farewell to that division to become a full fledged heavy. Obviously if they desire to partipate in Mr. Dempsey's summer carnival James and Leo will be obliged to show to advantage tonight.

Braddock yesterday was reported to be greatly chagrined that Dempsey had ranked Griffith third in his classification of the current heavyweight contenders, several pegs higher than Braddock. According to the Dempsey literary bureau, James J. is out to make Jack eat them words by thrashing Leo. This crack virtually closed the verbal training for the fight.

Jack Also Interested in 118's.

Just by way of showing that his interest is not confined to the high tonnage classes, Mr. Dempsey says his supporting card tonight embodies the opening factors in the process of stirring up interest in the 118 pound division. He plans to match the winners of the Archie Bell-Harry Fierro and the Emil Paluso-Ray McIntyre 10 rounders with a view of leading up to an eventual championship in the class.

The first bout will be at 8:15 o'clock.

SPEARS LEAVES FOR PARLEY ON OREGON OFFER

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Maintaining reticence as to his decision Dr. Clarence Spears, football coach of the University of Minnesota, departed this forenoon for Missoula, Mont., where he will confer tomorrow with President Arnold Bennett Hall of the University of Oregon on an offer of a five year contract with the Pacific coast school.

"I have promised President Hall not to issue a public statement until after our conference at Missoula," Dr. Spears said, as he boarded the train. "President Hall asked me not to grant any interviews until after our meeting. He prefers to make the announcement himself and it will be made from Missoula tomorrow."

SILVER SKATES ENTRIES TOTAL MORE THAN 2,500

Nettelhorst Grounds Nominates 55.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Phillip R. Porter, instructor at Nettelhorst playground, yesterday entered 55 skaters in THE TRIBUNE'S fourteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park Jan. 25 and 26. This is one of the largest team entries received. Instructor Porter predicted that his entrants will score points in at least four of the six races.

John McGovern and Louis Menoge top the entry in senior. They are among the leading class A skaters in Cook county and should qualify for the finals. Eight others will represent the playground in this event. Russell Almberg and Joe Coleman are the class of the intermediates, and Elmer Hanson and Avrum Gold lead in the junior. Robert Adkison, Frank Tornabene and Nick Zapos head the entry of twenty-nine who will face the starter in the juvenile.

Out of Town Entries Here.

Other team entries and individual nominations received in yesterday's mail swelled the entry list to more than 2,500. Included were several from out of town, most of whom will be in the city a few days in advance of the races to skate around the course.

Herman Fischer, president of the Western Skating association, under whose auspices THE TRIBUNE Derbies will be conducted, yesterday announced that boys competing in the juvenile race will skate 110 yards in the preliminary heats and 220 yards in the finals.

Badger Star Competes.

George Little, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, yesterday gave Bob Ocock permission to represent the university in the boys' senior Derby. Ocock is Milwaukee champion and one of the country's leading skaters. The Cardinal athlete won two first places at Lake Placid, N. Y. last year at the national championships.

Entries close Sunday at midnight. Those who have not registered with the Western Skating association may do so by writing to Harry Berz, chairman of the registration committee of the W. S. A., 1218 Independence boulevard. Phone Rockwell 4947.

THE GLADIATOR GEORGE TRAFTON IS STILL UPRIGHT

BY EDWARD BURNS.

George Trafton, connoisseur of juicy beefsteaks, football player, orator, and the world's only conqueror of the Great Shires, last night won his second battle as a professional pugilist. The victory came in the fourth round, when Rudy Hoffman, George's muscular and mustached adversary, was disqualified when he sat down to congratulate himself for having not been in the way of a terrific uppercut with which George had expected to establish a state of coma.

It is not permitted, it seems, to be knocked down without being hit, so George was given the verdict on a technical knockout, according to the announcer.

It is not to be implied, however, that Rudy was not sincere in purpose. It was a technical mixup due largely to the lack of ring experience. He had been knocked down and was back on his feet in a squatting position when George shook off his weariness and made a great and ponderous effort to knock Rudy out into Clark street. But in his fatigue George was inaccurate and merely fanned Rudy's torso and left ear. With a happy look on his face, as he saw Trafton's glove shooting skyward, Rudy placed his bloomers back into the resin, and the fight was over.

No Pail; George Keeps On.

The spectacle was the feature of Promoter Jim Mullen's inaugural show at the Jai Alai fronton, a nice place for burlesque fighting, because a screen separates the artists from a possibly raucous congregation. The screen protected arena, reminiscent of the Cherry sisters, who used to practice their dramatic art behind a net on account of flying vegetables and other missiles, was said to be a comfort to several of the fighters on the card, and certainly gave George and Rudy a feeling of safety from those who had booed their entrance.

Anyhow, the boos were greatly in the minority and it wasn't long before the two big boys had everybody standing and yelling wildly. Trafton's friends, remembering the latter rounds of the Trafton-Shires encounter, were fearful that their 220 pound hero would succumb to the well conditioned Hoffman, when George was unable to gain any advantage in the first two rounds.

Trafton in Fair Shape.

Midway through the third round Trafton, bleeding profusely at the mouth, a deep pink as to the abdomen, was looking about for a pail, not unlike a landlubber on a heavy sea. But the expected didn't happen, and the giant footbal player assembled himself sufficiently to floor Rudy for a nine count, which ended just as the gong rang.

Trafton made good the assertion he had been training since the Shires fight. But he was far from being a leaping gazelle after the first two minutes of fighting.

He had entered the ring with many instructions about infighting and body blows, but it was apparent that Hoffman's mustache fascinated him. At any rate, he spent most of his time trying to knock off the hairy ornament. And on one swing he did get a tuft of the thing—O, maybe a hundred hairs or so. This made Rudy bleed, and what had been a medium chestnut mustache soon became a rich henna.

With that Stomach, He's a Hero.

It was predicted that last night's fight will mark the end of the interlopers' advent into pugilism. The boxing boys have contended all along that if the public wants clowning, there are enough clowns right in the profession to supply the demand.

As for us, the fight fellows can call appearances such as Trafton's clowning if they want to, but a man who has the courage to go into the ring toting a breadbasket like George's is every inch a hero. None of you skinny gents can appreciate how one of those aldermanic subchests slows up one.

The other fights ended as follows:

Roy Peters beat Johnny Andrew, Tommy Rios beat Eddie Ballatin, Tommy Wilson beat George Kerwin, Rosy Baker beat Johnny Rosen, Jackie Stevens beat Hank Gorr, and Jimmy Murphy and Angelo Garlow fought a draw.

Norm McGarrity refereed all the forty rounds on the card. Joseph Lienert and W. A. Battye were the judges.

FLASHES OF A FLASHING GAME

Eddie Shore (No. 2), the Boston Bruins' famed defense star, stopping a Blackhawk attack with a body check that has knocked Adams off his feet in the hockey game between Boston and the Chicago Blackhawks last night. Tiny Thompson (No. 1), Boston goalie, is in the net, while Mush March, Hawk right wing, is coming in on the left for a pass and two other Boston men bear down from farther up the ice.

Dixie Jungles, Pale Moon— Bob's Thrilled

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Talullah, La., Jan. 16.—Sherlock weird forest setting provided for our hunt last night in the heavily timbered bottomlands along the Mississippi river. We sought 'coon and possum, but the atmosphere and excitement of the chase were more appropriate for a man hunt, with detectives and posse pursuing villains, so spooky and eerie were the trimmings.

Baying hounds that roared and galloped through the forest of gum, sycamore, and cottonwood trees; a ghostlike light from a pale moon that filtered through the timber literally overrun with twisting, snakelike vines; excited, high pitched yells from darkeys as they urged on the dogs; vague forms moving in the dim light, now and then silhouetted against big tree trunks by flickering beams from carbide torches and big flashlights, the boom of shotguns and the screech of owls—all these effects set the stage for our hunt that took us miles through the wet woodlands with everybody sloshing and slipping in the mud.

Compared to a 'coon and possum hunt a few hours in a goose blind is a drab affair, if it's action and color you demand on a hunt.

The north and south combined for this hunt. Hall Allen of Talullah led the chase most of the way. Russell Taylor, from a neighboring plantation, furnished the hounds. Jobe and John.

Joining these southerners and their dogs for the four hour chase were Clarence T. MacNeille, Chicago investment banker, and Lou Barkhausen, also of Chicago. However, this formidable north and south combination was outwitted by one smart old 'coon. At midnight though, the darkeys were happy just the same, for several possums were treed and shot, so meat came home in the game bag.

"Taffy" Abel, the Blackhawks' 220 pound defense man, starting forward to jolt a Boston forward off his feet with a body check, which is similar to blocking in football. Teddy Graham, defense, is at Abel's left in the foreground.

Augustana Wins from Armour Tech; No Tipoff

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—In a game played without the center tipoff, Augustana college's basketball team defeated Armour Tech of Chicago, 40 to 29, tonight. The majority of fans agreed the game was speeded up by the elimination of the jump at center, which has been suggested by many basketball coaches.

CANZONERI, BERG FIGHT TONIGHT AT N. Y. GARDEN

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—For the first time in years there will be a lightweight elimination party staged in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Tony Canzoneri, former world's featherweight champion, will meet Jack Kid Berg, one of the busiest fighters ever to come here from England since the days of Freddie Welsh and Owen Moran.

The winner will be matched with Al Singer and that means a shot at a good sized purse.

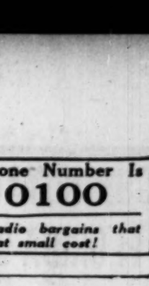
BY HARLAND ROHM.

Chicago's fighting Blackhawks tumbled the mighty Bruins of Boston for the second time this season before a crowd of more than 16,000 at the Chicago Stadium last night. The youthful Hawks said good-by to Tom Shaughnessy as manager by battering down the world's champions, 2 to 1.



MUSH MARCH.

The game wasn't as vicious as some others recently — there wasn't a fight and neither team used any of the many dirty little tricks hockey players know—but it was by far the hardest, fanest and best hockey Chicago fans ever have seen. Boston proved why it is world champion. The Bruins played magnificently, but last night the Hawks were their masters.

Taking the ice with the evident intention of outplaying the Boston Bruisers at their own game, the Hawk body-checked the Bruins dizzy in the first period.

Hawks Smash Harder.

They smashed hard but cleanly, and while Boston was nothing loathe to do its share of the bumping, the Hawks hit harder and oftener. In particular the Hawks took picks on Eddie Shore, Boston's prize badman, who spent most of the twenty minutes picking himself up, due especially to the efforts of Gottselig and Adams, although Abel, Wentworth and a couple of others each bounced him at least once.

The Hawks held the Bruins while March scored the Chicagoan's first goal on a rebound of Adams' shot in that period and Boston tied it in the second when the Hawks seemed to tire and weren't smashing quite so hard or often. Then came the climax of the last period when Dutkowski scored the winning goal in a minute and 20 seconds as the Bruins hammered and battered futilely in a continuous series of nerve tensing rushes.

Boston played glorious hockey—make no mistake about that—and with a bit of luck might have scored a couple more goals. But that also was true of the Hawks, for they had just as many chances to score that went wrong by an eyelash.

DUKE DUTKOWSKI.

Though Boston got plenty of chances to shoot only one less than the Hawks, more of their plays were broken up on mid-ice, particularly through the backchecking of the forward lines.

The Game's Heroes.

The real heroes of the game were the goalies, Tiny Thompson and Chuck Gardiner, for both of them stood up under a bombardment of pucks as terrific as machine gun fire. Both of them stopped a dozen shots no goalie could be expected to stop and each went to the ice a couple of times under a knot of players, with keen edged skate blades flashing around their faces. Gardiner's wind was knocked out once near the end of the game when six Hawks and three Boston players piled up in front of the net as in football scrimmage, with Gardiner—and the puck—on bottom. He got his wind back and continued to turn back shots.

The Hawks lost many chances to Miami, Fla., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Gun Royal, racing under the colors of M. Stern, splashed though the mud at Hialeah park today to win the Inaugural handicap, feature event of opening day. Five thousand cheered as the son of Wrack-Rod and Gun dashed down the stretch three lengths in front of C. E. Hamilton's Herrick with George D. Widener's Partisan in third position. The winner paid 7 to 2 to win, 6 to 5 to place, and 3 to 5 to show.

FRANK BRUEN.

The time for the six furlongs—1:13—was fast for track conditions. The race had a net value of $2,730 to the victor.

Bet by "Envelope" System.

Although weather conditions were disagreeable with rain falling most of the afternoon, Frank J. Bruen, manager of the Miami Jockey club, was pleased with the opening day attendance and believes that the 45 day meeting will exceed that of last season. Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York, and Mrs. Smith were present.

The "envelope" system of betting, similar to the orals used at New York tracks, was used. The bettor placed his money in an envelope, writing the bet and the name of the horse on the outside and signing his own name or initials. The bookmakers paid off on wagers after each race.

Gun Royal Times His Sprint.

Only eight of the 16 named for the inaugural handicap went to the post. Sun Meddler set the early pace with Gun Royal trailing and Tutti Frutti and Partisan not far back. Sun Meddler kept the advantage to the far turn where Jockey Fisher on Gun Royal timed his sprint and came up with a rush to head the leader. Herrick took the short cut along the rail and outbattled Partisan and Crystal Domino in the final eighth.

Favorites scored with regularity in the other races, the victory of Pegg's Pride, an 8 to 1 shot in the fifth race, being the only upset.

TRINER HEADS CHICAGO INDOOR SOCCER LEAGUE

Officials of the newly formed Chicago Indoor Soccer league were elected last night. Capt. Joseph Triner, head of the Spartans, was elected president; H. T. Choice, vice president, and W. R. Cummings, secretary-treasurer.

Peter J. Peel was elected chairman of the board of directors. The board is composed of Jack Parry, William Alexander, E. J. O'Donnell, Joseph McFadzeah, Robert Scott, and W. W. Wilkins. President Triner and Vice President Choice also will serve as directors.

Murphy, Farrell to Race in State Ice Meet Sunday

AW FER TH' LOVA MIKE! THERE'S OLD PLUSHBOTTOM'S CAR - I NEVER GET A CHANCT TO TALK TO EGYPT ALONE - EVER SINCE SHE'S BEEN BACK THAT GUY'S ALWAYS STICKIN' AROUND CLOSER'N TH' NEXT SECOND—
OH HELLO, MOON - I WAS JUST SHOWING LORD PLUSHBOTTOM THE CLOCK YOU GAVE ME FOR CHRISTMAS.
JOLLY GOOD TIME PIECE I SHOULD SAY, MULLINS - IS IT ONE OF THOSE EIGHT DAY AFFAIRS?
WELL, YOU WONT HAVE TO CAMP HERE BUT A COUPLE MORE HOURS TO FIND OUT.
SAY LISTEN, BANJOEYES - YOU KNOW I LIKE BOTH OF YOU BOYS BUT IF YOU DON'T STOP MAKING THOSE JEALOUS CRACKS I WONT CRY IF YOU START SPENDING YOUR EVENINGS AT THE POOL HALL AGAIN.
OH NO - DON'T DO THAT MULLINS - YOU KNOW THEY SAY "ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART GROW FONDER" HA HA
YEH? THEN WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT FOR TWO OR THREE YEARS, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM?

Harrison Tech scored two victories over Austin on the Austin Y. M. C. A. floor yesterday. The heavies won, 23 to 17, and the lights triumphed, 33 to 26. Ostaszewski and Strugala featured for the Tech heavies. A free throw by Probak made the lightweight score 6 all at the half. Then the Techs, with the aid of Odron, who contributed ten points, collected fourteen points for their third straight victory.

RAY SCHALK SEES RETURN TO FORM OF HARTNETT'S ARM

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Ray Schalk, who is going to perform in the rôle of a Cub coach next season, yesterday admitted that he thought Gabby Hartnett's famous throwing arm would be O. K. for the coming season. That makes two who have this opinion, Hartnett being the other.

GABBY HARTNETT.

Schalk, who, by experience, knows a throwing arm when he sees one, engaged the ailing backstop in a workout yesterday at the Illinois Athletic club gym and it was in the course of this diversion that the ex-White Sox star thought he detected positive signs of a "comeback" of the million dollar arm.

Gabby threw to Schalk for a half hour over a distance of 60 feet and there was enough on the throws to convince Schalk that the thrower wasn't holding back. Gabby insisted he felt none of the shoulder pains which made him useless last season. However, the truth on the arm won't be known for a certainty until Hartnett gets to the Catalina island training camp and is forced to peg under the same conditions that prevail in a ball game.

On the theory that a spring meeting is more a matter of habit than necessity, E. S. Barnard, the American league chief, has decided to abandon the practice for this year, at least. It has been customary to meet in February and formally adopt the schedule. The schedule already is made up and copies are in the hands of the eight owners. A date can't be changed without the consent of the National league, so a formal adoption meant nothing.

In place of the gathering of owners, Barnard has elected to summon his umpires here for a conference, Feb. 12 and 13. The purpose of this will be to agree what should be done in various ticklish situations such as arise occasionally in games.

The National league will hold its spring schedule meeting as usual in New York the first week of February. To attend this, William Veeck, the Cub president, will be forced to travel from Catalina Island to Broadway. Veeck will break up the long ride by tarrying here for a few hours, Feb. 1. The stop will give him a chance to see if any of the contracts now in the mails have been returned by athletes not satisfied with the amount offered. Rogers Hornsby and Guy Bush are the only men already signed.

In the American league slugging figures announced yesterday, Al Simmons of the champion Athletics was accorded first place. He had the pleasure of driving in 157 runs during the 1928 campaign. Ruth trailed him by three runs. Joe Sewell of the Indians didn't drive in enough runs to rate with the top notchers, but he showed them how not to strike out. He tied his own world mark of fanning only four times.

BRUINS MEET COLORED STARS AGAIN TONIGHT

When the Chicago Bruins line up tonight against the New York Renaissance five, world colored champs, in the second game of their series at the Stadium, Art Bramhall, star prep forward, again will play.

Bramhall's showing against the easterners Wednesday night made such an impression that it was decided to start him as a regular.

Two preliminary games are listed. In the opening match at 7:30, the Taylor Trunks will meet the Duffy floral girls and the Golan A. C. will tackle the Sweitzer Boosters.

WIN AT ROCKFORD.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Chicago Bruins defeated the Tebala Temple basketball team here tonight, 31 to 24. The Bruins led at the half, 15 to 6.

Kieckhefer and Cochran Divide Cue Match Honors

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Augie Kieckhefer and Welker Cochran split even in the third and fourth blocks of their three cushion billiard match here today.

Cochran won the afternoon block, 15 to 50, in 64 innings. Each had a high run of seven. Tonight Kieckhefer won, 50 to 46, in 66 innings. Kieckhefer's high run was six; Cochran's, four.

Fireos Continue Play in Handball Tournament

Three more teams were eliminated in the handball tournament, in which firemen of the city have been competing for the Goodrich silver cup. In last night's battles, Ryan and Kenney defeated Maher and Richter, Boyle and Vivrito, and Bender and Jablonski were victorious over Beckman and Wilhelm. Six more teams will play today.

score when overanxiety sent a wing over the Bruins' blue line ahead of the play. While that was a fault, it was the key to the game, for the Hawks were on their toes fighting with every ounce of their small bodies and it turned the balance of victory to them. And while he didn't score, one couldn't overlook little Tommy Cook, who sailed around the ice as if possessed of wings on his feet and a pair of tongs on the end of his hockey stick.

Despite its speed and the frequency with which players were strewn about the ice like bodies on a battlefield, the game was strikingly clean, only six penalties being chalked up, three against teach team.

Gottselig made the opening move by dumping Shore, who, by the way, played the entire sixty minutes except for two spent in the penalty box, and played brilliantly. Then followed a dazzling series of rushes that usually ended in upsets, one of which resulted in the Hawks' first goal two minutes before the period ended.

Bruins Tie Score.

Stewart Adams, the Minneapolis rookie who seems to improve with each game, started the rush from center ice and was skated off to the left. He stickhandled around Owen, whipped the puck at the goalie and raced in to grab the rebound and shoot again as Dutkowski and March sped in from the wings to add to the melée around the goal, which also included four Boston players. Thompson had dropped flat on the ice across the front of the net to stop Adams' second shot, but the puck rolled free and March picked it up on his stick and lifted it over the goalie's body into the net.

The Hawks were body checking less in the second period and while the play was about even the Bruins tied the score. Thompson overshadowed Gardiner in the brilliance of his saves. Dutch Gainor had drawn a penalty for tripping Ingram after six minutes and celebrated his return to the ice with a beautiful individual play. Taking the puck in his own defense area Gainor sailed straight down center ice, stickhandling through the backchecking forwards and splitting the defense with a fake to the right. Then, racing between them, he bore in on Gardiner, who made a desperate dive to save, but Gainor dodged him, sliding the puck into the net.

Dutkowski Brilliant.

Dutkowski was equally brilliant at the start of the third period, the ex-defense man giving the Hawks their winning goal. Taking the puck from Gainor in a scramble on the right boards near the Bruins' net, Dutkowski winged down right ice.

He faked to the center as he drew near the defense men and then went around the right of Hitchman and Shore. Cutting back he scored with an angle shot from the right side. So smooth was the play, the crowd was silent for seconds before it leaped in a frenzy of cheering.

That left 18 minutes to go and they were packed with superb action, though neither scored. Shore almost scored single handed and Couture hit him so hard he lay on the ice for a time, and Leo drew a penalty, but the Hawks weathered the two minutes' attack.

The game had yet to reach its peak, however, for in the last ten minutes Boston sent five men down the ice in a series of rushes like waves that shattered on the rocks of the Hawks' jolts, while Gardiner stood out like a tower, a target the Bruins could hit but couldn't pass.

In the Wake of the News

PURDUE BASKETEERS.

PURDUE'S colors which were carried to a Big Ten football title by an undefeated eleven will not fare badly in the current basketball championship competition. It is asking much of a cage squad to annex ten consecutive victories from the caliber of fives representing conference colleges. That feat is quite possible [on form probable] for Purdue to record this season.

One reason is that Purdue, because of the rotating schedule, does not meet Wisconsin, Illinois, or Indiana. Two of these three are reckoned among the most formidable contenders. Michigan and Northwestern were the others ranked among the topnotchers by the experts before the season opened. The Boilermakers have beaten both Wolverines and Wildcats in the first of the two game series.

The Wake saw Purdue in action against Northwestern. Except for a few minutes at the start, the Indiana visitors outclassed the Evanstonians. Of course, Purdue was "clicking" and Northwestern was not. "Clicking" is that intangible something corresponding roughly to morale on the football field. It comes more quickly and it goes more quickly but it decides many close issues. Plainly, Purdue's baskets were dropping and those of the Purple were not.

But whether or not Purdue is clicking, any team will have plenty of trouble against Stretch Murphy, Harmeson, and Wooden. The latter, a fast guard with a penchant for dribbling through the opposition for a pot shot, is the flashiest looking sophomore who has come into the league for several years. Murphy is difficult to guard and opposition players find many fouls called against them in trying to stop him. We sometimes have suspected that Murphy encourages this tendency to foul him for free throws are not to be despised. In addition to their shooting, the Boilermakers are capable of a tight defense if they choose to play that way.

DE PAUL QUINTET SETS OUT ON 19 GAME SERIES

Beginning tonight with the Detroit university game it will be just one basketball game after another for De Paul's quintet. The busy season will continue until Feb. 12.

The Titan engagement will start a string of nineteen games which will see the Blue Demons in action nearly every night. After the Detroit tilt, the De Paul quintet leaves for Columbia college at Dubuque to begin a road tour of 18 games that will take the team to San Francisco, back to Los Angeles and then to Albuquerque.

A. E. F. CHAMPION BOXER AWARDED U. S. ANNUITY

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Fighting Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the American expeditionary forces in which Gene Tunney fought in France during the world war, has been judged permanently disabled by punishment absorbed in 60 fights in the service. As a result, the United States veterans' bureau has awarded him compensation of $100 a month for the remainder of his life.

BOB MARTIN.

Martin, who was considered a better flistic prospect than Tunney at the close of the war, contended that a traumatic brain tumor from which he has suffered in recent years was caused by blows received while winning 54 service bouts by knockouts, four by decision, drawing once, and losing only one match—to Tunney.

Martin fought 32 bouts in qualifying for the A. E. F. title, winning 28 by knockouts and four by decisions.

Troeh Scores 25 Kills to Win Shoot Meet Opener

Reading, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Frank Troeh of Portland, Ore., international flyer champion and national target champion, won the opening event of a three day white flyer shoot here today. Troeh scored 25 straight kills. He defeated a field of 54 gunners.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

GIRL, GODMOTHER OF TRIBUNE SHIP, LANDS IN BRITAIN

Enjoys Trip as Guest to Christen Boat.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Miss Eileen Battle of Thorold, Canada, arrived at Southampton today aboard the North German Lloyd's luxury steamer Bremen on her way to Hull to christen THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE motorship, the Thorold, which is to be launched on Saturday.

MISS EILEEN BATTLE.

Miss Battle was selected recently as the winner of a personality contest conducted in Thorold and St. Catherine, Ont., by the Ontario Paper company, a subsidiary of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which it supplies with newsprint. The new ship, one of the largest of its type, is destined to transport newsprint from the paper mill at Thorold direct to THE TRIBUNE in Chicago at the opening of navigation in 1930. It will have a capacity of 3,000 tons.

Bubbling with Enthusiasm.

Miss Battle was bubbling over with enthusiasm and anticipation of her two weeks' visit in England following the launching. She was accompanied by her elder sister, Regina, also a guest of the company.

The crossing was not bad, Eileen said, but she admitted there were times when she looked forward to putting her foot on dry land again. She had that pleasure today and remarked with eager interest at various English phenomena—minute motor cars, gigantic policemen, box-like taxis, and, above all, the English landscape as seen from the speeding boat train.

Thrilled by Shrouded London.

London greeted Eileen with a characteristic fog, but nevertheless she was able to pierce the mist and get a thrill out of the dim outlines of the houses of parliament and Westminster abbey.

After a visit to Hull, where she is to bestow the name Thorold on the ship, she is looking forward to a sight seeing trip which will include a visit to Windsor castle, the summer home of English royalty.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Good Old Castor Oil

Elmer Finds Guitar on New Level in Music

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Andres Segovia, who has but recently startled the American musical world with his remarkable guitar playing, surprised the American radio world by appearing as one of three prominent soloists in a Spanish program from New York through KYW, 9 to 10, last night. If the announcement of his name did not cause surprise, his playing did; for never before in radio's existence has this strummed instrument, the guitar, the modern successor of the ancient and venerable lute, been raised to where it vied with a keyboard instrument like the ancient harpischord or the modern piano. It was in such a position for the three selections Mr. Segovia played. They were comparable to those for the piano melodically and dynamically and in intricacy. The tone, although purely guitar, was sweet, tender, and lovely.

Emilio de Gorgoza, baritone; Countess Olga Medolago Albini, soprano, and a studio orchestra were the other artists that together rounded out an unusually distinctive and enjoyable hour.

Incidental music of the modern play and drama furnished subject material for an enjoyable concert program by the W-G-N symphony orchestra, 8 to 8:30. Grieg was drawn upon, the selections being familiar except the Abduction of the Bride sector of the "Peer Gynt" suite. This slow and stately number merits frequent hearings. There was one disappointment in this program—the too few selections from "The Miracle" music.

RADIO OPERATOR TO QUIT SAYING 'DAMN' AND 'HELL'

Shreveport, La., Jan. 16.—(AP)—W. K. Henderson, operator of radio station KWKH here, today telegraphed Congressman John Sandlin of Louisiana that he had decided in the future to refrain from using "damn" and "hell" in his radio talks against chain stores.

He did not, however, he said, consider these words profane, as Senator Dill of Washington has charged in criticism of the Louisiana station.

"I have never used curse words as curse words are known in the dictionary," his telegram said, "but possibly my language has been distasteful for a few and in order not to displease those that might have been displeased I have announced that I would eliminate the 'hells' and 'damns' and would see what Senator Dill had to say."

F. J. BRISTOL, CIVIL WAR VET, IS DEAD AT 89

Frederick James Bristol, 89 years old, a civil war veteran and one of the four surviving members of the Julius White post of the G. A. R., died yesterday at his home at 7905 Luella avenue. Mr. Bristol had been ill of heart disease since Monday.

Mr. Bristol was born in England, but was brought to America as a child, settling in Illinois. He enlisted in company D of the 52d Illinois volunteers and served throughout the war. He was a captain under Gen. Sherman. Following the war he was married in New Portland, Me., and then moved to Chicago, where he was for many years engaged in the warehouse business on the west side. With the exception of a short time following the death of his wife, he has lived in Chicago.

He is survived by one son, Frederick L., and four daughters, Mrs. George O'Neill of Evanston, Mrs. Joseph Van Cura, with whom he lived, Mrs. V. E. Ortlund Jr., and Mrs. Alburn Steele. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at Rosehill chapel.

W. M. BENNETT DIES; RAN FOR MAYOR IN N. Y.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—William M. Bennett, lawyer, former state senator and several times candidate for mayor of New York City, died today in Broad Street hospital. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy yesterday. He was 60 years old.

In the 1917 campaign he was the Republican candidate for mayor against John F. Hylan, Democrat, and John Purroy Mitchell, fusion candidate. Hylan was elected.

In several succeeding mayoralty contests Mr. Bennett was an unsuccessful independent candidate. Last fall he was defeated by Congressman Fiorello H. La Guardia in the primary for the Republican nomination for mayor.

JOHN S. CUNEO, EX-DEMOCRATIC LEADER, IS DEAD

John S. Cuneo, 73 years old, former Chicago Democratic leader, died yesterday at his home in Los Angeles of carbon monoxide poisoning, after an illness of several days. He was overcome by gas in the garage at his home several days ago after starting the motor of his automobile with the doors of the building closed.

Mr. Cuneo was born in Chicago at 5th avenue and Randolph streets and was a political adviser to the late Roger Sullivan. In 1908 he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, but was defeated in the primary. He retired from politics about 11 years ago and moved to Los Angeles, where he had made his home since then.

He is survived by his widow, and one son, Walter E. Cuneo of Woodstock, manager of the Indian Refining company in Chicago.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR POLICEMAN SLAIN IN BATTLE

Funeral services will be held this morning at Epiphany Catholic church, 2510 South Keeler avenue, for Policeman Jeremiah Murphy of Fillmore station, who was killed on Tuesday in a gun battle with three burglars at 4049 Jackson boulevard. Interment will be at Mount Carmel cemetery. Two of the burglars were killed by police and the third was captured. Lieut. Edward Conroy was wounded. Among the huge floral pieces banked about the bier at the Murphy home, 4172 West 24th place, yesterday, was one from Mrs. Florence Hirsch and other residents of the apartment building where the battle occurred.

ART HICKMAN, BAND LEADER, IS DEAD AT 42

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Art Hickman, 42, well known dance orchestra leader, died here today after a major operation. Three blood transfusions were made in vain efforts to save his life.

After the world war, Hickman climbed to fame as director of dance music. A stage engagement in a big review took him east a decade ago, and he later directed dance orchestras at several large hotels and cafés in the east.

We was not married.

Denis S. Shanahan Dies Suddenly in Kansas City

Denis S. Shanahan, president of the Munich studio, 111 West Austin avenue, manufacturers of stained glass windows, was found dead yesterday in the bathtub of a room in the Baltimore hotel in Kansas City, where he had gone three days ago on a business trip. He apparently had died of heart disease. Mr. Shanahan was 62 years old and lived with his daughter, Mrs. Warren O'Donnel, 316 North Scoville avenue, Oak Park. He was a member of the Order of Foresters and the Knights of Columbus. The body will be brought to Chicago today to a chapel at 3609 Ogden avenue.

W. S. Philpot, Retired Broker, Dies in Florida

Word of the death of Walter S. Philpot, 58 years old, retired securities broker, at his home in Miami, Fla., on Jan. 8, was received by friends in Chicago yesterday. Mr. Philpot, who was a native of Tennessee, was engaged in the brokerage business in Chicago for 20 years, retiring in 1923 when he moved to Florida. Funeral services were held at Thomasville, Ga. Mr. Philpot is survived by his widow and one daughter. He was a member of the Medinah Temple of the Shrine.

REALTY BOARD TO LIST ISSUES ON CURB CHANGE

Local Real Estate Mart Plan Dropped.

BY AL CHASE.

Contracts are to be signed by the Chicago Real Estate board and the Chicago Curb Exchange association whereby real estate securities, consisting of both mortgage and construction bonds and building corporation stocks, are to be listed and dealt in by the public on the floor of the local curb exchange. This was announced yesterday when it was learned that the real estate board's securities committee had at last decided on a method of making realty securities more liquid after more than four months continuous labor on the problem.

MARK LEVY.
[Walinger Photo.]

Signing up with the Chicago curb will dispose of the much talked of proposed real estate board securities exchange, which was at one time contemplated along the lines of the recently opened New York realty exchange. It also will end negotiations with the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade for listing realty securities on those two marts. As a matter of fact, negotiations already have been dropped with the Chicago Stock Exchange, leaving the Board of Trade and the curb exchange in the field.

Vote Is 10 to 1.

The voting of the realty board's securities committee was not unanimously for the curb exchange listing realty stocks and bonds. One member, J. Frank Lindsey, out of the eleven on the committee, voted in favor of the Board of Trade. All of the other ten voted for the local curb. The ten included: Mark Levy, chairman of the committee; Hiram S. Cody, Joseph W. Cremin, Edgar N. Greenebaum, Joseph B. Hall, Wilbur E. Howett, Claude W. Morris, Winfield H. Schendorf, Percy Wilson and John G. Wittbold.

The contract to be signed by the directors of the realty board and the curb exchange will be short and to the point. It will state briefly that the Chicago Curb will list all securities approved by the realtors' listing committee. Actual sales of realty stocks and bonds probably will get under way within a few weeks.

May List Smaller Issues.

Meanwhile a subcommittee of the real estate board's securities committee is at work on a plan whereby issues of stocks or bonds as small as $50,000 may be listed. Heretofore all negotiations had been with the minimum placed at $250,000. A lower limit, it is pointed out, will permit a much broader and more popular market for realty securities.

"It is desirable to have real estate securities listed and traded in the same as other high grade stocks and bonds of industrials, public utilities, railroads, etc," said Mr. Howett, a member of the securities committee. "This will open a way for the investor to dispose readily of any of his securities through his own broker or bank without the necessity of depending upon the original underwriter for making a price."

Charles Loeb, Employe of Tribune 19 Years, Is Dead

Funeral services for Charles Loeb, 46 years old, 935 North Kedvale avenue, an employé of the mailing department of THE TRIBUNE, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the chapel at 2715 Madison street. Burial will be at Oakridge cemetery. Mr. Loeb died on Wednesday after a nine months' illness of heart disease. He had been employed by THE TRIBUNE for 19 years. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Geraldine.

Henry C. Durand's Estate Valued at $335,000 in Will

The will of the late Henry Calvin Durand of Lake Forest, wholesale grocer, who died two months ago in Boston, was admitted to probate yesterday at Waukegan by Judge Martin C. Decker. It disposed of an estate of $335,000, leaving two-thirds in trust for his daughter, Carolyn, of Lake Forest, and the remainder to his widow, Mrs. Edith Cook Durand. The will also leaves $4,000 to the Presbyterian Old People's home of Chicago.

BANKING POOL NEAR COMPLETION OF LIQUIDATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Resources of the banking pool formed at the time of the stock market slump to help stabilize trading conditions were in excess of $240,000,000, according to the latest estimate, and open market liquidation of the securities purchased at that time has been virtually completed.

Although the exact amount of funds which the group had at its disposal has never been made known officially, it was learned that the six institutions whose representatives gathered at the Morgan offices on Oct. 24, the day of the first violent depression in stock market values, pledged around $40,000,000 each to relieve the situation.

The remaining stock, held by J. P. Morgan & Co. for the account of the consortium, said to consist of high grade issues, will not come on the market, but will be taken up by the six banks composing the group and placed in the investment portfolios of their security affiliates. This stock amounts to considerably less than $100,000,000 worth, it is understood. The career of the consortium will now come to an end. The banks which composed the group were J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City bank, the Guaranty Trust company, Chase National bank, Bankers' Trust company, and the First National bank.

PEABODY SELLS HINSDALE ESTATE TO D. A. RAYMOND

Stuyvesant Peabody, head of the Peabody Coal company, has sold his Hinsdale estate to Donald A. Raymond, president of the Federal Huber company, plumbing supplies. Mr. Peabody recently bought the residence at 1525 North State parkway, where he now makes his home. The Hinsdale estate is located at County Line road and Sixth street and contains sixteen acres. The house is said to be the largest in Hinsdale. The grounds about it are landscaped and contain a number of interesting features, including a conservatory, squash courts, a ten car garage, etc. L. H. Freer built the residence about twenty-five years ago. Joseph Solari was attorney for Mr. Peabody.

LESTER ARMOUR BUYS BIG PLACE ON LAKE SHORE

Lester Armour, vice president of Armour & Co., has purchased a seventy-seven acre tract just south of the Shore Acres Country club, with a frontage of 1,000 feet on Lake Michigan, from R. H. McElwee, for an undisclosed consideration, and will erect a large residence. John Griffith, Inc., was the only broker in the transaction. Mr. Armour lives in Lake Forest and has a town home at 325 Wellington avenue. Yesterday's deal is one of the largest of its kind in Chicagoland since the sale of Melody farm.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Directors of Remington-Rand, Inc., have extended to Nov. 1, 1930, the time for exercising the warrants attached to the 5½ per cent bonds, which give holder rights to purchase common stock at $55 a share in the ratio of 2½ shares for each $500 bond.

Offering is being made of a new issue of $12,500,000 first mortgage fee and leasehold 6 per cent sinking fund bonds, series of 1958, of the Forty Wall Street corporations, which owns the new Manhattan Company building in New York City. The offering group is headed by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and includes Estabrook & Co., Arthur Perry & Co., and Janney & Co. The bonds are being offered at 96½ and accrued interest, to yield over 6.25 per cent.

Included among the new security offerings will be an issue of $7,500,000 2 year 6 per cent notes of the Minneapolis Gas Light company. They are priced at 100 and accrued interest.

COTTON TRADERS AWAIT FEDERAL FARM BOARD MOVE

Cotton traders are nervous and are evening up contracts, awaiting a more definite move by the federal farm board through the new central states agency.

Weakness in grains toward the last brought selling, with net losses on futures in Chicago of 8 to 12 points, while other markets were off 3 to 11 points, New York showing the most strength. Prices follow:

CREDIT RESERVE AMPLE, LOAN REPORT SHOWS

Brokers' Borrowings Up $13,000,000.

BY O. A. MATHER.

There will be ample reserves of credit for commercial purposes whenever a revival in business shall develop.

In the present quiet state of trade and the recent deflation of speculative credit, the federal reserve system and the banks are building up their reserves and now are in the strongest position in many months. At the same time many of the big industrial corporations have strengthened their cash resources as the result of the drainage in stock market loans.

These facts are emphasized in the weekly report on brokers' loans and the weekly statement on the reserve system, issued by the federal reserve board yesterday. While brokers' loans have increased $13,000,000 in the last week, the total is only $3,365,000,000, which is $2,030,000,000 below a year ago.

Because the demand for commercial credit is slack the interior banks increased their stock market loans by $12,000,000, although they still are lending $982,000,000 less than a year ago.

New York Reduction.

The New York banks reduced their own loans by $33,000,000 and are furnishing $231,000,000 less than a year ago. Other lenders, including corporations, reduced their loans by $6,000,000 and are lending $816,000,000 less than a year ago.

The statement of condition of the federal reserve system reveals a sharp decline in borrowings of the member banks. With the passing of the year-end settlement period, the member banks in the last week have reduced their loans by $125,279,000 and their total borrowings from the reserve banks now are only $442,336,000. Another post-holidays factor was a further decline of $54,432,990 in federal reserve note circulation. The reserve banks bought an additional $4,180,000 of bankers' acceptances, but sold $6,782,000 of government securities. Total deposits declined $18,420,000.

Chiefly as the result of these changes, the reserve position of the reserve system shows a decided strengthening. Gold and total reserves expanded $31,705,000 and $49,387,000 respectively and the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 75.4 per cent, compared with 72.9 per cent last week.

The New York reserve bank again made no change in its 4½ per cent rediscount rate. Its report shows a decline of $60,551,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing that item down to $70,626,000. Bankers' acceptances exceeded $1,632,000 but deposits rose $10,657,000. Reserves expanded $52,233,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 76 per cent, compared with 67.4 per cent a week ago.

Chicago Borrowings Drop.

At Chicago member bank borrowings declined $10,054,000 to a total of $38,664,000. Deposits receded $3,210,000. Bankers' acceptances and reserves remained about stationary but the reserve ratio rose to 74.8 per cent, compared with 73.7 per cent a week ago.

Signs of a halt in the flow of gold to other countries appeared. Both exports and imports of the metal were negligible in the last week but there was a decrease of $3,000,000 in the amount of gold earmarked in New York for foreign account.

The United States gained $250,000,000 in gold during the first ten months as the result of the stock market boom and high interest rates but lost $100,000,000 in the last two months when stocks collapsed. Exports of gold to France in the last two years have totaled $383,000,000, according to the monthly bulletin of the reserve board.

Continues Discussion of Gov't Aid for Investors

BY SCRUTATOR.

Government relief for investors is an unusual recommendation. The presentation by Representative Henry T Rainey in the house of representatives of an amendment to the federal farm loan act, discussed here yesterday, is such a recommendation.

He would make it possible for holders of both stocks and bonds of those joint stock land banks which have not been successful to get out even. He would have the government, in effect, take over their paper, which has shrunken woefully, and give them paper that will be good for face value.

Does Uncle Sam owe his nephews and nieces the money they lost in trying to furnish funds for cheap farm mortgages?

Came Well Recommended.

So far as the bonds are concerned, strong recommendations were made that they were safe. They were referred to in the federal farm loan act as "instrumentalities of the government of the United States." Charles E. Hughes in 1916 told a group of bankers that they should be regarded as obligations having the support of the good faith and credit of the United States. R. A. Cooper, a former commissioner of the federal farm loan board, asserted that "the government undertakes thorough supervision and inspection of the land banks of the federal farm loan system and it protects the investor in every possible way."

With such official and semi-official optimism behind them, the land bank system sold bonds. Representative Rainey stated that there are now outstanding $1,204,000,000 of federal land bank bonds and about $598,000,000 of joint stock land bank notes. All were made lawful investments for fiduciary and trust funds; they were recommended as safe for widows and orphans. All the banks were made depositories for government funds.

Strict supervision by government was provided for. The cost of this has ben borne for themselves by the joint stock land banks, to the tune of about a million a year. Legally, the government assumed to the stockholders of these banks no more obligations than to national banks. But the prospects of large speculative earnings were so small that it may fairly be assumed that only trust in the governmental agencies' watchfulness induced the purchase of the stocks.

Supposed Safety Is Influence.

The joint stock banks are limited to lending fifteen times their capital. They may issue bonds, as approved by Washington, to be secured by mortgages approved by the federal farm loan board. The interest on the mortgages is limited to 1 per cent more than is paid on the bonds.

Few, if any, commercial banks could pay 5 per cent for money, lend at 6 per cent, limit themselves to a gross of 15 per cent of their capital and make or expect to make large profits. The safety supposed to go with government supervision must have had influence in inducing investment in joint stock banks.

Mr. Rainey proposes to allow these banks 1½ per cent spread earning power twenty times their capital. This would mean about a doubling of their possible gross income.

Big Electrical Companies May Market Radio Sets

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—General Electric company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company are believed to be entertaining plans for the sale of radio receiving sets through their own organizations.

According to today's reports, the two electrical units, which heretofore have sold their sets through the Radio Corporation of America, will enter the market some time during the summer or autumn of 1930, when the demand for receiving sets ordinarily begins to increase.

It is understood the equipment of each company will bear its own insignia, although the sets will probably be manufactured by R. C. A.-Victor corporation, a new organization formed jointly last October by General Electric, Westinghouse, and Radio corporation.

Purpose of Organization.

R. C. A.-Victor corporation was organized for the announced purpose of carrying on the research work of the three sponsoring companies, as well as for engineering, manufacture, and sale of radio sets, talking machines, phonograph records, and other equipment of similar nature.

Radio corporation was to own fifty per cent of the new company's stock, while General Electric was to own thirty and Westinghouse twenty per cent. Organization of the company was considered an attempt to stabilize the radio industry, a step long considered necessary by many prominent business men.

The situation in the radio industry is considered peculiar by many observers.

Although estimates as high as $800,000,000 are given as the amount the American public spent in the industry in 1929, the fact remains that companies are cutting and passing dividends, several going into receivership and many leaders having huge unsold inventories on their hands. There are companies that were operated with a profit in 1929 as a result of volume sales, particularly during the first nine months, but the picture was sadly changed in the last quarter, when, as a rule, the largest volume of business is enjoyed. This overproduction by some companies brought about severe price cutting in the last quarter, which became more rife when the holiday sales were being made.

Meet Price Cuts.

All companies had to meet these cuts, some actually underselling the smaller companies which were in inventory trouble. Receivership and distress sales added to the chaos.

Eventually, it is said, the leaders in the industry will probably benefit by the elimination of many smaller companies and the chaotic price cutting which results from these concerns dumping their inventories on the market at any price.

Bond Business Enjoys Revival of Activity

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—While stocks are staggering around in tipsy fashion during these bleak January days the bond business has enjoyed a significant and encouraging revival. Today's offerings of $55,800,000 brought the total for the week to $339,558,000, a new high record for peacetimes. The previous high mark was $297,380,000, established in the week ended Feb. 4, 1927. All offerings have been easily absorbed.

New York, Jan. 16.—Utility, railroad, high grade industrial and specialty stocks as a rule ranged higher in today's stock market, but their strength was offset by group weakness in oil, motor, radio and copper shares.

Both gains and losses were a little more pronounced on the whole than they have been since the market became the "sick man of Wall street." Trading, likewise, hit a somewhat brisker pace, the turnover approximating 3,043,620 shares, the second largest total of the year.

For a time during the forenoon the market acted as though a real advance was in the making. Leading

UNITED FRUIT CO. NET EARNINGS FOR YEAR EQUAL $6.78 A SHARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Net earnings of $17,802,992, equivalent to about $6.78 a share, were reported for 1929 today by the United Fruit company. The company has outstanding 2,625,000 shares. Last year's earnings compare with $20,606,393, or $8.24 a share on 2,500,000 shares outstanding at the end of 1928.

After payment of dividends at the rate of $1 quarterly the company has a balance of $7,433,563. The financial statement included in the report revealed current assets of $40,513,910, of which $24,182,729 was in cash. Current liabilities totaled $15,074,049.

The Ward Baking corporation reports for the year ending Dec. 28 a consolidated net income of $3,124,413, equal to $8.57 a share on 86,275 shares of no par class "A" common stock and to 57 cents a share on the 500,000 shares of no par class "B" common. This compares with $3,293,542 in the preceding year, or $8.72 a share on the class "A" shares and 72 cents a share on the class "B" stock.

Paramount Famous Lasky corporation estimated its consolidated net profits for 1929 at $15,500,000, equal to $6.34 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year, compared with $8,057,000, or $4.22 a share, in 1928 and with $8,057,000, or $4.28 a share, in 1927.

G. M. C. Sales to Consumers in '29 Total 1,860,403 Cars

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—The General Motors corporation dealers delivered to consumers 48,253 cars in December, 1929, compared with 33,442 cars in the same month of 1928, an increase of 44.3 per cent, according to the corporation's announcement made today. For the entire year of 1929 dealers of the corporation delivered to consumers 1,860,403 cars, compared with 1,842,448 cars in 1928. Sales by General Motors manufacturing units to dealers amounted to 1,899,267 cars during 1929, compared with 1,810,806 during 1928.

Structural Steel Awards for Week Show Increase

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Structural steel awards during the last week amounted to 27,000 tons, an increase of 20,000 tons over the previous week. Inquiries, however, showed a decrease of 1,000 tons from the 21,000 figure of last week.

PLAN PURCHASE OF 1,000 NEW YELLOW CABS

Appropriation of $2,000,000 for new equipment, which will be placed in service early next spring, was approved yesterday by directors of the Chicago Yellow Cab company.

Directors authorized the purchase of 1,000 new cabs, which will replace vehicles now in use. Delivery of the new cabs will begin in April and will be completed by June, according to Thomas B. Hogan, vice president and general manager. The increased cost and maintenance of the new larger type cabs has been offset by the cutting down in accidents, he said.

Cabs of the company last year made approximately 19,000,000 trips, carrying 28,220,123 persons, Mr. Hogan said.

Pick Glass Manufacturer as Tariff League President

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—William L. Monro, president of the American Window Glass company of Pittsburgh, today was elected president of the American Tariff league to succeed W. Warren Barbour, president of the Linen Thread company of New York, who resigned after holding the office for seven years. Mr. Barbour was elected treasurer. Horace B. Cheney, South Manchester, Conn., silk manufacturer, was elected first vice president to succeed Senator Joseph R. Grundy of Pennsylvania, who also resigned from the board of managers.

Southern Pacific Orders 400 New Freight Cars

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Iron Age reports that the Southern Pacific has ordered 300 automatic furniture cars from the Pressed Steel Car company and 100 gondola cars from the Ralston Steel Car company. The Louisville and Nashville railroad is expected to enter the market soon for 1,800 freight cars, and the Seaboard Air Line to double its recent inquiry for 1,000 cars.

Chicago Curb Re-elects Kempner as President

Adolph Kempner was reëlected president of the Chicago curb exchange by the board of governors yesterday. Clarence G. Troup was elected vice president, replacing George A. Koehl, who declined to run for reëlection. C. V. Essroger, treasurer, and Moritz J. Loeb, secretary, were reëlected. Standish W. Robinson and Ernest T. Lindgren were rechosen as assistant secretaries.

...this UNION of Men and Resources

UNION has brought to the Foreman-State National Bank and the Foreman-State Trust And Savings Bank the wisdom and rich experience of two notable groups of banking and business minds.

The men who now gather around the one council table, are men of mature business judgment . . . judgment reflected in the outstandingly successful businesses of which they themselves are the active heads.

It would be difficult to find in all the realms of banking two groups whose ideals are in such complete and harmonious agreement. Union has added strength to their fundamental idea: "To serve every man or woman who enters our doors with true friendliness and consideration; to make this a bank where people feel at home."

As there were no closed doors in the institutions which this new bank succeeds, so now you will find here every officer available without ceremony. Your friends are still your friends . . . as eager as always to make you feel at home.

This union brings you the advantages of added facilities, greater resources. Thus you are now able to call your bank one of the world's truly complete financial houses.

If you have not yet visited us in our new home, please plan to do soon. In these new banking quarters, offering every modern convenience and facility, you will find the warm welcome you have always known.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES ADVANCE, VOLUME EXPANDS

Lincoln Printing Rises on Dividend News.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Volum of trading expanded to more than 180,000 shares and advances mere made all along the price front on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Though there was some irregularity, notable strength developed in spots which have seen little activity recently.

Lincoln Printing moved forward to 20¾ with the announcement that directors had placed the stock on a $1.80 annual dividend basis with the declaration of a quarterly payment of 45 cents. The issue previously paid 40 cents quarterly. Preliminary reports on profit last year indicated a gain of about 20 per cent.

Houdaille Issue Gains.

Houdaille Hershey issues were conspicuously active and both the A and B stock finished the day with net gains of 1⅝ points.

President Claire L. Barnes stated last night that General Spring Bumper, a Houdaille subsidiary, has obtained a contract for new business from a large automobile company which will approximate $2,000,000. Price changes in other automotive issues were largely confined to less than a point. Auburn, however, slipped 5 on a few odd lot sales.

Monighan Manufacturing shot up 10 points on light trade. On the previous day the stock had drobbed 7. Super Maid advanced more than a point on fairly active trading. A. M. Castle closed 3 points higher at 50. Other issues in the general list which showed a gain of a point or more were Missouri Kansas Pipe and Ross Gear.

Grigsby Drops a Point.

Grigsby led the radios in volume, but dropped a point to 18⅜. Wextark was active but unchanged on news that sales for December gained more than 12 per cent over 1928. December sales totaled $1,738,320, against $1,547,949 in the previous year. Zenith Radio was off ⅜, closing at 6.

According to one La Salle street rumor Armour & Co. will retire outright the $15,000,000 notes of Morris & Co. which are due this year. It is argued that the financial condition of Armour has improved to such a degree in the last six years that the retirement is now possible. The notes were issued in 1920 and bear interest of 7½ per cent.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—COFFEE—Futures were higher during today's early trading, in response to firmness in Rio, but later reacted slightly under realizing. No. 7 contracts closed net 11 points higher to 2 points lower. Sales estimated at 24,000 bags. Santos contracts closed at a net advance of 236@25 points. Sales 42,000 bags. Closing quotations: Santos contracts—January, 13.60c; March, 13.04c; May, 12.10c; July, 11.75c; September, 11.49c; December, 11.22c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Business is improving in gray and finished cottons, most purchases being of moderate volume. Blankets and flannels are active for fall delivery. Advances of 5c a pound were reported on Japan grades of raw silk. Broad silks are more active. Rayon products of a fine yarn character are in better demand for future delivery. Rayon yarns are selling steadily. The wool goods markets are showing a slight improvement in the call for goods for immediate cutting.

FOX FINANCING IS INADEQUATE, BANKERS CLAIM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Banking officials interested in the financing of the short term obligations of the Fox Film corporation and the Fox Theaters corporation through holding of claims today declared they had not been consulted in connection with the Fox Securities corporation plan for funding $35,000,000 of the obligations.

It was stated by them, however, that if the plan were successful it would clear away much of the obligations which were pressing at the present time but that much more than the $35,000,000 announced as the objective of the new securities corporation would be needed to entirely fund the short term commitments of the Fox interests, which are said to amount to about $91,000,000.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Announcement from Washington that the senate had voted to retain the present sugar tariff schedule had an unsettling effect in the raw sugar market here today and seemed to check business, with buyers inclined to hold off and await fresh developments.

A steady undertone prevailed in raw futures early but the Washington news led to increased selling pressure, particularly in the near months, and after opening 1 point lower to 2 points higher, the market reacted and closed 2 to 7 points lower on the near positions and unchanged to 2 points net lower on the later deliveries. Approximates sales 76,850 tons. Prices follow:

KING COUNTY, of which Seattle is the County Seat, adjoins Puget Sound and is one of the richest counties on the Pacific Coast. It is excellently served by four transcontinental railroad systems; the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific, the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, and the Union Pacific System, as well as by other smaller lines.

SEATTLE, the largest city in the State of Washington, is one of the principal seaports on the Pacific Coast with sixty steamship lines leading to domestic and foreign ports. The Washington customs district, of which Seattle is the chief port, leads all other Pacific Coast districts in value of foreign commerce. The City's exports include large shipments of lumber, grain, coal, agricultural products and manufactured articles. Water power is abundant and cheap and the City has numerous and diversified manufactories, including iron works, saw mills, furniture factories, brick yards, shingle mills, ship and airplane building plants.

These bonds are issued for bridge purposes and in opinion of counsel constitute direct general obligations of King County, payable from ad valorem taxes levied upon all property within the limits imposed by law.

Legality to be approved by Thomson, Wood & Hoffman, New York City

City Stores.

L. G. M.—City Stores company, incorporated Nov. 5, 1923, in Delaware, is a holding company owning all or a majority of the stock of subsidiary corporations which conduct general department stores in eastern and southern cities.

The president of the company in December estimated that earnings for the current fiscal year, which will end Jan. 31, 1930, will be around $1.75 a share on the 1,060,558 shares of common stock outstanding. This would mean net income of about $2,168,000 before provision for dividends on the $3.50 cumulative class "A" stock.

For November, 1929, sales were $5,340,628, and net profit was $383,587, against sales of $1,217,230 and net profit of $135,334 in November, 1928.

Net profit, after estimated federal taxes, for the nine months ended Oct. 31, 1929, was $1,001,361, equal to $11.23 per share on 89,182 class "A" shares and 72 cents per share on 1,060,558 no par common shares. Net profit in the corresponding months of 1928 was $539,875.

As of Jan. 31, 1929, current assets were $8,415,169, and current liabilities were $3,145,046, leaving a net working capital of $5,270,123, which compared with $4,829,588 on Jan. 31, 1928. At the close of January, 1929, surplus was $6,354,822, against $1,793,599 a year before.

Dividends on the common stock are $1 per year, payable quarterly.

The class "A" stock deserves a fairly good rating.

The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Insull Utility Investments.

S. P.—Insull Utility Investments, Inc., $60,000,000 ten year 6 per cent debentures, series "B," dated January 1, 1930, and due Jan. 1, 1940, offered with conversion and stock purchase warrants, are not secured by mortgage, but the company covenants not to mortgage or pledge any of its assets without securing the debentures equally and ratably with any secured obligations as long as any of the series "B" debentures are outstanding.

Consolidated earnings of the company and its wholly owned subsidiaries for 1929 are estimated at $12,227,233. Annual interest requirements on all debentures to be presently outstanding will be $3,723,450.

Upon completion of present financing the company will have outstanding $2,469,000 5 per cent debentures, series "A," $60,000,000 6 per cent debentures, series "B," 40,000 shares prior preferred stock, 490,000 shares preferred stock, and 2,304,364 shares of common.

Sufficient information is not available for giving a definite rating to these debentures.

ERIE FORMS CO. FOR OPERATING COAL PROPERTIES

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Erie railroad company today announced the organization of the Pittston company, to which has been leased for twenty-five years with renewal privileges the anthracite coal properties now operated by the Pennsylvania Coal company and the Hillside Coal and Iron company, and which has contracted for the purchase of controlling interests in other companies engaged in the distribution of coal.

In order to finance its stock acquisitions, the Pittston company shortly will offer for sale to Erie stockholders 1,075,100 shares of an authorized issue of 2,500,000 shares of common stock. Erie stockholders of record Jan. 28 will be given the right to purchase Pittston stock at $20 a share in the ratio of one share of Pittston for each two shares of Erie of any class.

Owners of substantial amounts of Erie stocks, including the Van Sweringen interests, already have agreed to take their pro rata share of Pittston stock, the balance being underwritten by a syndicate headed by the Van Sweringen brothers.

SINCLAIR'S OIL MERGER NEEDS O. K. OF EXPERTS

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, today said the formation of a new $800,000,000 petroleum corporation by merger of three large producing companies dependend upon the report of technical experts of his company after completing a survey of properties involved in the proposed merger.

Sinclair arrived here yesterday for a conference with officials of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company of Kansas and the Rio Grande il company of Los Angeles, to continue merger negotiations which originated several weeks ago in New York. A survey of Rio Grande holdings at Elwood in Santa Barbara county and other southern California properties will be made this week. Holdings of the Prairie and Rio Grande companies in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona already have been inspected.

Assails Farm Marketing Act as Being Socialistic

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—John G. McHugh, secretary of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, in an address today attacked the agricultural marketing act, under which the federal farm board is operating, as "the most socialistic piece of legislation ever enacted by congress." Speaking at a luncheon of business men, he declared there is no reason to believe that the agricultural marketing act will solve the farm problem, and asserted that it threatens to drive out of business many lines of activity related to farm products.

No government aided system can operate as efficiently and economically at so low a cost to the producers as the present grain marketing system, he said.

Loss and spoilage of supplies and materials improperly stored is a sizable item in every business. GF Allsteel Shelving Units placed here and there will prove a paying investment. Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 2,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep.

A break of 10@20c in hog prices yesterday brought small packers and city butchers on the market for the largest numbers in several weeks, resulting in a mild reaction in mid-session.

Fully 5@10c of the loss was recovered before the finish. The extreme top declined to $9.90, while the general average was off 10c at $9.55, which compares with an average of $9.40 Monday.

Small packers and city butchers handled a combined total of more than 18,000, while shippers obtained 12,000. Larger houses brought only 5,500, after strength appeared. Most of the 11,000 left were held off the market when only 21,000 were estimated for today.

Best Cattle Absent.

Yesterday's smaller cattle receipts and poorer quality met narrow demand at barely steady prices. The market for topnotchers, however, was not tested, due to the absence of strictly choice yearlings and prime beeves.

Some good 1,211 lb cattle at $15.00 were the best available, while $14.50 was paid for 1,315 lb steers, the two highest sales of the day. A few plain 1,520 lb cattle sold as low as $12.00. Prevailing quotations are mostly 50@75c below the high point of last week.

Colorado Lambs, $14.10.

Lambs recovered mostly 15@25c of the recent loss on yesterday's shorter supply. Most handy weights sold readily at $14.00, with several loads of the best at $14.10@14.25.

Top Colorados reached $14.10. Prime 99 lb fed westerns were bought at $12.75, and some loads averaging 100 lbs cost $12.50. Aged sheep ruled weak and yearlings stronger. Country demand for feeding lambs held the best at $12.75@13.00, equal to the highest in recent weeks.

ORDERS B. & O. TO SELL HOLDINGS IN W. MARYLAND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—For the second time in ten months the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission to divest itself of holdings in a carrier which the commission held to be a competing line.

Acting under the provisions of the anti-trust act, the commission gave the road six months in which to dispose of its stock in the Western Maryland. This amounts to $18,673,049 and represents about 42 per cent of the total stock, the remainder being scattered in numerous small holdings.

ALBERT VERMEER,

LIQUIDATION IS FELT BY GRAINS; CORN AT BOTTOM

Wheat Prices Decline 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 Cents.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

General liquidation developed in the grain markets after a small upturn in the early trading, and with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down all grains sold at a new low on the present movement, with March and July corn selling at the lowest figures so far this season. The close was at the bottom with wheat showing net losses of 1⅜@1¾c.

Corn broke 1⅝@1¾c from the early top and finished 1¼c lower. Oats were off ⅛@⅞c for the day, while rye was 2@3¾c lower. July selling at a new low for the season.

Winnipeg Leads Decline.

Part of the free selling of wheat futures here was in sympathy with Winnipeg where the pit element became overbought on an early bulge and started to go out of their holdings, and there was also heavy selling attributed to a leading Canadian professional. The close there was 2¾@3c lower, May being 5⅝c over Chicago, compared with 7c at the finish on Wednesday and 11c recently. Minneapolis, however, was off only ⅞@1c, that market being sustained by the cooperatives bidding $1.25 per bu for country run No. 1 dark and No. 1 northern spring wheat and $1.22 for the No. 2 grades. At Duluth coöperatives bid $1.12 for No. 1 durum and $1.10 for No. 2.

Aside from a marked improvement in the export demand there was nothing in the news to encourage buying on a liberal scale, and the bulk of the 1,000,000 bu wheat sold abroad was Canadian. Short covering and a letup in pressure of cash wheat caused a bulge of 1¼@1⅜d in Liverpool futures, and had some effect here early.

Brazil After Manitobas.

Complaints regarding the quality of the new Argentine wheat are being received from England, and this was also reflected in an inquiry for Manitobas from Brazil, which normally secured the bulk of its requirements from Argentina. Buenos Aires showed strength and was off only ½c for the day, while Rosario was unchanged to 1c lower.

Buying against bids and resting orders was a factor in checking the break in futures here. The support at $1.28 and under for May was much less aggressive than of late. January wheat here closed at $1.19, a loss of only ½c for the day, selling being restricted by the belief that the Rural Grain company would offer to buy No. 1 hard at $1.18, the farm board loan basis for this market.

Corn Market Weakens.

A slow demand for feeds and further offers of cash grain to come here from outside markets led to increased pressure on corn, and stop loss orders were uncovered toward the last, while sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves. Forecast indicated continued cold weather and the trade was inclined to look for an increased movement from the interior, although purchases to arrive were 50,000 bu, including 25,000 from Kansas City and other markets. The shipping demand was fairly good with sales of 107,000 bu. Highly beneficial rains were reported over the greater part of the Argentine corn belt. Buenos Aires finished ⅛@2½c lower and Rosario ½@1c lower.

Weakness in other grains brought in rather free local selling of oats and a lower range, with commission houses buying on the way down on resting orders.

REPORT BANKS TIRE OF CARRYING CANADIAN WHEAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 16.—The only reason that grain men and the public can give for the break in Winnipeg wheat prices is that some of the banks are getting tired of carrying the wheat and are forcing customers to let some of it go.

Most of the banks have been carrying west Canada wheat for 18 months. This wheat was bought at $1.18 and it has cost since then 30 cents a bushel to carry it, while wheat is worth only $1.20 in Winnipeg today.

Some of the grain men spoken to tonight said it was the most foolish thing for the wheat pool to carry over on speculation so much wheat. Manitoba wheat is now entering into competition with southern hemisphere wheat. What the outcome will be is problematical, as was the case up to date when Argentina's bins seemed never to be empty. Wheat dropped as much as five cents in the Winnipeg market at one time today; it dropped 2¾ cents Wednesday and it would not surprise Winnipeg grain trade to see it drop another 5 cents Friday.
